GLOTH PLANS TO HOLD CAMPBELL

NAVY TREATY VOTED 58 TO 9 AS SENATORS END EXTRA SESSION

Adjournment Is Taken Until December After Balloting.

SINGLE RESERVATION ADDED TO DOCUMENT

Clause Denies Approval of Any Agreement in Secret.

JOHNSON LAUDS AIDS IN BATTLE UPON PACT

Seven Republicans and Two Democrats Comprise Last Opposition.

(Associated Press.)

The London Treaty limiting all classes of ships in the American, British and Japanese navies was ratified yesterday by the Senate by a vote of 58 to 9.

The final roll call came quickly after a dozen reservations were overwhelmed. The militant band of opponents under Senator Johnson (Republican), California, saw the inevitable and yielded to the heat and the dominant majority.

One reservation was adopted, but it requires no new negotiations among the signatory powers and with the formal ratification of the treaty by Great Britain and Japan the document will go into effect.

Two of those who helped frame the agreement at London early this year participated in the two weeks debate and were present to see the formal ratification — Senators Robinson (Democrat), Arkansas, and Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania.

News of the ratification was quickly flashed to the White House, but President Hoover, who had called the special session for consideration of the treaty, withheld any statement.

With the treaty contest ended, the Senate adjourned the special session sine die. It will reassemble in December along with the House for the three months' short session. The next four months will be the longest time that Congress has not been in session since President Hoover took office more than sixteen months ago.

Voting Against Pact.

Seven Republicans and two Democrats voted against the treaty while five others were paired against it, including one Republican, three Democrats and the Farmer-Labor member, Shipstead, of Minnesota.

The one reservation accepted by the Senate was offered by Senator Norris (Republican), Nebraska, which stipulatd that in ratifying the treaty the Senate withheld approval of any secret agreements or understanding which might exist in relation to the pact.

This disposed of one of the big fighting points in the treaty controversy. After President Hoover had refused to give the Senate all the papers and documents relating to the London negotiations, Senator Norris introduced his resolution.

Mr. Hoover invited the Senate to inspect the papers confidentially and assured the Senate there were no secret understandings, but when he refused to send the documents to the legislators Senator Norris, backed by

Denison Is Robbed Of $2,500 Diamond

Nearly $3,000 in Checks Also in Wallet, Member of House Reports.

While making a purchase in a cigar store at 153 B street southeast yesterday afternoon, Representative Edward E. Denison, of Illinois, was robbed of a wallet containing several large checks, a $2,500 diamond ring and a small quantity of cash, according to a report made at the Fifth precinct station last night.

Mr. Denison told authorities that he was jostled by a white man as he was standing at the counter. He believes that this man removed his wallet from his left hip pocket. In addition to identification cards and personal papers, the bill fold contained two checks on a Marion, Ill., bank, one for $1,976 and the other for $1,000. Both checks, made payable to the representative, had been marked refused, police said.

The black leather wallet lost by Mr. Denison also contained a yellow gold pennant with likeness of the King of Spain on one side, and four $1 bills. The diamond was set in a plain gold band, and was a white stone of 2¾ carats.

Calvin Coolidge .

Says: No one can tell just how high or how low the prices of the commodities will go. When they are much above the cost of production it is probable they will be cheaper. When they are well below that line probably they will be higher. At the present time the price of most building materials has reached a low level. The savings banks and insurance companies are taking in a great deal of money and interest rates have declined. Labor is seeking employment. Yet residential building has decreased about one-half.

Present conditions suggest that this is a favorable time to build a home. The future may be better or worse but the present appears good.

The moral power of the nation rests on the home, the schoolhouse and the place of worship. The Government looks after education and few churches are overcrowded. But home owners are too few. Good roads, automobiles, and transportation, opening large spaces hitherto unavailable, have much increased the opportunity for the people to provide their own homes. The reliable real estate operators can perform a high public service in cooperating with the people to make this a nation of home owners. It would strengthen the whole fabric of society.

FORMER SECRETARY WEDDED TO CANNON

Ceremony Is Revealed by Church Records in London.

PAIR ON WAY TO BRAZIL

London, July 21 (A.P.).—Marriage of Bishop James Cannon, jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and his secretary, Mrs. H. H. McCallum, a widow, on July 15, was revealed today in the records of Christ Church, London.

The ceremony, performed by the Rev. Dr. Farrum, was known to only a few of the most intimate friends of the couple. The bishop and his bride today were aboard the steamship Arlanza en route to Madeira and Brazil. The bishop is 65 and Mrs. Cannon is between 40 and 45. They are due at Madeira Wednesday for a brief stay.

Mrs. McCallum was said to have been the bishop's secretary for about a year, coming here recently with him and staying with Sir Henry and Lady Lunn. She had not been well, and their friends, looking forward to a marriage at home, were surprised when the news was made known.

The couple were wedded under a special license issued at the faculty office and the bride's name was given as Helen Hawlet McCallum, a widow, of 210 East Sixty-eighth street, New York.

Sir Henry Lunn, editor of the Review of the Church, was instrumental in obtaining the license from the archbishop of Canterbury.

The Christian Advocate, a Methodist publication in Nashville, Tenn., Monday received the following cablegram from Bishop Cannon:

"Bishop James Cannon and Mrs. H. H. McCallum, widow of H. C. McCal-

HUSTON'S RESIGNING WILL BE LURID EVENT

G. O. P. Chairman to Start Fight That Will Take Other Scalps.

HELD POWER TRUST FOE

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

Although Claudius Huston has decided definitely to relinquish the chairmanship of the Republican national committee, before doing so he intends to call the committee together for a session that bids fair to tear it to pieces.

The chairman, it is understood, is determined that his scalp should not be the only one to be lost. Instead his friends plan to present charges that the agitation against him is the result of a carefully planned campaign by the power companies. It originated, it is charged, at a meeting of the power groups here last October.

At that time, it is charged, Treasurer J. R. Nutt, of the committee, was designated as the general leader, and Senator Walcott, of Connecticut, was named as the Senate leader. Other names figuring in the campaign which the Huston crowd charges was formulated to get him are Representative Snell, of New York; J. Henry Roraback, national committeeman from Connecticut, and James Frances Burke.

The merits of these charges are beside the point. It is Huston's plan to call the committee together, however, and with it sitting as sort of a supreme council in the controversy, insist upon a full airing of the influences and forces which have placed him in his present predicament. There are some indications that he hopes to get a vote of confidence out the melee, something with which he may retire gracefully and take some others with him.

Some of the names figuring in what might be called the prima facie

Last Man Sips His Toast To Dead in Old Burgundy

Final Chapter in Saga of Club Is Closed as Veteran, Who Won in Race With Grave, Performs His Solemn Ceremony.

Stillwater, Minn., July 21 (A.P.).—A weary old soldier sipped a toast in bright burgundy today, faithfully filling his covenant with the dead and writing the final chapter in the saga of the Last Man's Club.

About the long table, which had Charley Lockwood at its head, stood 33 vacant chairs, each with a bow of black, as the 87-year-old veteran of the Civil War drank wine in memory of his comrades, fulfilling a vow of 45 years standing.

His thin face was touched with an expression of deep solemnity as Lockwood repeated a bit of verse and poured from the bottle, set aside at the organization meeting of the club, a swallow of the amber liquid. He quaffed it as the members had decreed when they first met July 21, 1885, to observe the anniversary of the battle of Bull Run, in which they fought together.

Each year there was a reunion and each year there were more vacant chairs, but today was the first when only one veteran appeared. With his promise kept, Lockwood closed the records of the club and prepared to return to his home at Chamberlain, S. Dak., for no longer will there be reunions—the destiny of the organization has been reached.

But Lockwood made one unexpected discovery as he drank from the prize set aside for the winner of the Hadley Wilts After Mates Gain Lead; Brown no Help as Relief.

GOSLIN HITS HOMER IN WINNING RALLY

Misplay by Rice Figures in Scoring; Judge Also Hits for Circuit.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Staff Correspondent of The Post)

Sportsman's Park, St. Louis, July 21.—Any one seeing the Nationals absorb a 6-to-4 beating at the hands of the St. Louis Browns this afternoon would have no reason to suspect that the Washington team has pennant aspirations. For five innings it looked as though the Nats would win in a romp, for they were enjoying a four-run lead and simply breezing along.

Irving Hadley, Washington starting pitcher, suddenly wilted under the heat, however, after having performed brilliantly, and before Manager Walter Johnson could get a capable relief man the decision had been snatched out of his team's grasp. It was not so much that the Nats lost, however—and victory would have enabled them to have gained a full game on the league-leading Mackmen—but how it was done which makes the picture such an ugly one.

Browns Given Five Walks.

Only two hits were needed in the Browns' five-run rally, due to five passes and an uncharged error to Sam Rice. Four of these strollers later scored while the veteran rightfielder charged in for Melillo's liner and changed it from an ordinary out into a costly double.

One of these blows in the sixth was a homer by Goose Goslin, following one pass, this clout matching one by Joe Judge, the Nat captain's third in as many days, which had come in the second. Upon relieving Hadley with one on, Lloyd Brown immediately filled the bases by walking two more. Then came Melillo's "gift" double, a useful out, and the game was over, although Adolph Liska, who had relieved Brown, forced another St. Louis run over in the seventh by walking one and hitting another.

The Nats outhit the Browns, 10 to 5 but to no avail, and they are still four games behind the Mackmen. Rice led with the stick with two singles and a double, but these did not make up for his poor fielding at a critical time.

Judge Hits Home Run.

Stewart gave indications at the start of continuing where he left off when he beat the Nationals in Wash-

THREE DEAD WEATHER TOLL IN BALTIMORE

Thousands Sleep in Parks Guarded by Special Police Details.

It was this hot yesterday, according to the Weather Bureau:

6 a. m.	76	4 p. m.	103
8 a. m.	81	6 p. m.	100
10 a. m.	97	7 p. m.	96
12 m.	100	8 p. m.	92
2 p. m.	103	9 p. m.	88
3 p. m.	101	10 p. m.	86

After hitting its peak of 103 for the day at 4 o'clock yesterday, the temperature slumped rapidly last night at the rate of 3 degrees hourly until midnight, as the Weather Bureau predicted the end of the hot spell with a cool wave due to start here tonight.

Bureau officials predict that it probably will be warm again this morning, and added that although local showers are expected this afternoon the heat wave will not be broken definitely until currents of cold air en route here from Michigan and Canada arrive late this evening. Tomorrow probably will be normal, they said.

From its rockbottom level of 76 degrees at 6 o'clock in the morning, the mercury climbed to its peak of 103 degrees at 2 o'clock yesterday. There it seemed to lose its grip temporarily, and sagged back to 101 at 3 o'clock.

Gathering strength for a final despairing effort, however, the temperature managed to regain the 103 point by 4 o'clock, but there it collapsed and by 10 o'clock was down to 86 and still dropping, the Weather Bureau reported. The low point of 75 was to have been reached by 6 o'clock this morning.

Records at the kiosk showed consistently about 3 points above the official levels for corresponding periods of the day. The peak recorded on the kiosk graph was 106 degrees, attained at the hours when the instruments in the Weather Bureau laboratories were registering their maximum of 103. The mercury thermometer in the kiosk showed about 2 points higher, 108 degrees, at the same time.

Thunder Showers Predicted.

Local thundershowers and lower temperatures are promised for this afternoon by the Weather Bureau, although the morning probably will be warm.

Red Foreign Affairs Commissar Quits Job

Resignation Causes New Line-up in Capital of Soviet Russia.

GEORGES TCHITCHERIN.

Moscow, July 21 (A.P.).—Georges Tchitcherin, Soviet commissar for foreign affairs, resigned his post today and his resignation was accepted by the central executive committee. He had a brilliant record as a statesman.

The resignation has been reported imminent for many months because of the commissar's ill-health. After treatment at Wiesbaden in Germany, he returned to Moscow early in June and his retirement was then definitely forecast.

A new line-up was presented at the commissariat for foreign affairs as a result. Maxim Litvinoff, who for some time has been acting commissar, was appointed to succeed M. Tchitcherin by the central executive committee.

Nikolai Nikolaevich Krestinsky, present Soviet ambassador to Berlin, was appointed first vice commissar, in place of M. Litvinoff, and Lev Mikhailovich Karakhan, second vice commissar.

The board at the commissariat will consist of M. Krestinsky, M. Karakhan and M. Boris Stomoniako.

ZIHLMAN HAS CHOICE OF COMMITTEE JOBS

May Stay as District Group Head or Be Chairman of Insular Affairs.

FORMER HELD PROBABLE

The death of Representative Edgar R. Kiess (Republican), of Pennsylvania, put Representative Frederick N. Zihlman (Republican), of Maryland, in a position where he must decide whether he wants to continue as the "Mayor of Washington"—that is, as chairman of the House District committee.

Representative Kiess was chairman of the House committee on insular affairs. Representative Zihlman came next, the ranking member.

If Mr. Zihlman now wants to take over the chairmanship of the insular affairs committee, however, he must give up his role as chairman of the District committee, for no member may be chairman of two major committees at one time.

Hence the Marylander now must choose between the two. From a national and international standpoint, the insular affairs committee is an extremely important one. To it is referred all legislation having to do with the Philippines, Porto Rico, the Virgin Islands, and our other island possessions.

But from the standpoint of Representative Zihlman, the District committee also is an important one. In fact, he is one of the few members who have any relish for local affairs. This fact is explained largely by the proximity of his own congressional district to the District of Columbia, and by the fact that much District legislation—the extension of Sixteenth street, for example—is as important to nearby Maryland as it is to the city itself.

Representative Zihlman was at his home in Cumberland, Md., yesterday, but those close to him here expressed the opinion that he would deside to hold on to his post as chairman of the District committee, and let the chairmanship of the insular affairs committee go to the next ranking member—Representative Harold Knutson (Republican), of Minnesota.

On account of the indictment that is hanging over him as a result of his connection with the F. H. Smith Co., Representative Zihlman was not

CAUCASIAN CRUSADE PLANNED IN ATLANTA

Simmons and Six Others Call for Members in Society Resembling Klan.

LETTERS ARE SENT OUT

Atlanta, July 21 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—A call to enroll in an organization known as the "Caucasian Crusade," the tenets of which closely parallel those of the moribund Ku Klux Klan, is being circulated from here under the signature of seven widely known Atlantans, including William Joseph Simmons, former wizard and one of the founders of the Klan.

The first move toward formation of the new organization, clearly modeled on the Klan pattern, and designed to appeal to the same racial and religious prejudices which the Klan exploited, was made in a letter dated July 14. How many of these letters may have been sent out is not known.

"The committee of initial correspondence," as the signers of the letter designate themselves are, in addition to Mr. Simmons, William Schley Howard, former Georgia representative; Robert Ramspec representative and noted criminal lawyer; Sam W. Small, veteran Atlanta editor; Dr. Frank Eskridge, who operates a private sanitarium; Sheriff James I. Lowry, and Ed. F. Bond, a wealthy undertaker.

The letters are addressed to "blood brother and fellow patriot" and open with the sentence:

"A personal friend of yours requested it, hence, this letter to you. For this friend's sake, read it carefully."

The printed communication to "sovereign, upright, white men of true blood" then proceeds to describe "a great, distinctly independent, unique and most timely nation-wide movement, inaugurated and sponsored by serious-minded, devoted, mature, honorable men," the purposes of which are stated to be:

"To preserve and to perpetuate the white man's distinctive ideals, social supremacy and economic interest in all things;

"To preach and propagate original constitutional principals (sic) of correct Americanism;

"To protect and to maintain our sacred 'race' heritage at all hazards;

"To courageously and effectively oppose the rapidly rising tide of 'racial' and 'alien' political, social

Bodies of Three Children Found; Father Confesses

Martinsburg, W. Va., Parent Placed in Jail as Water in Quarry Hole Yields Gruesome Find; Two Boys and Girl Strangled.

Martinsburg, W. Va., July 21 (A.P.). The bodies of three small children of Taylor Hott, 35, Martinsburg laborer, were found today in water of a quarry hole into which the father later confessed, county authorities said, he pushed them last night.

Hott's statement that he killed the children, Gertrude Virginia, 7; Calvin W., 6, and Floyd, 5, by drowning them and was prompted to do so because his wife was unable to care for them were doubted by officials. Hott was out of work.

Autopsies indicated, they said, that the children were killed before being hurled into the quarry hole. C. N. Campbell, assistant prosecuting attorney of Berkley County, also said that pieces of cloth tied around the children's throats indicated they had been strangled, whereas Hott related in his confession that he tied the cloths over the children's mouths to prevent outcries.

Hott said that he lured the children to the quarry hole under pretense of permitting them to go in wading. He was held in jail tonight under charges of murder.

Following identification of the children and summoning of the parents for questioning, Mr. and Mrs. Hott first told a story of giving the children yesterday over to the care of a Kidwell family in order to permit them a vacation in the mountains.

OFFICIAL SAYS HE WILL SWEAR NEW WARRANT

Realty Man Grilled as Barrere Alibi Stands Up Under Fire.

DEALER AND WOMAN DROVE TO CEMETERY

Finder of Gun Confesses Discrepancy in Tale Previously Told.

PISTOL SEEN MAY 3, AUTHORITIES CLAIM

New Witness Asserts He Was Shown Death Gun Before "Finding."

Herbert M. Campbell will be held on a warrent charging him with the murder of Mary Baker on April 11. After a merciless grilling for three hours last night Lieut. Edward J. Kelly and Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth, the latter announced that he would obtain a warrant today.

Herbert M. Campbell, owner of the weapon from which the bullets which slew Mary Baker were fired, admitted to Lieut. Edward J. Kelly late last night that two hours before the girl was last seen alive that he was parked with another woman close by the culvert where the body of the girl was found.

With the virtual substantiation of Hermann H. Barrere's alibi, authorities began an onslaught on the alibi of the owner and discoverer of the death gun. The Arlington County realty man had been under interrogation but a few minutes when he admitted to Lieut. Kelly and Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth that there was a discrepancy in the story he had previously told them regarding his activities on the day of the murder.

As Campbell was brought into Sheriff Howard R. Field's office, Lieut. Kelly was heard to say, "Campbell, we want you to think hard and take plenty of time to answer our questions. You are going to have to do some explaining."

Former Statement Read.

Kelly then read to Campbell his statement, submitted several weeks ago, in which he outlined his activities on the day of the murder.

"Why didn't you tell us that on the afternoon of the murder that you were near the Sheridan gate of the Arlington National Cemetery with a woman from the Chastleton apartments?" asked Lieut. Kelly in an even voice.

"Kelly, I am awful sorry that I lied to you about that," Campbell said, "but the woman I was with is one whom I have known for many years. She is a close friend of mine and I have known her since before I was married."

"Why," asked Lieut. Kelly, "did you call this woman up on several occasions from your office and tell her that if she was asked anything regarding her activities on the day of the murder, to say nothing?"

"I wanted to protect her," he answered.

Parked Near Sheridan Gate.

From the time that Campbell met the woman at the Investment Building, he told the investigators, he drove west to Potomac Park, over the Key Bridge, through Wilson boulevard to Ballston, and turned around and came back and parked near Sheridan gate. This was about 4 o'clock. He then brought the woman to her home, after 5 o'clock.

He drove down Nineteenth street to Virginia avenue to B street to Fourteenth street, and over the Highway bridge. Kelly asked if he passed Seventeenth and B streets. He replied in the affirmative. Then the windows of Sheriff Field's office were closed.

Authorities, upon this admission by Campbell, planned to confront the owner of the gun with a man who is said to have seen it in Campbell's possession prior to the time when he turned it over to authorities. The real estate man yielded the gun to Sheriff Howard R. Fields in the latter part of May. At that time, he told Sheriff Fields that a man with a wart on his nose had come to his office at Oakcrest and questioned him regarding his ownership of a .32 caliber gun. This incident aroused his suspicions, Campbell said, and he searched his home immediately, but could not find the gun. Returning to his office a quarter of an hour later, Campbell said, he discovered the weapon in an unused desk in the office.

Gun Seen May 3, Is Claim.

Authorities claim that they have a man to whom Campbell showed the gun on May 3, three weeks before its reported discovery in the desk. The witness says that on this day Campbell made the assertion that he was expecting violence from Barrere and that he had the gun for his protection.

Additional strength was given to the alibi as a result of an all-day inquisition yesterday during which witnesses of the attack on the girl failed to identify him as the assailant.

What was expected to be the crucial moment of the day—Barrere's meeting with Campbell, owner of the murder gun—turned out to be an exchange of pleasantries.

Detectives were tense as Campbell walked into the room, expecting that accusations would be made. Barrere arose and extended his hand, which was gripped by Campbell.

Hot Weather Mentioned.

"How are you, Herbert? I haven't seen you in a long while," said Barrere.

"I'm fine, Herman, how are you?"

"It's hot as ——, isn't it Herbert?"

At this juncture a parade of witnesses entered Sheriff Howard R. Fields' office. In the group were Miss Mildred Sperry and Miss Olga Skinner, housemates of the Baker girl; Francis Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh R. Wood, witnesses of the Ellipse attack; Park Policemen Oren Speare and William J. Hammod; and Miss Edith W. Heiner, employer of Barrere.

"Now, I don't want to put these witnesses at a disadvantage," said Barrerer, "so I will put my coat on."

He smiled as the witnesses viewed him and even turned sideway so they could see his profile. Miss Sperry and Miss Skinner said they had never seen him before. Officers Hammond and Spears, who operate a traffic semaphore at Seventeenth and B streets, said they did not recognize him.

No Identifications Made.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood failed to identify him, while Mr. Rice, who had identified Private Howard L. Brewster, released suspect, declined to make any comment. Lieut. Edward J. Kelly said afterward that no identifications had been made and that Barrere's alibi was stronger than ever.

Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth, Sheriff Field, Lieut. Kelly, Detective Sergt. Carlton Talley and Deputy Sheriff Harry Woodyard were in the examination room when Barrere's interrogation began.

As he was taken into the room the garrulous suspect turned to newspaper reporters and said: "I've caught up on my sleep. I'll be out pretty soon."

Aubrey Wyatt, a plasterer, was the first witness called. He told detectives that on April 15, while working in Campbell's house, he saw the suspect take a suit of clothes from a closet. This was in the afternoon. He told him to put them back, he said, and Barrere left them on a bed. Wyatt did not see him take any clothing from the house.

Palm Prints Taken.

William Enyart, of the Washington Bureau of Identification, then took Barrere's palm prints for comparison with prints found on the car. Not much importance is attached to the prints, since they could be those of any number of persons who touched the machine before authorities examined it.

Miss Heiner, one of Barrere's alibi witnesses, was called to the investigators three times in the afternoon. Barrere was permitted to ask her questions regarding the activities on the evening of the murder. Miss Heiner said Barrere must have been mistaken when he said he let her from the automobile between 5:30 and 6 o'clock on the night of the murder.

Miss Heiner thinks that Barrere confused the stopping-off place. She says that Barrere stopped the machine well after 6 o'clock in front of Kann's Department Store. She told Lieut. Kelly that she wanted to make a purchase but the store was closed. Barrere then took her to her home where he remained, she said, until close to 7 o'clock.

Sales Slip Presented.

As proof of the day, Miss Heiner exhibited to Lieut. Kelly a sales slip from Kann's store, dated April 11, covering a purchase she had made on that morning. On that evening, Miss Heiner recalls Barrere mentioned to her that he wanted to get back to Arlington County to sign the painting contract for Campbell.

One of the things Lieut. Kelly and Mr. Gloth were trying to establish was the time of the consummation of the contract. Mr. Campbell says that Barrere estimated the job on April 10. In contradiction to one of Barrere's statements he said that he was not with him when the estimate was made.

On April 11, Mr. Campbell told the detectives, Barrere appeared at his house and gave him the estimate and mentioned that he had to appear at Traffic Court on that day. So far as Mr. Campbell can recall, Barrere appeared in the afternoon to sign the contract. On various occasions Mr. Campbell has placed the time of the signing at noon, 4 o'clock and at 5 p. m., all of which clash with the statements of Miss Heiner and Mrs. Harrison W. Smith, of 210 East Capitol street, who say Barrere was with them from 3 o'clock until well after 6 o'clock on the afternoon of the murder. The attack on Miss Baker occurred a few minutes after 6.

Admits He Was Drinking.

Barrere admitted that he had been drinking on the afternoon of the theft of goods from Campbell's home. Incidentally, he pointed out, any of the four persons at the impromptu party could have taken the goods from the chiffonier and placed them in his car.

Mr. Wyatt mentioned to authorities that Barrere was eating gum drops on this afternoon, which Campbell says was taken from the top of a chiffonier. It was in the top drawer of this chiffonier that Campbell last saw the murder gun before he discovered it in his desk.

Lieut. Kelly announced during the examination that a search would be made for "Dan," the man at the stables at Fort Myer to whom Barrere said he gave the tent in which he lived near the home of Clifton W. Harrell in Green Valley.

Mr. Campbell does not know Miss Sperry nor Miss Skinner, he says, and did not know Miss Baker. The house they rented in Lyon Park was not rented from him, neither did they consult him while they were searching for a place, they said.

Amos C. Crounse, Arlington County lawyer, announced late yesterday that relatives of the imprisoned man had approached him to act as his counsel. Mr. Crounse has not decided whether he will accept.

Informed of this development, Barrere said, "I don't want a lawyer, I can handle this situation myself. I'll talk all they want me to and I will answer all questions because I am innocent."

After more than six hours of questioning, Mr. Gloth asked Barrere if he was tired. "No," answered Barrere, "I am just getting interested." When Barrere was taken to Mr. Gloth's office while Miss Hiener was being questioned, the suspect drew himself up on a window sill and began to expound his theory of the case.

While the "man with the wart on his nose" remains a mystery to police, Mr. Campbell said that the man who Barrere says he chased from his tent after the murder bore a striking resemblance to the mystery man. Barrere told authorities that he threw the man from his tent after he had annoyed him a few days after the murder.

Two Descriptions Check.

Barrere said the man was about 50 years old and had grayish hair. Mr. Campbell said the man who inquired of him whether he had a gun was about that age and had gray hair. It was these inquiries which aroused Campbell's curiosity and prompted a search which resulted in the discovery of the gun in his real estate office.

Barrere was near the office on April 23, after he had been released from jail on the larceny charge, according to Campbell. The visit of the mystery man occurred late in May.

Corroboraton to that part of Barrere's alibi in which he says that on the night of the murder he had a drinking party in Arlington County was given by Mrs. Frances Harrell Starnell last night. Mrs. Starnell, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Harrell, who live in Green Valley, next to the site where Barrere pitched his tent, told Lieut. Edward J. Kelly that on that night Barrere, in company with a man named Kelly, stopped at their home on their way to purchase liquor.

Young Woman Recounts Events.

Mr. Harrell was first brought into the inquisition chamber and told of his acquaintance with Barrere. Neither he nor Mrs. Harrell, who followed him, recalled that Barrere had been to their home on that night. The daughter and her parents were then assembled in the room and, when reminded of the encounter by Mrs. Starnell, her father also remembered it. As the young woman faced the interrogating group, which, in addition to Lieut. Kelly, was composed of Sheriff Fields and Commonwealth's Attorney Gloth, she narrated the events on the night following the murder.

She told the detectives that Barrere, Miss Helen Harding, Private Irwin Barth and she attended boxing bouts at Fort Myer on April 12. Barrere, she said, and Miss Harding came to her home in the late afternoon and suggested that she accompany them with Private Barth to the bouts. After it was over they drove past the culvert where the body of the slain girl was found.

Prior to their visit to her home, Barrere, she asserted, took Miss Harding from her home at Oakcrest to church in Alexandria. Mrs. Starnell was quite positive that the man who accompanied Barrere to her home on the night of the eleventh was introduced to her as Mr. Kelly. To her recollection, they left her place about 9:30.

Articles Offered for Drink.

Mrs. Harrell, in response to questions of Lieut. Kelly, disclosed that on April 15, the day upon which Barrere was arrested on a charge of stealing articles from the home of Herbert M. Campbell, the suspect tried to obtain drinks at a house adjacent to the Harrell home, in return for an alarm clock and a bracelet which were among the stolen articles. When Arlington County Policeman Ray Cobean and Mr. Campbell appeared at Barrere's tent, she said, Barrere was working on his automobile, and when the seat was raised ehty found all the articles with the exception of the bracelet and the alarm clock.

The clock and the trinkets have never been recovered.

In spite of the testimony of this trio, police have been balked in their efforts to fasten the larceny upon Barrere. Although a dozen witnesses were interviewed, none has been found who saw Barrere take the clothing and throughout all Barrere contends that they were either taken by some of his friends, or that they were planted in his automobile.

Uriah Rose Harris, retired admiral of the U. S. Navy, left property valued at $79,000, according to the petition for the probate of his will filed yesterday in District Supreme Court.

William J. Harris, a brother, receives one-half of the residuary estate in trust, while his children and the children of another brother receive the other half under similar conditions. A number of specific bequests were made.

London Naval Treaty, Just Ratified, Limits All Ships In Every Category of Major Fighting Powers of World

Recognition of Parity One Outstanding Feature for America.

"Escalator" Clause Allows Increase If Nation Fears Rival.

New Humanitarian Rules in Warfare Limit Submarines.

United States Battlecraft, Under Option, May Exceed British.

(Associated Press.)

The London naval treaty of 1930 to which the Senate yesterday voted its consent to ratification by President Hoover will limit for the first time in history all categories of fighting ships for the three major powers of the world.

Outstanding so far as the American Navy is concerned is the recognition of the theory of parity, or naval equality, in all classes of ships, between the British and American navies. Japan secures parity in submarines with Great Britain and the United States and higher ratios than the five-five-three of the Washington arms treaty in categories of auxiliary vessels.

After a brief and conventional preamble, the London treaty provides for the non replacement of capital ships permitted the three major naval powers under the Washington agreement. France and Italy, however, are permitted the replacement tonnage they were entitled to lay down in 1927 and 1929. Great Britain shall dispose of five capital ships, the United States three and Japan one under the terms of article two to reach the parity of the Washington pact at once instead of in 1942.

Each, however, may retain one vessel for training purposes. Aircraft carriers partly limited under the Washington agreement, will now also be limited under 10,000 tons. The Washington limitation applied only to carriers of above 10,000 tons. The size of submarines, with the exception of three for each power which may total 2,800 tons, are limited by the treaty to 2,000 tons. Small ships of under 600 tons, and ships the fittings of which make them of little combat value, are exempted from limitation. A considerable part of the treaty is given to the citation of rules for the replacement of ships, disposals, scrapping and dismantling to provide ships for training purposes.

Insisted upon as a rule by the United States, the treaty provides only for a division of cruiser sizes as between those carrying guns of more than 6.1-inch caliber and those carrying guns of less than 6.1-inch caliber, rather than by tonnage in the subcategory. Destroyers are limited to 1,850 tons with a gun caliber maximum of 5.1 inches. Destroyers are further limited to 1,500 tons except for 16 per cent of the total tonnage in the category of each nation which may be over this figure. In the larger type of cruiser—usually referred to as "8-inch cruisers"—the United States is limited to eighteen, Great Britain to fifteen and Japan to twelve, with an additional provision that the United States shall not complete the last three larger cruisers before 1936.

One of the most important provisions of the treaty is contained in article 21, the so-called "escalator clause," stipulating the contingencies under which one of the contracting parties may exceed the limitations of the treaty. The clause was written mainly at the request of Great Britain, which feared the possibility of excessive building by her neighbor, France.

The clause provides that when any signatory finds its security threatened by such building it may notify the other signatories of the amount which must be built to overcome the advantage and may then proceed with construction. The other two powers shall then be entitled to construct, within the limits of their ratios, ships in the same category.

Under article 18 of the pact, the United Statse is permitted to transfer a total of 30,000 tons from the 8-inch to the 6-inch cruiser category at the rate of 15,166 tons of the latter for each 10,000 tons of the former. Should the United States not elect to exercise the option of this clause, the treaty fleets and ratios between the American, British and Japanese navies would be as follows:

	United States	G. Brit.	Japan	Ratios
Capital ships—	462,400	474,750	266,070	10; 10.3; 5.8
Aircraft carriers—	135,000	135,000	81,000	10; 10; 6
Cruisers over 6-inch guns—	180,000	146,800	108,400	10; 8.1; 6
Cruisers, 6-inch guns—	143,500	192,200	100,450	10; 13; 4.7
Destroyers—	150,000	150,000	105,500	10; 10; 7
Submarines—	52,700	52,700	52,700	10; 10; 10
	1,123,600	1,151,450	614,120	10; 10.2; 6.3

	United States	G. Brit.	Japan	Ratios
Capital ships—	462,400	474,750	266,070	10; 10.3; 5.8
Aircraft carriers—	135,000	135,000	81,000	10; 10; 6
Cruisers over 6-inch guns—	150,000	146,800	108,400	10; 9.8; 7.2
Cruisers, 6-inch guns—	189,000	192,200	100,450	10; 10.2; 5.3
Destroyers—	150,000	150,000	105,500	10; 10; 7
Submarines—	52,700	52,700	52,700	10; 10; 10
	1,139,100	1,151,450	714,120	10; 10.1; 6.3

A carrying out of the battleship modernization program of the Navy Department would bring the American tonnage in capital ships above that of Great Britain. One provision to which all five of the participating nations subscribed and all other nations of the world are invited to adhere to is that for the socalled humanization of the submarine. Under this article, submarines are limited to the same rules of war as apply to surface vessels and must insure the safety of the passengers and crew of an attacked surface vessel before sending it to the bottom.

The treaty will come into force so far as the three major powers are concerned as soon as the ratifications of the United States, Great Britain, and Japan are deposited with the British government in London. The portion of the agreement extending to France and Italy shall be in force so far as they are concerned when their ratifications are added to those of the other three.

How Senators Lined Up For and Against Treaty

FOR RATIFICATION.

Of the other absentees, it was announced the following would have voted for the treaty: Republicans—Baird, Cumming, Frazier, Goff, Grundy, Norbeck and Nye. Democrats—Barkley, Connally, Ransdell, Steck and Smith.

No announcement was made respecting Senators Blease and Heflin, Democrats.

HOOVER NOMINEES GO OVER IN SENATE

FIGHT IS NOT PRESSED

(Associated Press.)

Rather than precipitate another lengthy controversy, the Senate adjourned yesterday until December without acting on President Hoover's selections for the new Federal Power Commission and the vice governorship of the Philippines.

The fact that the President did not send to the Senate the new commissioners for the reorganized Tariff Commission also was assailed and defended before the gavel fell to end the special treaty session.

The appointments to the Power Commission that failed of action were Claude L. Draper, chairman of the Wyoming board of equalization; Ralph B. Williamson, Yakima, Wash., attorney, and Marcel Garsaud, post engineer of New Orleans.

Chairman Couzens, of the Interstate Commerce committee, elected not to press for confirmation of the three men after Senators Walsh (Democrat), Montana, and McKellar (Democrat), Tennessee, had expressed a desire for information as to their qualifications and indicated they would go into detailed examination of the appointees.

Committee Approves.

Although his committee earlier in the day unanimously had approved the nominations, the Michigan senator said in view of the desire for adjournment he would not present at this time the data in possession of the committee favoring the nominees.

Protests from Philippine leaders both in the islands and in the United States led Chairman Bingham, of the territories committee, to withhold a request for confirmation of Nicholas Roosevelt, New York writer, to be vice governor of the Philippines. He said hearings on the nomination could not be held without holding up adjournment.

While there was a difference of opinion last night whether the three power commission nominees could be given recess appointments for confirmation at the next session, the general impression was this could not be done under the law creating the new commission to take the place of the existing ex officio body of Cabinet officers.

Harrison Assails Hoover.

Senator Harrison (Democrat), Mississippi, assailed the President for not naming his new tariff commission before adjournment. He said Mr. Hoover had emphasized the importance of reorganizing the fact-finding body and had promised early correction of any inequities in the new tariff act by the commission, but had failed to appoint the new commission after having had six weeks to do it.

Senator Smoot (Republican), Utah, replied that the President had been unable to find a man who would accept the chairmanship of the body, now held by Edgar B. Brossard, of Utah. Three had refused the job, he said, adding the nominations would have been sent to the Senate had a chairman been found.

Smoot said later, off the floor, he did not know whether Brossard would be reappointed, although the President had the authority to name any incumbents he desires.

Promises Close Scrutiny.

The Mississippian served notice that when the Senate reconvenes whoever the President names to the commission would be "scrutinized from his record at 21 years of age on."

The Utahan said Brossard had served as well as any member of the commission, "Not only the sugar industry, but every other industry in the changing of rates."

The Senate did confirm, however, two of the President's nominees, William M. Jardine, former Secretary of Agriculture, to be Minister to Egypt, and Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines to head the consolidated administration of veterans' affairs.

SENATORS RATIFY NAVY PACT, 58 TO 9, AND THEN ADJOURN

a considerable group, insisted upon the reservation of protection.

Senator Reed, one of the delegates, again assured the Senate yesterday there were no secret understandings and he agreed to acceptance of the reservation.

Heart of the Treaty.

The heart of the treaty was regarded as the cruiser provision. Since the Washington Conference of 1922, when a limitation was placed on battleships, Great Britain and Japan have far outdistanced the United States in construction of cruisers.

Under the treaty further construction in cruisers by these other two maritime nations is stopped while America builds up her fleet of cruisers to an allowed limit of eighteen 8-inch gun ships and eighteen 6-inch gun ships.

Supported by the Navy general board, Senators Johnson and Hale (Republican), Maine, the chairman of the naval committee, waged a vigorous assault upon this provision. They insisted this country be allowed to construct more of the 8-inch gun cruisers which they argued were the only cruisers adaptable to American naval needs.

Senator Swanson, of Virginia, the ranking Democrat on the foreign relations and naval committees, led the debate for the pact, supported by Senators Reed and Robinson, of Arkansas.

Chairman Borah, of the foreign relations committee, was in charge of the contest. He joined in arguing against some of the many reservations directed at the pact.

The vote on ratification was reached at 4 o'clock. There had never been any doubt of the outcome and the whole question was when would the roll call be taken.

Sensing the end, the largest number of senators yet to attend the special session was on the floor equipped with a refrigerating system. It was about the coolest place in heat-enveloped Capital City. Crowds were in the galleries. Mrs. Johnson, who has attended the sessions constantly as her husband made his spirited fight against the treaty, was in the members' gallery. Mrs. Stimson, the wife of the Secretary of State, who headed the American delegation to London, sat in the diplomatic gallery.

Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones, retired, the white-haired veteran of the American Navy who disagreed with his country's delegation as an expert at London, sat in the gallery, too. Admiral Jones spoke bluntly against the limitation on the American fleet provided by the treaty at the hearings before the foreign relations committee.

Just before the roll call was taken, Senator Johnson took the floor to laud those who fought with him in the losing battle against the agreement.

"It has not been a useless fight," he said. "Out of it only good can come. In bidding good-by to it I say good-by to it with my head in the air. God bless these men who fought with me."

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at 11 a. m. and adjourned at 5 p. m. sine die.

By a vote of 58 to 9, ratified the London Naval Treaty limiting all categories of ships in the American, British and Japanese navies.

Before final action was taken, adopted the Norris reservation stipulating that in ratifying the treaty, the Senate did not approve any secret agreement or understanding which might exist relating to the pact.

Adopted the Copeland resolution modifying a former request for a tariff commission investigation of costs of production of sugar to cover only the refined product.

Confirmed the nominations of Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines to be administrator of the newly organized Bureau of Veterans' Affairs, and William M. Jardine, of Kansas, to be Minister to Egypt.

Senator Walsh (Democrat), Montana, blocked confirmation of the nominations for the new Federal Power Commission because there had not been time to investigate them.

Senator Harrison (Democrat), Mississippi, assailed President Hoover for not having nominated members of the new Tariff Commission.

Senator Bingham (Republican), Connecticut, announced that the nomination of Nicholas Roosevelt, of New York, to be Vice Governor of the Philippine Islands, would be held up until December.

Adopted a resolution to provide for the mileage of the senators' return home.

Almost 19 Months Of Congress Ends

Senate Adjournment Marks First Long Recess in Hoover Regime.

(Associated Press.)

The adjournment of the special session of the Senate yesterday ended almost nineteen months of continuous meetings of Congress, beginning with the last session in the Coolidge administration, which assembled in December, 1928.

President Hoover called Congress into special session in April of 1929 for cnosideration of farm relief and tariff revision. There was only an intermission of four weeks between this meeting and the end of the old Congress on March 4 of that year. This special session continued until the opening of the regular session of Congress last December, although both houses recessed over last July and August.

nly three days elapsed between the close of the regular session on July 3 and the opening of the special session for the treaty. Congress will reassemble for the short term in December.

Jockey, Freed From Jail, Again Held in Car Theft

Two hours after being released from the District reformatory at Lorton, Va., after serving 27 months for an auto theft, Arthur Weismiller, 21 years old, a jockey, from New York, was arrested here and held for Louisiana authorities.

Police of New Orleans want him for stealing an auto, also, it is said. He was arrested as he stepped off the train which brought him to Washington from the institution.

Heat Ends Refuel Endurance Flight

One of Green Plane's Pilots Overcome; Jackon, O'Brine Take Off.

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., July 21 (A. P.).—The "green" plane, one of the two ships seeking to break the refueling endurance record of almost 554 hours, landed late today after E. S. Andling, one of the pilots, was overcome by the heat. The "red" plane remained aloft. Both ships took off early last night.

Andling, who comes from Rosebud, Tex., was not in a serious condition, physicians said. They blamed Andling's collapse on ice he had eaten during the afternoon. The "Green" plane will take off again tomorrow, piloted by John Charleson and another pilot not yet selected.

St. Louis, July 21 (A.P.).—Forest O'Brine and Dale Jackson, former holders of the world's endurance refueling championship, took to the air at 7:11 a. m. (Central standard time) today in an attempt to regain the title. Their old mark of 420 hours, set here a year ago in a flight that focused Nation-wide attention on St. Louis, was shattered by the Hunter brothers, who remained aloft 553 hours.

Tenants Flee Refrigerator Fumes.

Several families were driven from their apartments in The Highlands, 1914 Connecticut avenue northwest, yesterday when a leak in an electric refrigerator released stifling fumes. The break occurred in the apartment occupied by Oliver H. Johnson, on the sixth floor. Members of Rescue Squad No. 2 donned gas masks and repaired the leak.

MOSES PLANS TOUR OF WESTERN STATES

Senators Recall "Sons of Wild Jackass" Speech at Announcement.

COLLEAGUES FEAR IDEA

The irrepressible Senator George H. Moses (Republican), New Hampshire, yesterday brought renewed consternation into the breasts of his Republican colleagues by announcing plans for a personal invasion of States represented in the Senate by those whom he has dubbed "the sons of the wild jackass."

Senator Moses, who is chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee, said yesterday that he plans a swing around the Western circuit within the next few weeks and mentioned particularly that he will spend some time in Montana, where the Republican, Albert J. Galen, is contending for the Senate seat now occupied by Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Democrat.

Word of his intentions brought immediate and emphatic protests from other Republicans and their views are expected to be aired at a meeting of his committee called for today.

Ever since the famous "wild jackass" speech Mr. Moses has been regarded as a liability to Republicans campaigning in the West this year, and for him to visit Montana, where the Republicans think they have a chance, would be something like the traditional last straw.

Murder Charged To Girl's Whipper

Woman Who Gave Fatal Blows Thought Mate's Love Alienated.

Mount Holly, N. C., July 21 (A.P.). Mrs. Ella Mae Butler, 40, was charged with the murder of a young woman she horsewhipped for alleged intimacy with her husband in a warrant sworn out here today. Miss Grace Whitaker, 28, the girl she whipped, died four weeks after the attack.

Mount Holly officers swore out the warrant at the instigation of Solicitor John G. Carpenter, who spent the day here investigating the case. A preliminary hearing for Mrs. Butler before Magistrate O. L. Huffman was arranged for 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. Butler, mother of five children and wife of L. F. Butler, mill superintendent here, was given a jail trial last week on a charge of manslaughter in connection with Miss Whitaker's death. The jury found her guilty of assault and Magistrate Huffman, who presided at the trial, fined her $50 and costs.

Solicitor Carpenter pointed out today that since Mrs. Butler was charged with a felony the magistrate's court lacked authority to try her.

Small Monday Docket Faced by Police Court

The smallest number of persons ever arraigned in Police Court on a Monday morning—not a holiday—was recorded yesterday when 67 alleged violators faced the judges in the various branches of the court.

Court attaches were unable to explain the decline except to blame it on the heat. They pointed out that as a usual thing the Monday total is around 135, while on occasions it has approximated 200.

ENGLISH LABORITES' SEA POLICY UPHELD

London Treaty Also Defeats Attacks in Commons From Two Sides.

ACTION OF U. S. LAUDED

London, July 21 (A.P.).—The Labor government's naval program, and incidentally the London naval treaty, met and survived attacks from two sides of the House of Commons during debate today on the naval estimates.

A Laborite, Commander J. M. Kenworthy, made a first motion to reduce the estimates by a nominal sum, on the grounds that they were too high. When this had been overwhelmingly defeated by 239 votes to 27, Commander A. R. J. Southby, Conservative, introduced a second motion to the same affect. This motion met a similar fate to that of its predecessor, being rejected by 219 to 135. In both votes, Prime Minister MacDonald had heavy majorities.

Commander Southby's motion was a purely formal means of expressing disapproval of the naval program, which the Conservatives contend is inadequate to the needs of the empire.

As the debate was drawing to a close, the news was flashed to the House that the United States Senate had ratified the naval treaty.

"Splendid," Says MacDonald.

Prime Minister MacDonald, on learning it, exclaimed: "Splendid! I am tremendously pleased. This puts America in the place she is out to occupy in these matters. The decision is most timely."

A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, exhibited great delight and quickly passed on the news of the Senate's decision to the other cabinet ministers and the members of the house.

Mr. Alexander referred both to the French and the Italian attitudes toward the treaty.

"There is no one in this house who desires more earnestly than I do that there should be a speedy agreement between France and Italy to adhere to the limitations proposals of part three of the treaty," he said.

"We who were in the conference, who negotiated direct with the leading delegates of France and Italy, know that they have not a single moment's anxiety about the Labor government's replacement program within the limited tonnage of the treaty.

"I would say this, we are quite prepared, as soo nas France and Italy have agreed to the principle of limitation on which the three oceanic powers are already agreed, to say, 'Let us confer again together and see how far we can go.'

Kenworthy Fears War.

"Surely the first principle now to prepared, as soon as France and Italy to say that 'Great Britain, America and Japan, having put their cards on the table and agreed to the principle of limitation, we will also adhere to the same principle,' and then to confer as to what the next steps shall be."

Commander Kenworthy's motion drew some support in the Labor back benches, but was easily defeated.

The Labor member asserted that the British program was a menace to peace because it involved a further piling up of armaments.

"I am going to vote for reduction of the estimates," he said, "and even if I defeat the government, its life is not to be compared with the millions of lives that will be lost in the great war which is inevitable if we continue unchecked this policy of the nations building against each other."

SIX KILLED IN BLAST OF PLANE IN FLIGHT

Two Noted English Beauties Among Dead in Explosion Over Kent Village.

MARQUIS IS ONE VICTIM

Meopham, Kent, England, July 21 (A.P.).—Six persons, including the Viscountess Ednam, a woman of rare beauty and a close friend of the Prince of Wales, plunged to death when a midair explosion tore to shreds an "air taxi," speeding a party of distinguished society folk to Croydon from a week-end at Le Touquet, France.

Mrs. Henrik Loeffler, another woman famed alike for her beauty and the receptions she gave at her elaborate home in Grosvenor Square, Mayfair, was a victim. Mrs. Loeffler's receptions were among the important events of the London society season.

The Marquis of Dufferin and Ava and Sir Edward Ward, who moved in the same exclusive circles; Lieut. Col. George L. P. Henderson, an airman with a fine flying record, the plane's chief pilot, and a Mr. Shearing, 28 years old, assistant pilot, completed the death roll.

Roar and Explosion.

Late this afternoon this picturesque hamlet, 4 miles south of Gravesend, was startled by a roar in the sky and a terrific detonation. Villagers who looked skyward saw the Junkers plane, a machine owned by the Henderson Flying School and lent to the Walcot Air Lines, Ltd., suddenly fly into bits.

The bodies of all of the occupants hurtled earthward and fell in a cluster in a garden next to a cottage. The rest of the outfit, wings, engine and cabin were flung about for hundreds of yards.

Today's crash was one of the worst disasters in the history of British commercial aviation, because of the prominence of its victims as well as their number. It followed closely upon another grewsome tragedy of the air which occurred on July 7 when a German Dornier-Wal flying boat in the Steppin-Kalmar-Steckholm service was forced down in the Baltic near Bornholm and broke into bits in a stormy sea. In that disaster two Americans lost their lives, Dr. John L. Burkholder, of Mount Pleasant, Pa., and Miss Ruth Patricia Northrup, of Philadelphia.

Accident Is Mysterious.

Eyewitnesses were agreed that today's disaster was a mysterious one but it occurred, not from a mishap after a forced landing but from some accident taking place while the machine actually was in flight. A queer feature was the finding of one of the plane's wings fully two miles from the scene where the bodies and engine came down.

Lieut. Col. Henderson was breathing when villagers reached his side. He died a few minutes later in a doctor's house in the village.

Investigators learned that all of the passengers, well known to one another, had passed a week-end at the gay French resort.

Your Money

is still good at 5:30

No longer will customers who reach our offices shortly after five, to pay their bills, have to turn away biting their lips with spurned money clutched tightly in hot hands.

All of our offices, including Tenth Street, Georgetown, Chevy Chase and Rosslyn, are now open six days a week including Saturday until 5:30 instead of 5 o'clock.

We know that tired, frustrated feeling which a closed door inspires.

People who find it inconvenient to pay their bills before 5 o'clock will no longer suffer this annoyance.

This change is in keeping with our ideal of public service.

MARYLAND WILL GO ON WATER RATIONS

Three-Quarter Quota Will Be Order Today in Capital Suburbs.

LAWN SPRINKLING STOPS

Nearby Maryland today goes on three-quarter water rations as the result of an order promulgated yesterday by the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission forbidding the sprinkling of lawns.

The drastic order was issued when the commission decided that Maryland sections close to the District supplied by the commission's water mains is in danger of a serious water shortage. The reservoir at Burnt Mills, which retains most of the water used in the suburban areas of Montgomery and Prince Georges Counties, is 7 feet below its usual level. Commission Chief Engineer Robert B. Morse estimated yesterday that the reservoir will supply the needs of the sections supplied by the commission for about four or five more days after which a flow of about 2,000,000 gallons a day will be all that can be called upon.

A connection with the District of Columbia water system at Rhode Island avenue furnishes another 1,000,000 gallons and the Hyattsville filtration plant supplies 500,000 gallons. A connection with the District system at Chevy Chase which is expected to be in operation by tonight will supply another 500,000 gallons, thus making a total of 4,000,000 gallons which can be depended upon after the reservoir supply is depleted.

Residents used 6,000,000 gallons Saturday and 5,500,000 gallons Sunday, according to Mr. Morse, so that the use of water by the suburban residents will have to be curtailed at least one-third in order that the supply can take care of the household uses. In view of this, Mr. Morse decided yesterday that it would be necessary to begin economizing on water at once and so notified the members of the commission, who later promulgated the order banning sprinkling of lawns and all other similar uses of water.

The Rockville water supply which has been a matter of deep concern for town officials, appears to have been satisfactorily settled for the time being with the pumping of water from the wells of the ice plant located near the town. A pumping plant now is adding 50,000 gallons daily to the town supply and another well is being contemplated by the mayor and council on the western limit of the town, where another pumping station would be located. If this is done it is probable that the proposed connection with the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission mains will be abandoned.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

ONE was inclined to laugh a few days ago when Representative Cyrenus Cole, out in Iowa, issued a statement demanding that the Senate close up shop and go home forthwith. It was right funny in a way because, of course, regardless of how big they may think him to be in his little district, Mr. Cole has nothing in the world to do with the Senate and the Senate gave him no more mind, of course, than the moon in the sky gives to a dog that yelps at it in the night.

But there was something deeper than levity in this demand of Mr. Cole.

Ofttimes, you know, when the clown laughs and cuts up for you a tragedy beats in his breast.

* * * *

AND so is there pathos in Mr. Cole's outbreak. It is nothing to laugh at. Instead it should grip your heart. Because Mr. Cole is hysterical; that is what he is.

Sitting here in Washington with a soft Government job, go to work at 9 o'clock and get off at 4 and with 60 days off every year, one can not possibly realize the scene that greeted the members of the House when they got to their homes.

There was such desolation, politically speaking, as greeted the returning soldiers of the Confederacy.

* * * *

THEY found their political crops destroyed, their political friends gone and their women-folk spinning political cotton yarns where heretofore they had spun political silks.

It saddens one when he contemplates it, this 1930 political picture, with its dire happenings predicted, its outlook of politically anything.

Men who have been politically settled for years, who, if they could just hang on a few more years, would probably be eligible for a pension, are to be retired this year unless all predictions go wrong.

It is simply the swing of the political cycle. The old scythe is headed on its relentless round.

* * * *

IF there is anything funny in that, it is difficult ot see just where. Most of these men who are to be retired are too far advanced in life to pick up something else. One can't expect them to fall easily into the selling of insurance or real estate, as they could have years ago.

Mr. Cole's is not the only note of hysteria that has sounded back here. One hears all sorts of reports of the congressmen's home-comings, of their getting off the train and walking slowly up the street in search of a friendly or sympathetic face. There is Jim over there at the barber shop, where you were always good for a hearty handshake, but lo and behold, Jim has gone, too.

Even the old swimming hole has dried up. The old home town is not what it used to be for this year's returning members. The air is thick and muggy. It looks like the beginning of a politically dreadful night.

DROUGHT AND FIRES MENACE MARYLAND

Hagerstown Has Mark of 112 as Blistering Sun Bakes State.

WATER USE RESTRICTED

Baltimore, July 21 (A.P.).—The specter of water famine and forest fires stalked across sun-baked Maryland today as temperatures all over the State mounted above the century mark and reached their peak at Hagerstown with an unofficial reading of 112. Three deaths and scores of prostrations marked the day.

Baltimore felt the touch of water shortage which already has hit other sections of the State, with city officials issuing orders to police to enforce restrictions on water use. The surface of Loch Raven, source of the city water supply, was reported 8 inches below normal and consumption has mounted with the temperature.

Frederick, which reported a temperature of 107½, has felt the restriction on water use, with its reservoir far below normal. Rockville brought its fire department into use to pump water from nearby streams into the municipal reservoir. In the center of the drought belt, Maryland officials estimated, half of the summer crops had been burned up and wells and cisterns in many parts of the State were dry.

In western Maryland scores of men were fighting a half doen forest fires in the tinder-dry woods, the largest of which was out of control after burning over 1,000 acres near Clear Spring.

From 112, Hagerstown thermometer reading, temperatures ranged downward to 102 in Cumberland and neared the all-time record of 105.5 for Baltimore with 104.4. The Government weather station at Keedysville reported 106. No relief was in sight, according to weather observers.

ROUMANIA OFFICIAL IS SHOT BY STUDENT

Assailant of Dr. Angelescu Believed Anti-Semite; Victim May Die.

FORMER ENVOY TO U. S.

Bucharest, July 21 (A.P.).—An attempt to assassinate Dr. Constantine Angelescu, Roumanian statesman and acting minister of the interior, was made by a young student this afternoon.

Invading the minister's office at noon, the youth fired two shots from a revolver. Both took effect in Dr. Angelescu's body.

Physicians tonight said Dr. Angelescu was in an extremely dangerous condition and probably would die. For many years he has been prominent in Roumanian politics, having served as minister of public instruction, minister of public works and minister of the interior.

As Roumanian Minister to the United States he headed a mission there in 1917.

His assailant is reported by the Jewish Telegraphic Agency to be an anti-Semitic student and member of the Nationalist "Iron Guard" organization. His name is variously given as Bazian and Beza.

The attack is ascribed by the agency to the activity of Dr. Angelescu, while acting for Dr. A. Vaida-Voevod as minister of the interior, in carrying out the government's orders to check anti-Semitic disturbances in the Bukowina and Bessarabia districts.

Dr. Angelescu, who fell into disfavor on the return of King Carol, was ordered prosecuted on June 9 for alleged disrespectful utterances. The prosecution has since apparently been dropped.

Bucharest police, after searching the student, said they had found a number of documents leading them to believe that a widespread organization had been formed for the assassination of leading Roumanian public men whose policies its members considered by the terrorists harmful to the commonweal.

They are hoping to find clews that will lead to further arrests and disclosures.

SEPARATE DECREES ON FARE TO BE ASKED

Keech to Urge That Bailey Sign One for Each Trolley Company.

LINES OPPOSED TO PLAN

Justice Jennings Bailey will be asked to decide today whether he will sign one decree giving higher fares to both street car companies, or will sign two decrees, one for each company.

While this difference does not seem very important on the surface, Richmond B. Keech, people's counsel, will seek to have the District Supreme Court justice sign separate decrees for each company.

If that is done, Mr. Keech will have a choice of taking one or the other to the court of appeals and asking for a reversal of the Bailey decision giving the street car companies 10 cents cash fares after the Public Utilities Commission had refused the request of the companies for a fare boost.

Companies Want One Decree.

The companies, naturally, want the fare raise set forth in a single decree covering both companies. Under this arrangement each could draw on the strength of the other and that would be helpful in further legal proceedings incident to an appeal by the Utilities Commission and the people's counsel for the Supreme Court ruling.

Representatives of the companies met with commission officials at the commission offices yesterday and presented the decree they had drafted for Justice Bailey's signature. Agreement was reached on the phraseology of the decree, which is based on the opinion handed down by Justice Bailey last Saturday, but the companies balked at the proposal by Mr. Keech that separate decrees be drawn for each company.

Justice Bailey will be asked to decide the point when the two sides appear before him tomorrow. Three copies of the decree were drawn yesterday. One covered both companies. The cthers dealt with each company individually. Justice Bailey will be asked to choose.

Views of People's Counsel.

Should he sign individual decrees for the two companies Mr. Keech believes he will have better opportunity in the Court of Appe?'s to reverse the fare raise decision. Although the valuation—which serves as the basis for determining the reasonableness of fares—has been challenged in the case of both companies the Capital Traction Co. has a much better basis of argument than has the Washington Railway & Electric Co.

The valuation figure of the latter company is so old and has been built up in such a manner that even the executives and counsel of the company do not contend that the figure they use is a legally sound valuation. They merely say that the figure represents the minimum value of their company.

Justice Bailey is expected to sign a decree today and the new fares of 10 cents cash or four tokens for 30 cents will be put in effect 2 o'clock tomorrow morning, despite the decision of the utilities commission yesterday that it would appeal from the decision giving the companies the higher fares.

Events of the War 13 Years Ago Today

JULY 22, 1917.

Eleven dead and 26 wounded by German air raids on Felixstowe and Harwich.

Kerensky, head of the provisional government of Russia, leaves for the front to try to quell the revolt among the soldiers.

British fliers bomb and destroy four German aerodromes.

Siam enters the war on the side of the allies, and seizes nine German ships in her harbors.

FARE INCREASE BAD ERROR, SAYS CAPPER

Difficulty Caused by Taxi Competition Only Made Worse, He Adds.

MERGER FIGHT GOES ON

From a business standpoint, the local street car companies are making a serious mistake by raising their rates to a 10-cent cash fare and four tokens for 30 cents, in the opinion of Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), of Kansas.

Senator Capper, who is chairman of the Senate committee on the District of Columbia, said so yesterday in a statement in which he reviewed the terrific competition between the car companies and the low rate taxicab companies.

"In my opinion," the Kansan said, "the traction companies are making a serious mistake in hiking the cash fare to 10 cents.

"Consider the position of the car companies. Today they are engaged in a desperate competition with the taxicab companies. An indication of just how desperate it is may be gleaned from the fact that the number of passengers carried by the companies during the first six months of this year was 3,000,000 fewer than the number carried over a similar period last year.

"This falling off in revenue, it is said, was largely due to the advent of the low-rate taxicabs.

"Since that time, a cab company offering even a lower rate—5 cents for a third of a mile—has appeared, thus making the competition between cab and street cars even more intensive.

"And what is the answer of the street car companies to this challenge? They boost their cash fare from 8 cents to 10 cents. From where I stand, it looks like bad business judgment.

"If street car traffic fell off 3,000,000 passengers in six months under an 8-cent fare, what is going to happen under a 10-cent fare?"

Senator Capper said that at the December session he would renew his efforts to put through satisfactory legislation to permit a merger of the street car companies. Such a merger would result in a large saving in operating costs.

The traction officials were determined to boost the fare even if the merger had been enacted at the last session, and this fact did much to militate against the success of the legislation.

COOL BREE-ES TO BREAK WAVE HOLD TODAY IS PREDICTION

ed throughout the District all day, neither victim being seriously affected. Beverly Williams, 70, colored, of 611 Eighteenth street northeast, a gardener at the Navy Yard, was treated at Casualty Hospital after being overcome at work. Brook T. Wilson, 45, colored, of 627 K street southeast, fainted while standing at Connecticut and Cathedral avenues northwest, and was treated at George Washington University Hospital.

Practically all Government departments suspended business for the afternoon. Exceptions were the Government Printing Office and the Treasury Department, which worked according to their regular schedules until 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon. While most of the Prohibition Bureau was closed at 12:30 p. m., the office of Col. Amos Woodcock, prohibition director, was kept open with a complete staff until 4:30 o'clock.

Employes of the White House worked all day and were glad of it; the new cooling plant, similar to those in movie palaces, kept the temperature of the Executive Mansion "20 degrees cooler than the street" all day.

With only a four-days' supply available and no relief in sight, Robert K. Morse, chief engineer of the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission, issued an order to residents of nearby Maryland prohibiting the use of water for any other than household purposes. Sprinkling of lawns was particularly condemned.

Traffic Officers Shed Coats.

Inspector William S. Shelby, acting superintendent of police, issued an order yesterday permitting uniformed members of the Traffic Bureau and other traffic police, to shed their coats during the heat of the day and direct traffic in their shirt sleeves. The "pavement pounders" walking beats in the precincts, however, were not so favored, and before they completed their rounds their uniforms literally were dripping with perspiration.

Mobs of sweltering urchins who stormed the Lincoln Memorial reflecting pool in hope of a cooling plunge kept the park police busy throughout the day, bathing being prohibited. The reason for the prohibition, it was explained by Capt. Ray C. Montgomery, superintendent of the park police, is that there is no drainage from the pool and the water is subject to pollution.

Miss Susie Root Rhodes, District playgrounds superintendent, reported that repairs to the old municipal swimming pool in Potomac Park are practically completed and it is hoped to open the pool to the public today, or tomorrow at the latest. Work of preparing the pool for use has been hampered, she said, by lacks of funds.

Parks Attract Thousands.

Thousands of families forsook their homes and apartments last night and sought refuge from the heat, guarded against molestation while they slept by details of park police especially assigned for that duty.

Meanwhile the rest of the country also baked, although reports from the South stated that temperatures in that section were "normal for July," and showers drenched several of the Western States.

The Weather Bureau predicted, however, that not only is Washington due for relief, but that the break would spread from its starting point in the northwest to as far east as the Appalachian Mountains today, and to the middle and north Atlantic states by tonight.

Surgeon General's Ten Rules for Heat Safety

(Associated Press.)

Surgeon General Cumming, of the United States Public Health Service, yesterday prepared a hot weather comfort prescription with ten ingredients:

"Dress as lightly as possible.

"Imbibe long, cool drinks.

"Keep your temper.

"Keep windows closed.

"Use discretion in getting out of the heat.

"Keep the spinal cord protected; wear hats outdoors.

"Use discretion about work and exercise in the heat.

"Eat what you please, but don't over eat.

"Guard against infected food.

"Be discreet, physically, mentally, emotionally."

Unusual temperatures reported yesterday included Atlantic City, where the mercury hit 102, its highest in 57 years and only 2 degrees less than its all-time record. Philadelphia also sweltered under a heat of 102 degrees, but Kansas City, Des Moines and Omaha, which had counted their temperatures in three figures over the week-end, dropped back into the 90's.

Three deaths and a score of prostrations were attributed to the heat in various Maryland sections. A Baltimore clerk dropped dead on his way to work as the thermometer passed the 90-degree level, while a second man, apparently crazed by a temperature of 96 degrees at Hagerstown, was drowned when he jumped, fully clothed, into the Potomac River. The third death was that of a man in Batlimore who succumbed to a broken back suffered while in swimming Sunday.

Of the twenty prostrations reported, fifteen were in Washington County and five in Baltimore.

Some temperatures reported from other cities yesterday, which broke July records, were: Cleveland, Ohio, 98; Youngstown, Ohio, 101; Philadelphia, 103; Richmond, Va., 102. New York equaled its previous July record of 99, while at Boston the mercury reached only a mere 72.

Further south, reports showed New Orleans officially 87; Atlanta, 92, with rain; Ashland, Ky., 105; Paducah, 104; Louisville, 99; Little Rock, Ark., on its fifty-seventh rainless day, 97.

Army Opens Beef Bids In Isles to Foreigners

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Hurley ruled yesterday that in purchasing beef for consumption in Philippine and Hawaiian stations, the Army must do so on the basis of lowest bids and not upon considerations of whether the bids were submitted by Americans or foreigners.

In a statement the Secretary pointed out the difficulties of supplying meats in the Philippine and other distant stations and said the use of cheaper beef obtained through lower bids saved some $300,000 annually.

LEGGE CALLS BOARD OPPOSITION "BUNK"

Fighting in Open, Not Behind Hoover Skirts, Farm Leader Says.

DEFENDS ACREAGE CUT

(Associated Press.)

Declaring he was fighting in the open and "not hiding behind President Hoover's skirts," Chairman Legge, of the Farm Board, last night characterized opposition to the board's wheat policy as "political bunk."

"Present and future orations written by the Democratic national committee," he said, "and fathered by various orators to broadcast the alleged failure of the Farm Board are only more of the same kind of political bunk by virtue of which the farmer arrived at his present position."

The opposition of Gov. Reed of Kansas to the wheat acreage reduction campaign, he said, was "wholly political." Likewise political, he said, was criticism of the board for not using Government funds to buy and store large amounts of the 1930 wheat crop.

"The Farm Board," he said, "was created to assist the farmer, and not for politics. The farmer's problem is an economic one that will never be solved by any political remedies. The President has not interfered with our program and we have gone ahead sawing wood. I expect to report to him soon on the acreage reduction campaign, but I am not hiding behind his skirts."

The chairman said he was prepared to tell the President that cooperation in acreage reduction could be expected from the farmers of every State in the winter wheat belt.

Toward the end, however, he took active command of the fight for the bill he and Senator Capper introduced to raise the pay of local policemen and firemen, and also hooked up with Representative Simmons (Republican), of Nebraska, in a fight over the bill for a subway at Fern street in Takoma Park.

Order Merging Veteran Work Given by Hoover

President Hoover yesterday issued an executive order consolidating governmental activities affecting war veterans in the new Veterans Administration and transferring to that organization the Veterans' Bureau, the Pension Bureau and the National Home for Disabled Soldiers.

Under the provisions of the order, the functions vested in the several bureaus are transferred to the Veterans Administration, together with personnel, records and papers.

Navy Yard Radio Man Knocked Down by Auto

Melvin Weisbrod, 30, attached to the radio station at the navy yard, was bruised and cut about the leg and head yesterday afternoon when he was knocked down on Nichols avenue southeast by a car operated by Charles L. Nisewanor, 43, of 6415 H street northwest.

No charges were filed against Nisewanor, who reported the accident to the police. Weisbrod was treated at Casualty Hospital.

Two Workers Die Of Heat in Virginia

Laborer on State Highway and Stonemason Drop Dead at Tasks.

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., July 21.—The heat wave claimed its first victim in Rockingham late this afternoon when Andy Hottinger, 55, a workman on the State highway near Broadway, collapsed under the blazing sun and died before a doctor could reach him. Dr. W. A. Vaughan, of the county health board, pronounced him dead from heat prostration. Hottinger had been troubled at times from a bad heart.

Leesburg, Va., July 21.—Thomas Stunkle, 55, a stonemason of this town, dropped dead from heat this afternoon at Round Hill, Va., where he was working on a building. He is survived by his widow and two children. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

STEEL HEAD'S BONUS OF $1,623,000 BARED

Grace Got 3.319 Per Cent of Bethlehem Profits, Suit Reveals.

MERGER FIGHT STIFFENS

Youngstown, Ohio, July 21 (A.P.). A three-day battle to keep secret the bonus paid to Eugene G. Grace, president of Bethlehem Steel Corporation, ended in Common Pleas Court today with the revelation that he received $1.623,753 in 1929.

Grace was a "hostile" witness in the suit brought by the Cyrus S. Eaton interests to enjoin merger of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. with Bethlehem Steel. For two whole days and part of a third he sat silent on the witness stand while counsel argued the propriety of placing his compensation into evidence.

Judge David G. Jenkins, presiding in the trial, overruled the objection of the Bethlehem attorneys shortly after court reconvened for the third week. The Eaton forces sought the figures in support of the contention that Grace's bonus was fraudulently concealed from Youngstown Co. stockholders before they ratifed the merger last April.

Gets 3.319 Per Cent of Earnings.

It was revealed that Grace received 3.319 per cent of the net earnings of Bethlehem, less fixed charges and an amount equal to the annual preferred dividend, but before depreciation. This amounted to $700,473 in 1925; $852,150 in 1926; $721,885 in 1927; $831,445 in 1928; $1,623,753 in 1929 and $701,968 for the first six months of the present year. The total for the past 5½ years amounted to $5,431,684 or, including his stipulated salary of $12,000 annually, $5,497,684.

Grace was unable to testify as to the bonus received by other officials of Bethlehem. He said his own was paid on a sliding scale beginning at 1½ per cent of the earnings, according to the amount of earnings. During the past five years, he explained, earnings have been high enough to assure him the 3.319 per cent.

After a full day of questioning in which Grace was led over the negotiations preceding the merger contract of one and one-third Bethlehem stock to one of Youngstown, he was excused and President Frank Purnell of the Youngstown company was called back to the stand by Judge Jenkins, who asked him if the directors of Youngstown knew about the Bethlehem bonuses before they voted for the merger.

Purnell said they did not.

Had No Intimation.

"Do you mean to tell me," asked the court, "that when the directors of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. discussed this merger in their meeting on March 12 they did not know at all about the bonus?"

"No, sir," replied Purnell.

Grace, while he was on the stand, explained the advantages of the merger and the relative positions, financial and otherwise, of the two companies. He also explained why he called back an unsecured loan of $800,000 to Pickands, Mather & Co., which had been advanced to replenish funds used to buy Youngstown company stock.

He said, he was afraid the loan would be misunderstood by the Federal Government.

Bethlehem brought to the Youngstown company, he said, a better cash position and shipping on all waters. He also explained that Bethlehem had underproduction of pipe, Youngstown overproduction.

He denied the charge of the Eaton attorneys that Bethlehem sought merger terms unfair to the Youngstown company.

Hotel at Narragansett Is Destroyed by Fire

Narragansett, R. I., July 21 (A.P.). The four-story Surf Hotel, a rambling wooden structure on the famous resort's main street, was destroyed by fire late today. The majority of the guests were on the beach bathing when the fire started. They lost personal effects.

The fire is believed to have been caused by the explosion of an oil stove on the ground floor. Firemen from surrounding villages were called to prevent the blaze from igniting the dry roofs of neighboring structures, among them exclusive hotels. Fire officials estimated the damage at above $50,000.

Two Are Electrocuted Working on Radio Aeria

Merced, Calif., July 21 (A.P.).—Two persons were killed and three critically burned near here today when a radio aerial they were erecting came in contact with a 1,000-volt power line.

The dead: Mrs. J. R. Gaffery, Jean Gaffery, her niece. Injured: Allen Gaffery, 19, her nephew; J. W. Gaffery, her son, and Eileen Gaffery, her niece.

Eight Savants Try in Vain To Solve Mixed Baby Case

Worried Chicago Parents Today Will Be Subjected to Intensive Tests of Fingerprints, Pigment, Blood Cells, Eye Peculiarities.

Chicago, July 21 (A.P.).—Science scratched its head and wrinkled its brow over the identity of two babies today and, after it was through, the conclusion was that it will have to do some more scratching and wrinkling tomorrow.

Eight distinguished specialists took part in the parley and outlined tomorrow's program of experiments after perfunctory examinations failed to throw any light on the identification mixup caused by conflicting labels placed on babies born to Mrs. William Watkins and Mrs. Charles Bamberger at Englewood Hospital June 30.

The program calls for a composite test on which Health Commissioner Arnold Kegel will base his findings as to parentage.

Dr. Cleveland White, associate professor of dermatology at Northwestern University, will apply ultra violet rays to specimens of the skin of the four individuals to determine the similarity of pigment. Dr. Hamilton Fishbach, associate professor of pathology at Northwestern, will make a blood test utilizing the photometric system in which blood cells are measured by photography. Dr. Emil Deutsch, occulist, who figured in the solution of the Loeb-Leopold case, is to examine the eyes of each to determine if there are similar defects such as stigmatism. Dr. Gerhardt von Bonin, anatomist, will make a study of head and body formations and facial characteristics. Dr. Ferdinand Watzek, Vienna criminologist, and A. J. Mulvaney, Northwestern University scientist, will examine foot and finger prints of each.

Mr. Mulvaney explained there are similar characteristics in finger prints of persons who are related.

Others who will collaborate in the tests are Dr. Davis S. Hillis, obstretrician, Passavant Hospital, and Chief Justice Harry A. Olson, of Municipal Court.

Nurse Schultetus, of the Englewood Hospital, was questioned by the conference behind closed doors. She said she put identification tape on the infants within four minutes after birth.

It was these bits of lettered adhesive tape that raised the question of whether Baby George Edward Bamberger might not be Baby Charles Evan Watkins, for one morning Mr. Watkins saw a strip lettered "Bamberger" on the back of the infant he and his wife had taken home as theirs.

Search in the Bamberger household brought forth a similar tape lettered "Watkins."

HUSTON WILL QUIT BUT PLANS TO TAKE OTHERS OUT WITH HIM

case which the Huston followers have worked up are surprising. Treasurer Nutt has been most active in the fight against Huston and so have Mr. Burke and Postmaster General Walter Brown, the latter two, however, not being associated, so far as is known, with what is claimed to be the fight of the power groups.

But the names of Senator Walcott and National Committeeman Roraback have not been associated publicly with the controversy heretofore.

It has become quite apparent, however, that only a brief sketch of the controversy has reached the public. Within the committee and beneath the surface generally a fight of major proportions and wide ramifications is raging.

For some time it has been evident that the fight against Huston was not simply the dissatisfaction of members of the House and Republican senators who are up for reelection this year. This was originally the picture of the situation. Because of the testimony against Huston before the Senate lobby committee it was argued that these men, regardless of the merits of the charges against Huston, did not want to go into the fall campaigns with him.

Argument Held Superficial.

When one studies this argument, though, he realizes that it is rather superficial and frivolous because the voters seldom vote for or against a candidate on the basis of what the national chairman has or has not done. The office is really not that important in the scheme of things.

But, it was argued, because Huston deposited money which was given to him for the Tennessee River Improvement Co. in his stock brokerage account he would not be able to raise money for the coming campaign. That would make a good Sunday school lesson, but it has no weight in practical politics.

No, it has long been evident that the fight on him is more deep-rooted and that it comes from influences more practical minded than to become outraged at the brokerage deposit incident. Whether there is anything to the power group charge is, of course, something for the Republicans to figure out.

It comes as rather amazing, in fact, that Huston's friends are claiming that the power groups are after him.

The newspapers that have agitated against him have done so on the theory that Huston was too closely identified with the power groups. The burden of the testimony before the lobby committee was that he had worked against Government operation of Muscle Shoals; that he had lobbied to get the property for private interests.

The Huston forces claim now that as a matter of fact the power groups have always been against Huston. It seems that they draw a line between industrial companies and power companies. The Ford Co. and the American Cynamid Co., they classify as industrial companies. Huston did try to have Muscle Shoals turned over to them, it is said, but the "power" groups were opposed to that. Huston is pictured, indeed, as the man who stood in front of the power companies and would not let them pass.

The whole thing is a rather weird story. The Huston forces have what purports to be definite evidence of the meeting of the power groups here in October, when it is claimed his head was agreed upon. To bring Senator Walcott's name in as the leader of the Senate forces is quite startling.

Roraback, the national committeeman from his State, is, of course, identified with the power groups.

Nutt's Name in Report.

And although little public attention was paid to it at the time, Treasurer Nutt's name figured prominently in a report on power combines that was issued a few weeks ago by the Federal Trade Commission.

Regardless of the outcome, there is every indication that there will be a knock-down-and-drag-out fight if Huston goes through with his plan. For one thing, his friends intend to have Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt appear and relate her experiences with Burke during the 1928 presidential campaign; that is, her experience in connection with her famous Louisville speech.

Huston, it is believed, has the solid support of the Southern delegates, who, amazingly enough, are still loyal to Col. Horace Mann. It is the fact that Huston sided with Mann on Southern organization matters that is believed to have caused Walter Brown to join the forces after his scalp.

Rum Charges Booked Against Three in Raid

Sale and possession of liquor charges were booked against three men yesterday following a raid on an alleged speakeasy on F street near First northwest. The men gave their names as W. D. Moore, 59, of Columbia road near Thirteenth street; Leroy G. Cofer, 40, of Massachusetts avenue near Fourth street northwest; Dewey Bryant, 27, colored, of U street near Seventeenth northwest.

The raid was led by Lieut. J. A. Sullivan and Detective E. C. Oneara, of the Sixth Precinct. Four pints were seized.

FOUR DIE, 100 HURT IN RIOTS AT CAIRO

Police and Troops Forced to Battle Barricaded Wafdist Mob.

UNREST IN OTHER CITIES

Cairo, Egypt, July 21 (A.P.).—Four persons were killed, 100 injured and 500 arrested in the course of today's riots here. In Port Said, Suez, and Alexandria, minor riots occured.

The Wafdist party had made Cairo the storm center of their protest against the suspension of Parliament and against the manner in which Premier Sidky Pasha is running the country.

The four who were killed were members of a mob which barricaded a street near Abdin Palace and the public buildings. Among those arrested were members of the local Wafd committee.

The rioters could be dispersed by the local police and Egyptian troops only after firearms had been brought into play on two occasions. Police and military casualties numbered 2 officers and 28 men wounded.

The cause of the disorders was the announcement that the followers of former Premier Nahas Pasha had called off their proposed "outlaw" Parliament session. The mob vented its fury by ripping up lamp posts, barricading a street, and setting fire to an escaping gas column.

From Port Said it was reported that twenty rioters and sixteen police were injured in the course of a clash there. Although there were demonstrations at Suez also, nothing of a serious nature occurred in that city. The situation tonight was reported quiet.

Alexandria remained quiet throughout most of the day, but most of the shops were closed. As an extra precaution the troops and police drew a cordon around the Arab quarter, cutting it off from communication with the European section. Having learned that stones were freely employed during the riots there, the Alexandria police appeared with wicker shields as a protection against stone throwers.

21 U. S. Students Swim Hellespont

Three Fail to Emulate Feat Noted in Mythology; All to See Troy.

Istanbul, July 21 (A.P.).—Twenty-four American students aboard the S. S. Praga indulged in a byronic diversion from their Trojan pursuits today by swimming in the Dardanelles.

Before disembarking at Chanak in order to visit Troy under the leadership of the famed German excavator and archeologist, Dr. Wilhelm Doerpfeld, these students swam at dawn from Sestos to Abydos. Abydos is the scene of the story of Hero and Leander, and is near the spot from which Xerxes and his army crossed over to Europe on a bridge of boats.

All but three of the two dozen American students completed the swim. The fastest of them made the crossing in 48 minutes.

Each of the 21 successful swimmers received a sprig of laurel from Calvert Garden, the Chanak home of Mrs. Henry Bacon, widow of the American architect who designed the Lincoln Memorial at Washington.

Ireland Railroad Strike Postponed

Government of Free State Dramatically Delays Night Walkout.

Dublin, July 21 (A.P.).—A general strike of railwaymen all over Southern Ireland, scheduled for midnight tonight, was dramatically averted this evening by the intervention of the Free State government.

The railwaymen agreed to postpone the strike call until tomorrow midnight pending another conference between the National Union of Railwaymen, the Great Southern Railway and the affiliated Irish Omnibus Co. P. J. McGilligan, minister for industry and commerce, will be chairman.

Negotiations between the railway and the railwaymen broke down earlier in the day after the railwaymen asked for the reinstatement of workers dismissed last week for refusing to handle freight consigned to the omnibus company.

Six hundred railwaymen have already gone on strike at Dublin. If the general strike is called tomorrow night about 12,000 railwaymen and 400 bus men will go out.

Representative Spearing Opposed.

New Orleans, La., July 21 (A.P.).—Paul H. Maloney, a leader of Gov. Huey P. Long's political organization, today announced his candidacy for Congress against Representative J. Zach Spearing, of the Second Louisiana district.

GEHLBACH IS LEADER AS AIR DERBY OPENS

First to New York From Detroit to Get Leg on $15,000 Prize.

5,500 MILES IN CONTEST

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., July 21 (A. P.).—Lee Gehlbach, in a Little Rock, Ark., entry, finished the first day of the all-American air derby with a 23-minute lead toward the first prize of $15,000 for the fastest elapsed time over a 5,500-mile swing around the country.

The race started at Detroit this morning, with a stop at Buffalo. Gehlbach came in first on both legs. At Buffalo Robert T. Quinby, of Moline, Ill., was a close second with Herman Hamer, of Chicago, a close third. By the time they got here, however, Quinby had dropped back to twelfth place, Hamer moving up to second, and L. R. Bayles, of Springfield, Mass., edging into third.

In landing at Buffalo the official derby plane and an entry piloted by John Kruttschnitt, of San Mateo, Calif., nosed over in a gusty wind but no serious damage was done and both ships continued after repairs. There was almost an accident just north of New York City, when the engine in the entry piloted by S. T. Stanton, of Blackwell, Okla., faltered. Stanton was about to go over the side and release his parachute when the motor picked up. On landing, a broken oil line was found and repaired.

Two Not Yet Reported.

Sixteen of the 18 derby planes landed here in a period of an hour and 25 minutes, but the other two had ill luck. One piloted by Harvey C. Mummert of Hammondsport, N. Y., cracked up at Kinksley, Pa. Mummert telegraphed that he escaped injury. Edgar B. Todd of Pueblo, Colo., got off his course and landed at Norwich, Conn., with empty tanks.

Tomorrow the fliers leave for Cincinnati at 8 a. m., (E. S. T.) and the next day they go to Little Rock. There are no scheduled way stops on either of these days.

Switch in Landing Plans.

A last minute change of plans today caused some confusion. The New York landing place had been announced as the New York City Airport at Flushing, Queens, and the North Shore Chamber of Commerce had offered $1,000 in lap money and invited the aviators to dinner.

Today, however, Lee Schoenhair, flight referee, inspected the field before the fliers were due and telephoned them in Buffalo to land at Roosevelt Field. As a result the prize and the dinner invitation were withdrawn. The fliers had dinner here.

The fliers reached this field in the following order: Gehlbach, Hamer, Bayles, J. R. Wedell of New Orleans, B. B. Smith of Portland, Oreg., Santon, Charles Meyers of Cleveland, H. H. Ogden of Englewood, Calif., Joe Meehan of Ironton, Ohio, R. A. Hosler of Detroit, William Cahill of Cleveland, Quinby, Larry Brown of Los Angeles, C. H. Codfin of Brooklyn, H. H. Holladay, and Kruttschnitt.

TOAST OF LAST MAN DRUNK IN BURGUNDY

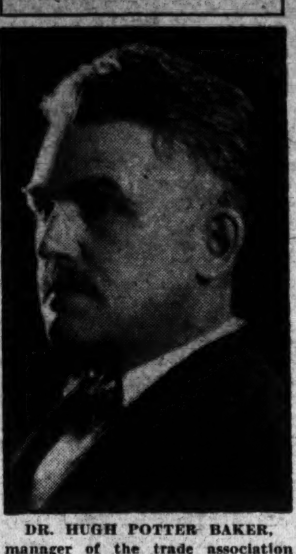
race with death. The burgundy tasted as it should. It was neither sour nor vinegar-like as it was supposed to be.

Completing the pattern for the ceremony, so carefully laid out long ago, Lockwood addressed his simple toast to "My comrades," and then repeated a verse read at its first meeting, his voice ringing out clearly in the dining room which stands on the site of the banquet hall where the initial meeting was held.

"The campfire smolders—ashes fall;
"The clouds are black athwart the sky;
"No tap of drums, no bugle call;
"My comrades, all, good-by."

Then he took up the bottle and drank as cheers from the roomful of old pioneers, friends, widows of former club members, and relatives were given him. Next to him sat Mrs. Samuel Bloomer, widow of the colorbearer of Company B, First Minnesota Volunteer Infantry, of which the club members were all former members.

ELECTED DEAN



DR. HUGH POTTER BAKER, manager of the trade association department of the United States Chamber of Commerce here, has been elected dean of the New York State College of Forestry at Syracuse University. CANNON'S WEDDING IN LONDON IS BARED

Methodist Prelate Marries His Former Secretary in Quiet Ceremony.

lum, jr., of Detroit, Mich., were married on July 15 at Christ Church, London, by Dr. Farrum, pastor of the church."

The marriage was private, but Sir Henry and Dr. MacNear, friends of Bishop Cannon, were invited to attend and sign as witnesses. Bishop Cannon is en route to Brazil.

Charlotte, N. C., July 21 (A.P.).—Jake F. Newell, Charlotte attorney and intimate friend of Bishop James Cannon, jr., revealed today that the prelate's romance with Mrs. Helen Hawley McCallum developed last year during a tour of the Holy Land.

News of the culmination of that romance in their marriage in London last week was received by Mr. Newell today in a radiogram.

It said: "We have followed your advice given in Rome March, 1929, and were married Tuesday. Tell Miss Squires. Best wishes." It was signed "The Cannons."

Mr. Newell laughingly denied he had given them any advice. He, Bishop Cannon and Mrs. McCallum were in Rome in the latter part of March after returning from a tour of Palestine.

Thought They Would Marry.

"I teased them some," the attorney said, "and told them they ought to get married. I thought then they would some day."

The Miss Squires mentioned in the radiogram is Miss Kitty Squires, of Charlotte, who was also a member of the party touring the Holy Land. The four were much together during the trip.

Mr. Newell described Mrs. Cannon as a "very intellectual" woman. She was Bishop Cannon's secretary during the Mediterranean cruise.

"Bishop Cannon is a great student," Mr. Newell said, "and Mrs. McCallum assisted him a great deal in his literary work. She is an extremely alert woman with a splendid wit."

Mr. Newell noted news dispatches said Mrs. Cannon was from 40 to 45 years of age.

"She doesn't look a day over 30," he said, adding that she "is good looking, tall and blond."

BIG GROWTH SHOWN IN NEARBY COUNTIES

Population Increases 37.6 Per Cent, Report of Census Reveals.

CAPITAL CLAIM UPHELD

The population of territory surrounding Washington, including four counties and the city of Alexandria, has increased 37.6 per cent in the last 10 years, figures released by the Census Bureau yesterday reveal. These figures are not considered final.

However, census officials point to the increase as a further indication that many former residents of Washington are now living in the outlying territory. The figures further support the contention of the Census Bureau that the reason the District of Columbia did not show a large increase in the last census is because more and more people are living outside of the District. Washington, in the last census, showed a population increase of only 11 per cent.

The counties enumerated, all of which give a large increase, are Montgomery and Prince Georges counties in Maryland, and Fairfax and Arlington in Virginia. The total population of these counties and Alexandria in the 1930 census is 184,809. In 1920 the population of the same territory was 134,311. The population of Washington in the last census was 485,716. In 1920 it was 437,571.

J. Sterling Moran, supervisor of the census in the District of Columbia, who released these figures, declared that the increase in population of the surrounding territory is clearer proof that a great many people who work in Washington and have most of their interests in the National Capital live outside of the District. Mr. Moran said that although a final computation of the census of the District has not been completed, he is certain that no one has been overlooked.

"There are just not 500,000 residents in Washington," he said. "The balance of 15,000 persons that would give us this population live outside the District."

Comparative figures of the population of the four counties and of Alexandria for 1920 and 1930 follow:

	1920	1930
Prince Georges County.	43,347	60,092
Montgomery County...	34,921	48,897
Fairfax County.........	21,943	25,566
Arlington County.....	16,040	26,069
Alexandria	18,060	24,185

50 Arrests Expected In Radio Rum Scheme

New York, July 21 (A.P.).—As many as 50 arrests are expected under a sealed indictment on authority of which Federal agents last week conducted raids in four fashionable Long Island communities, arresting seven men and seizing three unlicensed wireless transmitters they said were used to direct liquor smuggling.

Location of the hidden radio sets was discovered by Government engineers, and after the indictment was returned, John Doe warrants were issued and the raids were made. The prisoners arrested so far are charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition and radio laws.

Convict Admits Identity But Denies Slaying Girl

Jersey City, N. J., July 21 (A.P.).—Thomas O'Donald admitted today that he is Walter James Gormley, but denied the slaying of Eleanor Quinn, known as "Broadway Rose," for which Hoboken police sought him five years.

Gormley was extradited frm Michigan State Prison, where he was incarcerated under the name of O'Donald.

"Jag"-Giving Drug Kills Prisoner.

Lansing, Kans., July 21 (A.P.).—George Hunter, 21, of Atlanta, Ga., a convicted motor car thief in the State Prison here, found the fumes of chloroform contained in cement used for shoe repairing gave the effect of a jag. He inhaled them frequently Saturday and early Sunday, then fell asleep. Prison hospital attendants, called by his cellmate, found him dead.

Behind the Screens

With NELSON B. BELL

THE closing of the Government departments yesterday afternoon, on account of the continuation of the 100-plus heat that has had Washington on the spit since last Saturday, added a day of capacity business to the week-end grosses of the downtown movie houses—particularly those equipped with refrigeration plants.

Lobby lockouts were the rule on F street early in the afternoon, the populace evidently being fully aware that present-day cooling systems really cool.

But, sweet, sizzling Gehennas! When you come out onto that street again!!

And that reminds me. After a false start several weeks ago—at least it seems that long—the cooling apparatus of the RKO-Keith Theater, installed at the usual cost of something in excess of $50,000, is in working order and so admirably efficient that at a nod from Corbin Sheild the engineer can freeze icicles on the tip of your nose as easily as not.

If Mr. Sheild lived up to his Friday evening phone message, the new mechanism was tried out that night and has been functioning successfully ever since.

Some of us are finding it just a bit difficult to decide precisely how and where Marguerite Churchill, appearing opposite Edmund Lowe in "Good Intentions," at the Fox, ought to be catalogued.

In "The Valiant," with Paul Muni, it seemed to me that she left much to be desired, but with Will Rogers and Irene Rich in "They Had to See Paris," the impression she left was much more flattering. Perhaps Mr. Rogers' individual proficiency was sufficient to carry all of the others in his supporting cast, but, however that may have been, Miss Churchill has run out at the head of the stretch again in her present assignment.

Perhaps it is the costuming of the part, rather than the method of its acting, that irritates me. Of course, I wouldn't know about the last word in feminine fripperies, but if those bob-tailed wraps and beruffled fummidoodles that Miss Churchill wears are it, I shall remain fairly content in my profound and abysmal ignorance.

If Regis Toomey increases your blood pressure and steps up the temperature—Heaven forbid!—you can get quite a load of him this week. He runs a close second to Edmund Lowe in this same "Good Intentions," at the Fox, and a little farther back with William Powell in "The Shadow of the Law," at the Palace, having a little the better of it, as to casting, at the former.

There is a double portion of Richard Tucker also to be had on the local screen. He is on the receiving end of Mr. Powell's murderous punch, at the Palace, and with Belle Bennett and John Halliday in "Recaptured Love," at the Metropolitan.

Incidentally, the horrifying spectacle of Mr. Tucker hurtling to his death on the sidewalk below, when knocked through a high window by Mr. Powell, is among the most vividly realistic camera shots I remember ever having seen.

You will be able to cheer the talking newsreels this week, no matter which side of the naval limitations treaty you are on—if any.

In the Fox Movietone News Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, a member of the American delegation and a Democrat, defends the treaty as a splendid diplomatic achievement, looking toward the furtherance of international amity. In the Hearst Metrotone News, Senator Hale, of Maine, a Republican, tears the pact to tatters as a confession of national weakness and a betrayal of trust on the part of the Government.

There's an anomaly for you!

In case you couldn't identify all of the instruments upon which Edison and Gregory performed in the Fanchon and Marco "Overtures" idea, at the Fox, here is a partial list: An automobile inner tube, a rubber glove, a trick bassoon, a saw, a toy balloon, a vacuum cleaner and a bicycle pump!

Frank Richardson, Fox Movietone singing star, accompanied by Sam Jack Kaufman, master of ceremonies at the local Fox Theater, where both are appearing, will entertain the boys at the C. M. T. C. at Fort Myer today at 11:30 a. m., and then will be luncheon guests at the camp.

I mean those boys will be entertained!

I see in Sunday's paper that I referred to the "slimp touch of scandal," in the review of the Fox bill, and to the "Jolly Follies," in the review of the Palace.

What I wrote was "slimy touch of scandal" and "July Follies."

But they do say that in writing of Bob Carbauh in Saturday's column, I spelled it "Clabaugh." Now, why in the world would I do that? I have never known a Clabaugh and I certainly have known Bob Carbauh, as well as his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Carbauh. Anyhow, everything I said of a nonexistent Clabaugh is still true of the Carbauhs.

It just goes to show, as has been remarked here before, that it isn't the heat, it's the stupidity!

Two Persons Are Dead In Grain Elevator Fire

Buffalo, N. Y., July 21 (A.P.).—Two persons were burned during a fire which swept the old Globe Grain Elevator in a crowded section of the water front here this afternoon.

Three alarms were turned in, but firemen were unable to save the structure, and concentrated their attention on preventing the blaze from sweeping along the docks in the path of a high wind.

Hatless and Coatless Bandits Rob Fur Shop

New York, July 21 (A.P.).—Four hatless and coatless robbers today held up the office force of Chaitman & Cooperman, furriers, at 165 West Twenty-sixth street and escaped with furs valued at $12,000.

Insurance Death Conviction Upheld

Georgia Farmer's Appeal From Life Term in Plot Is Lost.

Atlanta, Ga., July 21 (A.P.).—The Georgia Supreme Court today upheld the conviction of H. K. Sligh, south Georgia farmer, under life sentence in prison for the murder in 1926 of Harry Loving, formerly of Huntington, W. Va., in a reputed plot to collect $90,000 insurance on Sligh's life.

Loving was the son of Mrs. Maude Loving Powers, of Huntington. The slain youth in company with Aubrey Carlyle Hoover, 24-year-old musician, and his brother James, left their homes in the late summer of 1926 "hitch-hiking" to Florida and near Fitzgerald, Ga., Loving disappeared.

The mother requested officers to find her son, with the result that Sheriff Tyler, of Irwin County, traced Loving to Sligh's home near Ocilla, Ga. Sligh's home was burned in September, 1926. A body recovered from the ruins of the Sligh home was buried at Seneca, S. C., as that of Sligh. When claim was made for the $90,000 insurance on the life of Sligh, the company withheld payment and began their own investigation, which led to California, where Sligh was arrested four months after the fire.

NATIONAL DODGE DEMONSTRATION MONTH
TRUE ECONOMY is more than price deep

Total cost, not merely purchase price, determines the economy of a motor car. And so great are the ownership economies of Dodge Brothers motor cars that in final cost they actually prove less expensive than many cars lower in purchase price.

The Dodge Six and Eight-in-Line are deliberately built better than just good enough. The chassis is extra sturdy. Bearings are extra fine and extra large. Every material and every manufacturing operation is gauged to an excess margin of excellence. Less wear, longer life, lower upkeep are the natural results.

Sturdy, efficient Dodge engines get the most out of fuel and oil. The safe, silent Mono-Piece Steel Bodies require no maintenance expense. The internal hydraulic brakes are self-equalizing—need no adjustments nor lubrication—increase the life of tires.

If you want a car to do something more than merely take you places, if you want to motor with comfort, pride, peace of mind and lasting satisfaction and economy, a Dodge Six or Eight-in-Line is the car you should own. Drive one and learn that Dodge economy goes hand in hand with brilliant performance.

Dodge Eight—$1095 to $1145, f. o. b. factory

ON AND ON GOES THE MILEAGE MARATHON

THE LONDON TREATY.

The United States takes the lead of Great Britain and Japan by voting to ratify the London Naval Treaty. Both Britain and Japan have been waiting for the United States to act first. The defeat of the Treaty of Versailles by the Senate served as a warning to all nations that they must not count upon treaties with the United States until the Senate has voted its approval.

By an overwhelming majority the Senate voted down all reservations except one. This one declares that the Senate gives its approval with the distinct understanding that there are no secret agreements or interpretations affecting the treaty, and that no such agreements or understandings shall be considered in interpreting the treaty.

The building of cruisers by Great Britain and Japan after the Treaty of Washington greatly increased the superiority of their fleets over the United States Navy. President Coolidge tried in 1927 to bring about cruiser limitation, but could not obtain any agreement with Great Britain. Then the United States ordered the building of fifteen cruisers carrying 8-inch guns.

It was to the interest of Great Britain to dissuade the United States from building these cruisers, with possibly more to follow. Great Britain could not hope to keep pace with the United States in a naval armament race. The only way in which Great Britain could retain relative sea strength was to induce the United States to agree to limitation. Prime Minister MacDonald accordingly made the overture, and in spite of a widespread feeling in the United States that Britain had not been a good sport at Geneva, he succeeded in obtaining the cooperation of President Hoover. The conference was called, and the naval limitation treaty approved yesterday is the result.

If this treaty were to be permanent, the United States would be very foolish to make it. But it is to run only until 1936. If war should come, the treaty will not be operative. The United States, if it builds cruisers, will be substantially at parity with Great Britain when the treaty expires.

Immediate parity is not provided for by the treaty. No substantial saving will be made unless the United States fails to build ships. Ultimate parity, and temporary acceptance of the principle of limitation by treaty as applied to all kinds of ships, are the chief merits of the treaty.

The treaty is not so important as to warrant the idea that the United States is either irretrievably damaged or immensely benefited by it. Events may make the treaty a scrap of paper.

At the termination of the treaty the contracting parties will be free to do as they please, without prejudice on account of anything they have agreed to in the treaty. Therefore there is no assurance that the world's great naval powers have committed themselves permanently to the principle of naval limitation by treaty. The powers can revise their naval programs to suit themselves, and put them into effect the day after the termination of the treaty.

When France and Italy refused to agree in London they made the naval treaty comparatively unimportant. The three powers that are in agreement have made their treaty contingent upon what others may do, who are not bound by treaty. Thus there is no assurance that the treaty will be effective until 1936.

Yet it is well to make the treaty. It is an effort to bring about eventual limitation and reduction of armaments, so that nations shall neither overpower their neighbors nor be afraid of them. This treaty gives the United States the right to come nearer to equality with Great Britain in sea power. Therefore it reduces the danger of aggression upon American commerce in case Great Britain should be involved in war with other powers. But the right to parity means nothing unless the United States builds ships.

If the ratification of this treaty should be followed by the failure of the United States to build necessary ships of war, on the mistaken notion that the treaty insures peace, the result may be encroachments upon American commerce or territory, to be followed by war. But that will not be the fault of the treaty. It will be the fault of the people of the United States. They can have adequate naval defense, under this treaty and afterward, if they desire it.

THE HEAT WAVE.

Washington set up a new heat record for all time Sunday even though Congress wasn't in session. Monday seemed, during the early part of the day, to have even greater things in store, but the day ended with the temperature slightly below the previous peak. People are sweltering in their homes, on the streets, in their offices, on nearby beaches and everywhere else, their only comfort being that the rest of the country is just as hot. The 100 mark was reached last week in nearly all sections of the United States.

Nature is in one of her intense moods. Added to the heat is a spell of drought that may bring serious damage or even disaster in some sections. Various localities are concerned over water supplies. In the grain belt crops are threatened, and it is feared that corn fields under the blazing sun of the Middle West may catch fire. The earth is literally scorched under such heat. Vegetation is withered and scarcely a living creature escapes. Heavy losses of live stock are reported.

The cost of such a heat wave is difficult to calculate. The Government and hundreds of other institutions suspended all work that was not absolutely essential. Millions have sought more merciful temperatures at the seaside and in the mountains. Coney Island staggered under its crowd, numbering well over 1,000,000. Resorts were so crowded that ordinary precautions against accident were often abandoned. Dozens were drowned, and hundreds rescued. Unable to sleep indoors, people remained all night on the beaches, and in some tenament districts people were found sleeping on the sidewalks. A considerable number have succumbed.

Fortunately these periods of excess heat do not, as a rule, last long. But whether brief or not there is nothing the public can do about them except rush to the water front or swimming pool, seek out shady places, demand inordinate amounts of ice cream and cold drinks, and—talk about the weather.

POLICEMEN'S HOT-WEATHER DRESS.

The neat appearance of Washington policemen attached to the Traffic Bureau did not suffer as a result of an order issued by Inspector William S. Shelby permitting them to doff their coats. They looked more immaculate, indeed, and were more efficient working in their shirt sleeves than they would have looked or could have worked perspiring beneath the added weight of the coat. It would be well if police regulations were altered to permit the doffing of coats throughout the warm season.

The summer police uniform should consist of trousers or breeches with puttees, a uniform shirt with black tie and cap. More clothing than this for men whose work keeps them out of doors is uncalled for. In the interests of appearance and visibility, the shirt should be of white material.

It has been demonstrated incontrovertibly that dress plays an important part in health and efficiency. During the hot spell, public health authorities have been cautioning the public to wear a minimum of clothing. Police regulations that prescribe stuffy, hot uniforms are relics of barbarism. Washington should join other progressive communities in permitting policemen to dress according to the weather.

AT $12,000 A YEAR.

Having been confirmed by the Senate, Gen. Frank T. Hines now takes charge of the Bureau of Veterans' Affairs. He has been director of the Veterans' Bureau for five years, and is thoroughly familiar with the work that is to be done in consolidating the various veterans' agencies.

Gen. Hines will direct the expenditure of about $800,000,000 a year. This sum will probably be exceeded as legislation in behalf of World War veterans is broadened and liberalized. The disbursement of these millions is a work that requires both firmness and tact. Politicians employ many stratagems to bring about the location of veterans' hospitals on sites in which they are interested. Labor disputes in connection with construction work are quite common. Gen. Hines has demonstrated his ability to stick to the law in directing the expenditure of funds for veterans. His patience and industry seem to have no limits.

It is an honor, indeed, to be made custodian of such enormous sums of money. In civil life a man discharging this responsibility would be paid $100,000 or $1,000,000 a year. Eugene G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel Co., blushingly admits that he received a bonus of $1,623,753 last year, besides his salary of $12,000. Gen. Hines has been paid $12,000 a year while disbursing $500,000,000 as director of the Veterans' Bureau, and he will not receive any additional salary or bonus for the additional work that has been piled upon his shoulders.

TILDEN WILL PLAY.

There is reason for widespread rejoicing in the announcement that Bill Tilden will play upon the American Davis Cup team in the challenge round against France. The team will be greatly strengthened by the presence of this veteran. His participation is made possible by a concession on the part of the United States Lawn Tennis Association. Tilden was barred from the team by the "player-writer" rule which forbids an amateur to discuss for publication competitions in which he participates. The association has been patient with Tilden, permitting him to write accounts of the practice rounds, and exacting his promise not to write during the three days of actual tournament competition.

The association has been frequently ridiculed for the "player-writer" rule. An amateur in any other branch of sport does not jeopardize his standing by writing for the newspapers and, under the rule as interpreted by the tennis association, an amateur tennis player forfeits his standing only if he does not allow a decent length of time to elapse between his play and his published analysis. By waiving the rule to permit Tilden's participation in the Davis Cup tournament the association has acted in the interest of an American victory, but it has made its "player-writer" rule appear even more untenable.

Agitation for putting Tilden on the team originated after the mediocre showing of Wilmer Allison in the singles matches against the Italians, and received impetus when the formidable strength of the French team became evident. When it became more or less certain that the chances for an American victory would be slim unless Tilden could be made available to the team the association found it convenient to offer a compromise.

PROGRESS IN ENDURANCE TESTS.

All things yield to progress, it seems, even endurance contests. No one can deny that if one feels an irresistible impulse to perch in the air, it is more sensible to choose a tree than a flag pole. Imagine a hero scorching himself to a crisp on top of a flag pole in weather such as nature has visited upon the land during the last few days! The tree dweller at least has the advantage of shade, and he may sometimes take himself up high enough to feel a breeze.

One other modern improvement should be noted. Flag poles are not sufficiently numerous to meet the public demand. The shift to trees gives every lad in the country a chance. It is true that in Wilmington the police have driven lads out of trees because of the crowds they attracted. Others in various parts of the country have been dragged down from neighbors' trees by due process of the law. But in general they find plenty of trees in back yards and parks, where they can entertain their admirers and acquire fame without causing traffic congestion or trespassing.

The Texas lad who fell from his perch while asleep and broke two ribs has not discouraged the great army of young adventurers in their quest for immortality. Some day a lad will stay up in a tree as long as those Hunter boys of Chicago stayed aloft in their airplane, and thereby gain eternal fame. Perchance some clever fellow will build himself a little house in a tree, as do the natives of Africa, and spend his life up there, thus earning the homage of the world. The public, such as it is, will come and hover about this new shrine of achievement, and gape in admiration at the hero. There's no telling what vast progress will be made in this new art of asininity.

CORN

By H. A. WALLACE, in the Palimpsest.

The idea seems to be widespread that the Indians developed the corn plant only part way and that the white man has improved it marvelously. The truth is that the Indians had every kind of corn that is grown today and a number of other varieties. White men have not put anything into the corn plant which did not exist there when the Indians ceased their corn breeding labors. What a marvelous job the Indians did with corn during the past 10,000 or 20,000 years!

It is all a guess as to what may have been the wild prototype of corn. Botanists who have studied the question agree, however, that quite unusual work must have been done many thousands of years ago by the early Indian corn breeders in order to develop corn from its wild prototype to the state of perfection in which it existed when the white man first came to the North American continent.

Having given this tribute to the early Indian corn breeders, I must hasten to protect myself against those who know the type of corn grown by Iowa Indians and have compared it with the corn grown by present-day Iowa farmers. It is undoubtedly true that the corn now grown in Iowa does not trace its descent from the corn grown by Iowa Indians 100 years ago. Most of our Iowa corn traces back to ancestry which came into the State from the East during the period extending from 1840 to 1910. It came mostly from Illinois and previous to that from Indiana or Ohio, and still further back from Tennessee and Virginia, with some Pennsylvania and New England blood mixed in.

No matter how much the white man may accomplish in rearranging the corn genes, he may well remain humble as he contemplates the accomplishments of the corn breeders of 10,000 years ago. Corn has done more for the white men of Iowa than the white men have done for corn.

Corn growing methods, of course, have changed very rapidly during the past century. The Indians grew corn in hills just as the white man does, but they did not use horses or iron tools. Their bone hoes were big and clumsy and it took six or seven hours of man or squaw labor to produce a bushel of corn.

The first white men in Iowa grew corn like the Indians except that they used iron tools and horses. At first they planted their corn by hand and cultivated it with a plow having one or two shovels and drawn by a single horse. Two-horse cultivators of the single-row type were first used in Iowa during the early sixties. Horse-drawn corn planters were also introduced in the sixties but they required an extra man stationed on the machine to control the dropping mechanism.

Today four-row corn planters, four-row cultivators, and two-row picking machines are pulled by tractors. With this machinery it is possible to produce a bushel of corn with 5 minutes of man labor and 5 minutes of tractor labor, though most of the farmers of Iowa still require about 20 minutes of man labor and 50 minutes of horse labor to produce a bushel. Most Iowa corn is still planted in hills, but with this exception our corn growing methods are totally different from those of the Indians. Iowa in the days of the Indians produced only a few thousand bushels of corn. Today 11,000,000 acres are planted to corn and the crop is usually worth over $250,000,000.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

THE WHISTLING BOY.

A lad went whistling down the street,
I never saw his face.
It may be we shall never meet
At any time or place,
And I may never learn his name
Or know him in the throng,
But still into my life he came
To be remembered long.

I think that I shall never sigh
Again within my room,
But I shall hear that lad go by Whose whistle broke the gloom.
And I am sure when unto me
Come dreary doubts and fears
That youngster's cheery call will be Still ringing in my ears.

"Cheer up! Cheer up! The sun is high,"
His music seemed to say,
"Oh, why does anybody sigh
On such a lovely day?
And why is anybody glum
When all is fair to see?"
I think that boy was born to come
And stir the faith in me.

To see his face I was too late.
The lad had passed me by,
But he had whistled off the weight
Of care that made me sigh,
And he had whistled off the whim
Which shrouded me in woe,
And I shall long remember him
Though he may never know.

The Little Car Gets Right-of-Way If It Doesn't Care What Happens to Its Fenders.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

"PROVIDENCE," said Napoleon, "is on the side that has the most cannon."

That is not true.

The British fleet, as everybody knows, threw away the greatest triumph in all history and by so doing prolonged the great war at least two years and caused the death of millions of men.

The fleet had been ordered to steam up the Dardanelles, destroy the land forts protecting the straits, and capture Constantinople.

If it had obeyed orders, Turkey would have been separated from her allies, Bulgaria would have been kept out of the war, the Balkans would have been controlled and protected by England, and Russia would have gained a warm-water route for imports.

Success would have proved again that the nation with the greatest navy rules the earth.

And victory was there for the taking.

The fleet thundered into action with mine sweepers in front to clear the way; destroyed the smaller land fortifications; silenced some of the larger ones, and then turned tail and quit.

The Turks and their German officers were ready to quit; the only effective guns they had were down to their last few rounds of ammunition and could get no more; complete victory for the fleet was only a matter of hours.

But a few mines uncaught by the sweepers were struck by a few of the ships and the British admiral imagined hidden terrors that threatened his destruction.

He ran away because he was afraid of things he could not see—which means that his imagination broke his nerve and cost England the greatest victory in history.

The side with the most cannon lost because it quit.

Alexander with a company of veterans little larger than an American army division destroyed an Asiatic army of more than half a million because the greater part of it fled in terror without striking a blow.

History is full of such surrenders.

Size alone means little; and despite the invention of terrible machines, victory now as always depends upon the courage and daring of men.

In war or in peace, the winner is the man who will not quit.

Providence is on the side that has the most backbone.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THOSE CUP DEFENDER TRIALS.

Newport, R. I., Monday.—Races between the yachts competing for the distinction of representing America in the coming cup race were called off today after several mishaps. Shortly after the yachts left the starting buoy, a breeze of 5 miles an hour sprung up, carrying away the masts of the Enterprise, Weetamoe and Yankee and capsizing the Whirlwind. On her return to the mooring it was discovered the Weetamoe had also lost her keel. There is an unconfirmed report that the Enterprise had her rudder carried away by contact with a fresh mackerel.

* * * *

Tuesday.—There will be no races between the trial yachts today. In coming about sharply after leaving her mooring this morning, the Weetamoe buckled amidships. She will be repaired as soon as enough paper tacks arrive. Two sailors have been dismissed from the Enterprise, it was learned today, for leaning against the mast and throwing it 30 degrees off center.

* * * *

Wednesday.—There were scenes of great excitement off here today as the cup yachts prepared for a mid-week race. The concussion from the starting gun opened the seams of the Whirlwind. To add to the annoyances of the day a seagull flew through the mainsail of the Enterprise, ruining it beyond repair. There is now talk of holding future trials indoors.

* * * *

Thursday.—The committee in charge of the trials off here issued the following statement this morning:

There will be no races today. In the strain of a light ground swell during the nigh all the threads came out of the Enterprise, Yankee and Weetamoe. The Whirlwind lost most of her buttons.

* * * *

Friday.—The contenders for the honor of meeting Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht in the international races this September almost completed a race without accident today. It was a neck-and-neck contest in a 4-mile wind, with each yacht losing an equal amount of gear, but just when it seemed all four boats would limp through to the finish, a fishline from a fisherman's skiff got caught under the Weetamoe. The fisherman pulled in his line too suddenly and yanked her rudder off. It's all very disheartening.

* * * *

Saturday.—All races between the cup contenders have been called off pending repairs and alterations. Inspection today revealed that salt water was causing three of the four yachts to unravel.

OH, MISTER MASEFIELD!

Mr. John Masefield, the new poet laureate of England, has made his first official contribution to poetry. This is it:

Ah! Authors answer. All aid. Arrest
Britannia's bard's brow's being bruised but blest.

Well, the only charitable conclusion is that John doesn't like the royal league and is playing for his release.

* * * *

Elmer Twitchell, after reading the Masefield lines, is out for the job of poet laureate of America. He has submitted this offering:

Ah! Writer's eacho. Hot dog! The coop!
America's bard's brain's gone boop-
oop-a-doop.

Ima Dodo thinks the Farm Belt is something worn by Westerners who get too swaggery for suspenders.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Shillalahs Whirling in Massachusetts Democracy—Because of Slight to Mayor Curley.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Old Man Discord is again knocking at the portals of Massachusetts Democracy. The old gentleman with the bag of trouble is no stranger to Bay State Jeffersonians, but rather an acquaintance of many years' standing. His influence at party conclaves has decided many an election—in favor of Republican candidates. He has just about reduced the local organization to a state of impotence. With the party machine serenely rolling along the smooth highway of harmony and the scent of November victory in the air, the pesky old gent got busy with the proverbial monkey-wrench.

It happened in Boston. A recent Jeffersonian Society dinner was the occasion. Invitations were sent forth for the gala occasion to Democratic bigwigs throughout the Commonwealth, with the exception of Mayor Curley of Boston, recognized leader of the party in and about the environs of that municipality. The gentlemen who "forgot to remember" his honor were hardly prepared for the tremendous reaction that resulted from the slight. The first hurried answer to the natural "why" was the frank explanation that "some of the members might have objected to the mayor's presence." Later Larue Brown, president of the society, attempted some further explaining, to the effect that no slur was intended; that the mayor was not a member of the society and had failed to apply for a ticket, the privilege of all nonmembers, &c. The second statement, however, will have to do some tall hustling to catch up with the first.

The slight to Mayor Curley may undo a tremendous amount of fence-patching accomplished by Democratic leaders during the past six months. Visions of November victory have inspired yeomen efforts to woo the dove of peace, heretofore absent from most Massachusetts Democratic campaigns. Regardless of the sterling quality of candidates the party has generally gone to the polls in past elections with unbalanced tickets and a whole flock of petty feuds unsettled. This year olive branches have been scattered in profusion, racial and geographical differences adjusted, and everything done to clear the track for a successful autumnal campaign. Marcus Coolidge, of Fitchburg, a product of old Yankee stock, had been practically agreed upon as the senatorial standard-bearer and was expected to sail to victory under the slogan "One good Coolidge deserves another," although Candidate Coolidge is no kin to his illustrious namesake.

But now, after the affront to the all-highest of Boston Jeffersonianism, it is not improbable that the olive branch will give way to the shillalah, so that even another deserving Coolidge can hardly weather the storm.

Horse Troughs and Bird Baths Should Be Provided—Animals and Birds Suffering From Heat and Thirst.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The unusually hot days which the people of Washington have experienced recently appear to be the chief topic of conversation at this time. There are everywhere such expressions as "Wow—it—is—hot," and "Gee, but I'm hot." I have heard many such expressions from many different people, but not once have I heard that there should be more horse troughs and city-owned bird baths to relieve the obvious suffering of animals and birds. Folks who are hot can dodge into a drug store or other place and cool off with a lemonade and shaved ice; animals and birds are certainly not so fortunate.

It is common sight to witness a dog or bird, for example, actually frantic for want of water. A dog will run up and down the street—dozen of streets, in fact—searching for water to cool itself off, and its only reward may be a down-hanging tongue and the additional heat which comes from moving about too much. Pigeons, sparrows and other birds suffer tremendously from the heat. In fact, at such times they can not breathe through their nostrils but must open their mouths. Who has not seen them do this? It is largely because they are thirsty and are seeking water. Animals go mad for want of water on hot days; birds will take long chances to secure a drink. Yesterday I sprinkled my lawn. A dozen sparrows flew down during the operation and sucked in the drops from blades of grass. Because they have been displaced by automobile trucks, the horses in Washington have become few, and the number of horse troughs have dwindled to three or four for the entire city. The troughs should be replaced for the benefit of animals, and there should annually be purchased a hundred or more artistic bird baths.

Only One New Element—Illinium—Has Ever Been Discovered in This Country.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: As a member of the faculty of the University of North Carolina I was much interested in Mr. Barbee's article on Mr. Graham in The Post of July 20. However, there is one statement which is incorrect. The article states that Dr. Baskerville, a former member of the chemistry department, discovered several new elements. As a matter of fact only one new element has ever been discovered in this country, that of illinium, at the University of Illinois. Dr. Baskerville at one time thought that he had discovered certain new elements in the "rare earth family," and unofficially announced the discovery. Later it was proved that he was incorrect.

This letter should not be in any way taken as a reflection on Dr. Baskerville's ability or record, but is written merely to correct Mr. Barbee in case the statement should be repeated.

Government Clerks To Wed in New York

A marriage license was obtained in New York yesterday by Richard James Eamich, of 2038 Eighteenth street northwest, and Miss Cecile Sarah Hale, of 1932 Biltmore street northwest, both 25 years old and clerks in the Department of Labor.

The couple had planned to marry at the Little Church Around the Corner. Mr. Eamich was born in Lovettsville, Va., the son of Harry F. and Bertie Grubb Eamich. Miss Hale was born in Lawrence, Kans., the daughter of John H. and Annie Hook Hale. Miss Hale was a former teacher.

Capital Girl Is Married in Home Rites

Miss Mary Z. Carpenter and Mr. Quinter Are Wed.

An interesting wedding yesterday evening was that of Miss Mary Zero Carpenter, daughter of Mrs. Marie E. Rehbein, and Mr. Louis Harold Quinter, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Keyes Quinter. The ceremony was performed at 7:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Mary Carley, Holly street, by the Rev. John F. Fannon.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin fashioned with a high waistline and a circular skirt falling in three trains. A cap of seed pearls held the long tulle veil, and was held in place by a chin strap. The bride carried a bouquet of roses and lillies of the valley.

The maid of honor was Miss Louise Moore, who wore a gown of pale green chiffon fashioned after the prevailing mode. Her hat was of green straw turned off the face, and she carried talisman roses and yellow snapdragons.

The bridesmaids were Miss Mary Morris, of Washington and Miss Anna McClosky, of Philadelphia, cousins of the bride. They wore old-fashioned frocks of orchid point d'esprit, and hats to match their frocks, and carried old fashioned bouquets.

The best man was Mr. Joseph Conlon, of Washington. A reception followed the ceremony after which Mr. and Mrs. Quinter left for a trip to Atlantic City and a motor trip through New England. The bride wore for traveling a brown tailored suit of swordcloth, with a hat to match. On their return they will be at home at 3232 Woodley Road.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. John L. McClosky, of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lang of Philadelphia, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Booth of Roanoke, Va.

Mr. Hugh Corby, Vice Consul at the American Embassy in Buenos Aires, and Mrs. Corby, will not return to South America until fall. Mr. Corby will leave about September 1 and Mrs. Corby remaining for a time with her mother, Mrs. George Wentworth, in Boston.

Capt. and Mrs. Benjamin R. Luscomb will leave Washington early in August for a month's stay at New Bedford, Mass.

Miss C. Louise Boehringer, of Phoenix, Ariz., who has been at the Cavalier during a stay of several weeks in Washington, will leave today for New York.

Mrs. Belle H. Royce is at Atlantic City.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Maizels announce the engagement of their sister, Miss Celia Belasco, to Mr. Sydney L. Resnick, of Seattle, Wash.

Mrs. O. Lee Allen, of Hendersonville, N. C., is a guest at the Dodge Hotel.

DEAREST GENEVIEVE: If you think I am about to remark about the heat I'll just fool you and not refer to it in any way. This is summer time, dearie! Ain't it grand! If you have been in doubt about when you would leave on your vacation, you will probably have no difficulty in deciding on a date now.

Schwartz Gown Shop Will Close

—August 1, so as a last final week, clearing out everything remaining, prices have been reduced to $10.75 and $16.50. These frocks have been as high as $39.50, some of them. In the attractive frilled chiffons in cool, lovely colors, the gay cottons, all white and myriad hues in many materials, you will find several models which are just perfect for you, for your individual needs.

During the next two months you will wear summer clothes most of the time in Washington. Go in to Schwartz, 1325 Connecticut Avenue, and pick up some nice little bargains for yourself.

Portraits Made In Cool Gardens

—are lovely to see the year round. When the snows of winter whirl about your casement windows, you will be so happy to have pictures of family or friends in the opulent setting of midsummer.

Underwood & Underwood make so many out-door pictures at this time of year, and all you have to do is just to call them and make an appointment for a definite time.

Perhaps you will prefer studio sittings, and if you do, be assured that the studio is as cool as can be. How they keep it so cool and lovely is a mystery to me. The fact that Underwood & Underwood occupies what was once a fine old mansion, with high ceilings and spacious rooms, may account for the cavernous coolness of the place. Call up and make an appointment this week. Decatur 4100.

An Attractive Mold Of Raspberry Ice

—is a delicious finish to your dinner menu at home on a warmish night in late July. Call up Avignone Freres Columbia 0333, and put in your order for a frozen dessert to be delivered every evening. If you choose to you might leave the flavor to their discretion and have a jolly little surprise every night when you open the container. Of course you will remember that Avignone has a restaurant which serves wonderful meals, with a French dinner available if you want it. Avignone Freres, 1777 Columbia Road. Phone Columbia 0333.

REVIEW SAYS TRADE TO IMPROVE IN FALL

Present Pessimistic Stand Is Also Being Overdone, Declares Booklet.

AUTO PRODUCTION DROPS

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Increased business activitiy this fall seems certain, in the opinion of the monthly review of the Bank of America, N. A., which at the same time characterizes the current pessimistic business attitude as being as much overdone as was the undue optimism of the early spring.

The marketing of crops and usual seasonal demands ordinarily bring about an increase in business activity in the autumn months and there is no reason to believe that this fall will be any exception to the general rule, the review states. It admits, however, that the extent of this revival, some symptoms of which are already apparent, and the possible term of its duration, is impossible to judge. In any case, it will be a step in the general progress toward better economic conditions.

The review adds that although commodity prices may not yet be at bottom, a price level eventually is reached where essential goods begin to move into consuming channels fairly readily and the present low levels of stocks of goods in consumers' hands is expected to result in demand at the first sign of returning activity.

Retail Prices Decline.

"A decline in retail prices in a number of important lines to a point more nearly in adjustment to the wholesale level has been an encouraging development in the past month," the review continues.

"Except in minor instances, these downward revisions have met with very little response in increased buying. This may be accounted for to some extent by the fact that the changes for the most part have occurred during a period of seasonal quiet and to the pessimistic attitude regarding the economic outlook which has gained such ground during the past several weeks."

Prelmiinary production figures for June indicate that from 2,300,000 to 2,350,000 passenger cars, trucks and taxicabs were built in this country and Canada in the first half of 1930. This total represents a decline of about 32 per cent from the 3,413,800 units produced in the like period of 1929, with June output around 39 per cent smaller than last year, says a current survey of the Standard Statistics Co. of New York.

Sees July as Low Month.

It states that current evidence supports the belief that July outturn will be by far the smallest for any month in 1930. August is expected to bring a relatively sharp upturn from the prevailing low level of activity and a further gain is likely in September. At no time during the balance of the year, however, is monthly production likely to approach the 1930 high attained in April, when some 467,000 units were made.

American Smelting and Refining Co. has acquired a substantial interest in Mining Trust, Ltd., which owns the majority of shares of Mount Isa Mines, Ltd., large lead, zinc, silver mining properties, located in Australia, William Loeb, vice president of American Smelting, announced. Mining Trust also owns Lawnhills concession in Northern Queensland and controls New Guinea Gold Fields, Ltd., Compagnie Nouvelle Des Mines, De Villemagne & Mining Trust of Northern Rhodesia.

Southern Natural Gas Corporation, a subsidiary of Tri-Utilities Corporation, has entered into a long term contract to supply natural gas to the Insull properties which now use manufactured gas and operate in Biloxi, Hansboro, Mississippi City, Long Beach and Pass Christian, Miss.

The Sierra-Pacific Power Co., 90 per cent of whose common stock is owned by Stone and Webster, Inc., has purchased all of the physical properties of the Nevada Valleys Power Co.

Cotton goods opened steady today with the demand quite well scattered for gray cloths. The American Woolen Company opened lines of lightweight staples, tropical suitings, and flannels for spring 1931. Prices on tropicals ran from 20 cents to 30 cents a yard below those of a year ago, while serges, stripes, &c., were down from 4 cents to 27 cents a yard. Yarns were quiet and rregular. Burlaps showed little change at the opening. Raw silk opened unchanged from Saturday. Silk goods for fall were doing a little better.

Organization of the Syracuse Gear Corporation taking over control of the New Process Gear Co., and the Adams Axle Co., both of Syracuse, and the Warner Corporation of Muncie, Ind., all formerly controlled by Durant Motors, Inc., was announced today by the president, Anthony A. Henninger. Headquarters of the group will be in this city, said the announcement.

The Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co., reported today for the first half this year a balance available after charges amounting to $8,357,362, against $13,131,380 in the first half last year and $7,860,754 in the first half of 1928. The report pointed out that the radio receiving set and tube manufacturing business had been transferred January 1 last to the Radio Corporation of America for a stock interest in that corporation. Orders received for the first six months this year amounted to $9,338,159, compared with $121,184,546 in the corresponding period last year, and $94,394,717 in the first half of 1928, sales billed were $93,022,036, against $99,927,790 in the first half last year and $88,854,725 in the first half of 1928.

General Foods Corporation and subsidiaries reported for the first half this year net income of $10,629,716, equal to $2.01 a share, compared with $9,848,057, or $1.89 a share, for the first half last year.

The Blaw-Knox Co. and subsidiaries in the first half earned a net of $1,684,002, equal to $1.27 a share, compared with a net, including that of companies subsequently acquired, for the first half last year of $1,392,366, equal to $1.05 a share.

Atlantic Refining Co. and subsidiaries report profit for the first six months of 1930 of $2,819,000, equal after preferred dividends to $1.05 per share of common stock, compared with $8,862,000 or $3.87 a share during the like period of 1929.

Withdrawal of $2,000,000 in gold for export to Canada was shown in the daily gold statement of the New York Federal Reserve Bank today.

At least $1,000,000 of the metal was sent forward by the Canadian Bank of Commerce. The movement constituted the first shipment of consequence to go forward to Canada since November, 1928.

NOW AMERICA'S NEWEST OIL BECOMES AMERICA'S BEST OIL FOR YOU TO USE . . . THE PIKE'S PEAK TEST PROVED IT!

BETWEEN SEPTEMBER 6 AND OCTOBER 5, 1929, CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil was tested side by side with three popular nationally known brands of motor oil on Pike's Peak under the supervision of the American Automobile Association Contest Board.

Following a careful checking of more than ten thousand observations made during this gruelling test, the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association issued a Certificate of Performance Number 2268 comprising 14 points, with permission to use in connection with the Association Seal pictured above.

The booklet pictured below gives in detail the complete story of the Pike's Peak Tests. You should have these facts . . . for they will convince you beyond doubt of the Superior Quality of CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil. . . . Sold in the correct grade for your motor at stations displaying the CONOCO Red Triangle.

HIDE IN THE DARK

By FRANCES NOYES HART

Author of "The Bellamy Trial"

Time: All-Hallows Eve.

Place: Lady Court, an old manor house south of Washington.

Cast of Characters.

Lindy Marsden—Lonely, lovely, a dark-eyed romancist, and mistress of Lady Court.

Doug King—Hilarious and jovial, the life of every party and the founder of the March Hares.

Neill Sheridan—Sleek, dark, highly successful in his career as a lawyer and husband of—

Trudi—Wise, witty and chic, with all the ease and manner of a grand duchess and the lack of manners of a fishwife.

Chatty Ross—Small, gay, blindly adoring wife of—

Tom Ross—The least successful man in the room, shabby and sensitive among his wealthy friends.

Hanna Dart—A gentle lady, immaculately beautiful, whose reserve masks a deep affection for her husband.

Gavin Dart—A rather tired and immensely successful business man of 50, with shrewd, dark eyes and steel-gray hair.

Ray Hardy—The youngest member of the party, not long married and overwhelmingly in love with—

Joel Hardy—Her charming and irrepressible husband, who has not grown 5 minutes older in the last ten years.

Jill Leighton—Graceful and gracious, stepsister of that legendary Sunny, the beloved girl, whose strange death ten years ago still lay like a shadow over the gay group.

Larry Redmond—An agreeable young banker, who can not understand why Jill hates him.

Kit Baird, wanderer and adventurer in strange lands, who, in his casual way, does every romantic thing magnificently well.

THE STORY THUS FAR.

The thirteen gay revelers, calling themselves the March Hares, have gathered on Halloween at Lady Court, the old manor house, for a party. The characters are being introduced.

NOW CONTINUE THE STORY.

If Neill Sheridan, the one with the cocktail shaker and the platinum cigarette case, were in the movies you would promptly and accurately cast him as the villain—so slim, so dapper, the possessor of such a sleek, dark mustache, such sleek dark hair, and so sleek and dark a pair of eyes. His clothes are far too impeccable, his consumption of cigarettes far too rapid, and the glint of teeth beneath his slim mustache far too white, to bode any good—and yet those who know him best insist that he is a sheep in wolf's clothing, an amiable chap who is more than willing to do any fellow a good turn, and who is absurdly proud of the chic and hard-boiled Trudi.

Twelve years ago he had come to Washington with Tom Ross, his roommate at law school, and they had both gone into the State Department together—but Sherry had broken away in 1917 to join the law firm of Kountz & Maury (ex-Morowitz), of New York, which happened to be long on legal talent but short on social prestige. Sherry proved the little leaven that leavened the whole lump, and for several years now his income has fluctuated agreeably between a hundred and hundred and twenty-five thousand a year, earned principally on the golf links and tennis courts of Palm Beach and Southampton, while the indefatigable Semites have kept the home fires of legal talent burning in the Broadway offices of the firm. He wears neckties as rich and glowing as the more dignified species of butterflies; he is 38, looks precisely as he did at 28, and at 48 will look even more so.

An Amazing Person.

Just behind him, as arresting as an exclamation point in her slim black coat and infinitesimal hat, stands his lawful wedded wife, Trudi is an amazing person—small, thin to the point of emaciation, brown as a gypsy, with hair and eyes the color of her skin and a mouth the color of the red rag that waves at bulls. She has the face of an abnormally intelligent street urchin, the ease of manner of a grand duchess, and the absence of manners of a fishwife.

Ten years ago Trudi was the Cinderella of the Washington group—the daughter of a retired army colonel and the rather pathetic product of a procession of army posts reaching from Vermont to Honolulu. Nine years of affluence have metamorphosed her into the most redoubtable bridge player in North America and one of the most perfect hostesses in the world. She never wears a jewel of any kind—her "windblown" bob takes 35 minutes to arrange if she is lucky—she has ankles and feet that would give Mistinguet a bad moment—and a careless husky voice that is oddly disturbing.

Trudi's clothes are absolutely simple; the morning ones come from Chanel, the afternoon ones from Lelong and the evening ones from Vionnet, and they cost $25,000 a year, no matter what Neill is making. Children, dogs, visiting potentates and servants adore Trudi, all men like her and some women love her. She treats dowagers and infants with a grave and attentive friendliness that render them her slaves; the rest of the world take what they can get of her and are thankful. No one knows her exact age—she never made any formal debut in Washington, and occasionally observes that she must be somewhere between 40 and 50. What evidence there is points to the early 30s. She can look 18 or 48 with equal facility. The Sheridans have no children.

The Two Roses.

Chatty Ross, curled up at one end of the long sofa with her small scuffed oxfords tucked neatly under her, is a delightful little person—small, gay, curly-headed and irresponsible, in spite of the fact that she is the mother of four children and the only lady in the group who would be caught dead in the shabby gray coat that many rabbits died to consummate many years before.

This coat is too long, too wide, far, far too worn, but it is Chatty's best coat, and above its flopping collar her eyes shine and her cheeks flush and dimple. There is not an atom of pretense in her entire make-up, and for all her dowdiness she is as hilarious as a small child over this miraculous party. She inhabits a six-room frame cottage in Hartsdale, has a colored helper called Bohemia, a 3-year-old Dodge sedan and a husband of whom she is just as proud as though he were the president of General Motors.

Tom Ross is not the president of General Motors—on the contrary. He is the least to be envied of all wage-earners, the struggling young lawyer who is no longer particularly young. Somewhere on the pleasant road that led so bravely out of Harvard, where he and Sheridan had roomed together, Tom took the wrong turning; perhaps it was the turn that led him away somewhat abruptly from the flourishing young firm of Kountz, Maury & Sheridan to the more hallowed portals of Hale & Dawes.

Nine years have passed since they clanged behind him, and Tom's curly brown hair has begun to retreat slightly from his temples, and his pleasant blue eyes are occasionally a somewhat bleak gray. Slim, tragically neat in order to counteract his recent shabbiness, he is as sensitive as his adored Chatty is oblivious, and there is something a little strained and fine-drawn about his smile.

For more reasons than one this reunion is painful to Tom, but he has put his pride in his pocket and come in order to give her the only pleasure that she has begged for in eight years. Tom is 36—there are days—yes, and nights—when he feels 56, and pretty well tired of everything in the world except Chatty's small, warm hands and delightful laughter.

Meet the Darts.

At the other end of the sofa sits Hanna Dart, her magnificent black sables framing a dream of ivory and gold. Hanna is that rarest of creatures outside of books and the English aristocracy—a real beauty. She is not pretty, or lovely, or attractive, or charming—she is beautiful. With her silver gilt hair parted severely in the center and coiled over her ears in two shining wheels, her wide-set eyes, flawless and brilliant as aquamarines under dark and delicate brows, the lovely flow of color coming and going beneath the satiny skin, the perfect curve of mouth and chin and shoulder—Hanna, daughter of our one-time Ambassador to Spain, is divinely tall and most divinely fair.

Hanna is also a great lady as it is possible for one not quite 30 to be—gentle-mannered, gentle-voiced, gentle-hearted. She has an amazing collection of diamonds and virtually no sense of humor. She wears nothing but black or white, in either of which she is totally devastating, and once in a long time she forgets to conceal her adoration of the quiet man seated at her elbow.

Gavin Dart is considerably older than the rest of the group—somewhere in his late forties, perhaps, with dark hair turning to steel, a pair of shrewd and ironic eyes, and a rather formidable mouth that is surprisingly unformidable when he smiles. He is a fairly tired business man, having amassed five millions before 50, but he is not too tired to find life diverting, his wife beautiful and the coal industry absorbing.

Gavin's home is in Pittsburgh—his hobbies vintage wines, cruises and a criminal library second to none in the country; he has nice wit, when he cares to use it; immense self-possession and is even better at listening than he is at talking. In spite of the fact that he is a victim of acute insomnia, his nerves are under such perfect control that, like Talleyrand, he would not start if you came up behind him in the dark and kicked him.

Introductions Continued.

The young things seated on the farthest loveseat with their fingers openly and shamelessly linked are Ray and Joel Hardy. It is difficult to think of the Hardys separately, as they never leave each other's side for more than three minutes, unless forcibly handled, but if you inspect them closely it is quite easy to tell them apart. Of course, they are both thin and dark as gypsies and both muffled in enormous tweed coats, but the one with the little scarlet felt hat cocked over one eye is Ray and the one with the scarlet foulard tie is Joel.

Ray is a highly diverting person with a tilted nose, a small cloud of freckles, a wide, disarming grin, round hazel eyes and hair so closely shorn that it looks like a little brown velvet cap. She is the only outsider in the group, with the exception of Gavin Dart, and she is almost ten years younger than the youngest member.

Ray had met Joel at her coming-out party in New York almost a year before, had fallen in love with him with the promptness and violence that astounded them both, and had pursued him shamelessly and relentlessly throughout her entire first season—at the end of which time he collapsed and married her. Their diversion in each other's society since then has been so flagrant and unflagging that it is occasionally embarrassing to the innocent bystander, but every one who knows them delights in the Hardys.

Simplest of Children.

Under her impish exterior Ray is the simplest of all the children of boy nature, mischievous as a monkey, superstitious as a sailor and possessed of more curiosity than the Elephant's child himself. She believes in everything—ghosts, fairies, platonic friendship, undying love, the equality of man, the intuition of woman, the devotion of dogs, fortune tellers and four-leaf clovers. She is lost and undone if Joel is out of her sight and makes no bones whatever about it.

Joel Himself.

Joel is a dark and dreamy-eyed young man with a misleadingly poetic expression which conceals an infantile fondness for nonsense in any form and a passion for detective stories. During the year in which he dallied with the State Department and a diplomatic career he was the most sought-after dinner partner in a radius of 30 miles of Washington, and he has lost none of his insinuating and effortless charm.

The Hardys have a fairly comfortable income, inherited from a worshiping grand-aunt of Joel's.

They inhabit a delightful and uncomfortable old farmhouse just outside of Greenwich, which they have remodeled very badly indeed—they have as obvious assets an elderly French couple, a large English sheep dog, a small black kitten and a perfectly magnificent time. It would be difficult to discover any one nicer anywhere.

Jill and Leighton.

Seated on the far corner of the great couch in front of the fire, her hands still linked about the little fur cap on her knee, her bare head bright, sits Jill Leighton, the sister of that Sylvia who had been the twelfth of this group and had died so many years ago. Jill Leighton is one of those lucky people who wear charm and distinction as obviously printed on their faces as visas on the passport to good fortune. A plumber would know in the space that it took to draw a breath that here, slight and serene, sat a lady—a grand duke would know it, too.

Jill sits quite still, her eyes on her linked hands, so that it is impossible to see whether their larkspur blue is unshadowed, but at any rate she holds her fine, small head, with its wreath of tawny, gold hair, lightly and smilingly erect—a gracious and graceful little figure, silhouetted sharply against the soft fur lining of the coat that she has flung open.

21 Degrees Cooler in The

Hecht Co. Basement Store

Yesterday afternoon while the city sweltered at 103 degrees shoppers in the Basement Store were enjoying the comfort of a temperature of 82 degrees. All day long we watched the thermometer in the Basement. Consistently it registered 82 degrees. This is made possible by our great air-cooling system.

5,400,000 cubic feet of air is changed every hour in the Basement Store.

Keep cool in the Basement Store. Incidentally you'll find that the lowered prices will have a cooling effect on your pocketbook.

AWAIT THE 8 AS BUICK BUILDS IT

FOUR NEW SERIES OF STRAIGHT EIGHTS

. . . . VALVE-IN-HEAD, OF COURSE . . . .

NEW SYNCRO-MESH TRANSMISSION*

One of Buick's four new series—with new Valve-in-Head Straight Eight Engines and new Insulated Bodies by Fisher—is priced $200 lower than last year's Buick six. It is the world's lowest priced Valve-in-Head Straight Eight.

Buick, winner of more than twice as many buyers as any other maker of fine cars, will soon present the most brilliant creations in Buick's twenty-seven years of fine car building—

Four series of Straight Eights providing twenty luxurious models! With masterly new engines—all Valve-in-Head, all Straight Eights—revealing performance far surpassing even the finest previous Buicks! With new Syncro-Mesh Transmissions* assuring the highest degree of smooth, silent, non-clash gear-shifting! With new Insulated Bodies by Fisher endowed with characteristic Buick beauty and protected, like a fine home, against heat, cold and noise! Together with a host of other important improvements!

Buick is building Eights exclusively. The Eight as Buick Builds It is fundamentally a better engine. Every unit has been carefully designed to assure uniform excellence throughout. The entire chassis reveals increased size and strength to conform with the increased power of the new engines. And the result is an entirely new degree of roadability—a train-like sureness and steadiness of flight heretofore unknown in Buick's field.

You are familiar with Buick's twenty-seven year record of leadership. . . . You have hoped for greater goodness and greater value in Straight Eight manufacture. . . . Await The Eight as Buick Builds It!

The South in the above hand invariably attributed his losses to poor cards, never to bad play; and yet this is a sample of his technique.

The Contract was an Auction one No Trump (in Contract it would have been three) and West led his fourth best Spade; Declarer held up his Ace until the third round so as to exhaust East's Spades. South then led a small Club which dummy won and led a Diamond which South finessed. A second small Club put dummy in again; a second Diamond finesse followed and the Ace of Diamonds dropped East's King. After that, the third Club entry enabled dummy to cash two long Diamonds on which South discarded the Queen and Jack of Hearts. The Heart Ace and the Club Jack accounted for the two remaining tricks.

Declarer was very complacent over winning eleven tricks and remarked: "You will notice that I avoided the risk of the Heart finesse by discarding two Hearts on the Diamonds; I guess I won all the tricks there were in that hand." He was quite indignant when his partner rejoned: "Yes, all but two."

The Correct Play.

The partner was correct; Declarer threw away two tricks when he ducked two Spades. The hold-up could accomplish nothing because the South hand must do all the finessing and West would obtain the lead to continue his Spades if a finesse lost.

South should have won the first Spade and proceeded as follows: dummy put in with a Club at trick 2; a Diamond finesse at trick 3; dummy in again with a Club at trick 4; and another Diamond finesse at trick 5. Then the Ace of Diamonds would drop East's King, and by overtaking South's Club Jack with an honor (which would be perfectly safe because the Ten would be the only outstanding adverse Club at that time) dummy would be put in a third time. At tricks 8 and 9 dummy would cash the two long Diamonds and Declarer would have his game won.

With the game home, there would have been no reason for not trying the Heart finesse for a grand slam instead of cashing the last Club and the Heart Ace for two sure but inconsequential extra tricks. A Heart finesse at trick 10, a Club re-entry at trick 11, and finally two more Heart tricks would have produced the big slam.

Dare Interprets the Mode

Paris, July 21.

MY, my, how we have been neglecting our lingerie box lately! Starting out right, then, let me tell you once again that that word, lingerie, has only one pronunciation, and that is the French one, which is "lan-ger-ee." As far as I have ever been able to ascertain there is no English adaptation of the word, and the way most Americans pronounce it is unforgivable.

Don't you ever get tired of finding something wrong with each pretty underthing you go to put on? So do we all! When the fault first becomes evident there and then is the time to take stock, and see what you can do about it.

There's a lot that can be done about it, too. First, there is the matter of renewing ribbons. Take off all the old ribbons and put new ones on! Then there is the question of certain pieces that can be made quite new by new lace on the old material, providing it is worth this trouble. Sometimes it's the reverse, and the lace is good enough to be taken off and put on new material.

And then the coloring powders and soaps that you can buy! A little practice, a careful following of directions, and the most abject piece of lingerie will come out of this colored bath looking as though it were just bought!

And when all else fails, a good black dye never does! Dye them yourself, or have them done, lace, ribbons 'n all. Then make this new black lingerie smart with rose satin straps or ecru lace!

* * * *

Well, if a lovely lady must smoke, I suggest that she shop around a bit and find out where those pink cork-tipped cigarettes are to be bought. And if she doesn't happen to live in New York and can't find them in her neck of the woods, I think 'most any large New York department store would either send them to her or tell her where they could be bought, if she would write to their shopping department.

Pink tips only, otherwise the cigarettes are white. For evening, when that lip rouge does have a way of coming off onto everything, these rosy tips are very chic—because they don't show the rouge. And those "come-off-able" lipsticks look so—o-o-o painty!

* * * *

You don't call lounging pajamas lingerie, but they are rather that. For they are ideal for the house, before, after, or even during luncheon or dinner. And how becoming they are, especially the Chinese ones, with their baggy trousers and vividly colored trimming!

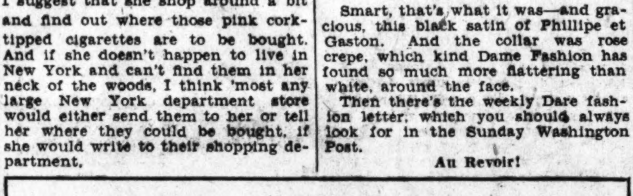
We made a leaflet telling you how to make these, too—send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post

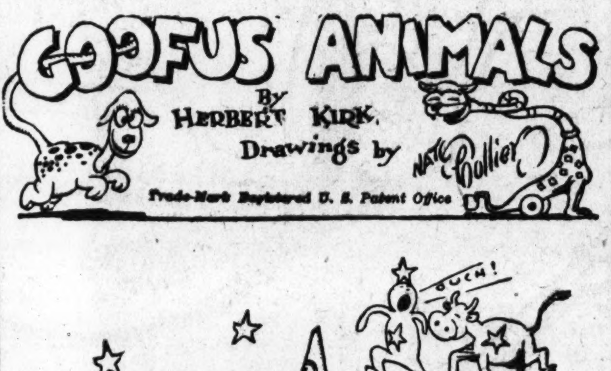
* * * *

Smart, that's what it was—and gracious, this black satin of Phillipe et Gaston. And the collar was rose crepe, which kind Dame Fashion has found so much more flattering than white, around the face.

Then there's the weekly Dare fashion letter, which you should always look for in the Sunday Washington Post.

Au Revoir!





The Goofus Zodiac

The Goofus Astrologer sighed and said:
"I've studied your chart," said she,
"And it's very plain you'll never wed
Or travel by land or sea.
The astrological signs were mixed
The moment you were born;—
Taurus, the Bull, had just got full
And stept on Capri's corn!"
So I turned my back on the Zodiac
Before it was too late,
And I've married and traveled scores of times
To thumb my nose at Fate!

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

PLEASE give me the name of the vine of which I am inclosing a few leaves. C. O. A.

Euonymus vine.

Please tell me how to keep iris from spreading. Also, should healthy plants lose their color as the flowers fade? MISS E. M.

Iris increase quite rapidly. In order to overcome this tendency, the roots should be lifted and divided every three years. All flowers as they become faded and withered lose the brightness of their coloring.

Please tell me why the flowers of my fuchsias persist in falling off. Some of my rambler rosebuds have acted the same way this year. Please tell me how to grow marigolds, also forget-me-nots. MRS. A. K.

Sudden changes of temperature, dryness at the roots or insufficient sun may cause a fuchsia to drop its leaves or flowers. When a rambler rose ceases to unfold its buds it may be due to lack of sun, lack of moisture or poor soil. The African and French marigolds like a light soil with full exposure to the sun. Forget-me-nots require a rich soil and plenty of sun and moisture. These plants are perennial if given slight protection through the winter.

Do nasturtiums require a very rich soil? ANN H. J.

They will grow very well in a moderately rich soil and a well-drained sunny position. Should they be troubled with insects, spray them with any nicotine spray available.

I have some beautiful hydrangea bushes. Some have bright, shiny leaves and some have dull, green leaves. The latter bloom every year the others have not bloomed for several years. Please suggest some treatment that may induce these plants to bloom. LOUISE D. H.

Your bushes are evidently of quite different varieties. The specimens with the shiny leaves are probably French hybrid varieties. These, while they grow quite large, are not really shrubs but rather soft-wooded plants. These plants bloom on wood made the previous season, therefore they should not be pruned in the early spring. Unless you understand this phase of their culture you are apt to remove blooming wood in April, and as a result you will have no flowers in July or August. If you care to write again, inclosing a leaf of each variety, I can tell you whether your plants are French hybrids. Let me suggest that you give the plants some liquid manure at this time and that you keep them well watered.

Will you kindly tell me why jonquils planted on the south side of a house form buds and then blast before opening. Also please tell me when to slip a rambler rose and a spirea bush. MRS. R. C.

The soil conditions may not suit your jonquils. As soon as the leaves upon these bulbs have thoroughly matured you should dig them and plant the larger ones where you wish them to bloom another year. Be sure to choose a sunny spot and incorporate plenty of bonemeal with the soil before setting the bulbs. Plant the smaller bulbs in rows where, after cultivating them for a year, they will no doubt grow larger and eventually produce blooms. Rambler roses may be propagated by cutting the long stems into six or eight inch lengths. During the early fall bury them in moist sand, in either a cool cellar or cold frame, or in any well-drained spot out of doors. In the spring you will find them rooted and ready to be placed in your garden. When making a spirea cutting, take the cutting from wood that is neither too soft and juicy nor too hard and woody. Shoots which are three or five inches long are best. Frequently it is possible to take them with the base of the shoot, or heel, left on. These should be rooted in sand and later transplanted to a permanent place in your garden.

All readers' questions on growing and care of indoor and outdoor flowers and floral decorations for social functions will be answered by Miss Kift, directly in this column if addressed in care of The Washington Post, or directly to readers if a self-addressed stamped envelope is supplied.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"CANCER."

IF July 22 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a. m. to 9:15 a. m., noon to 1 p. m. and 10 p. m. to 11 p. m. The danger periods are from 10:30 a. m. to 11:45 a. m., and 3 p. m. to 5 p. m.

The early morning time will prove to be your own on this date; afterward it will belong to others. Friendship may be permitted to mar your work. A marked time for travel. Petty family quarrels! Pleasant news from a distance!

Children born on this date will have confiding and trustful natures, and will not be self-reliant. They will be amiable, loving and kind, having an abundance of sympathy especially with all dumb animals. They will be apt to be too timid rather than too bold.

A woman born on July 22 very easily may become a modern Martha. One could not imagine you ever neglecting a duty; your services to the world are perfect. There is only one thing which stands between you and the glory you deserve, and that is that you "fuss" over things and persons.

Your ultraunselfishness drives your associates to the opposite end of the pole—selfishness. Your virtues are taken advantage of, and as a result you may become the most excellent odd-job person for those who can use you to their, and not necessarily to your profit and good.

You, whether man or woman, never find time to do the things which secretly you desire to do for yourself. You let your own talents lie dormant, while you help others develop theirs. Occasionally your heart is filled with resentment, and you long to demand your rights, but you never can get away from the desire to serve and to please others. You like being leaned upon. Much useless suffering would be saved you, if you knew the psychology or idiosyncrasies of human nature better, but you never will.

You are naturally religious, and in it you will find much happiness and comfort. Your spiritual development exceeds either your mental or physical. You are a very devoted and loyal friend, and you never at any time can be a "turn coat."

Successful people born July 22:

1—Edward Lloyd, United States senator and representative.
2—Thomas W. Harvey, inventor.
3—John D. G. Shea, historian.
4—Clara Bradley Burdette, clubwoman.
5—Ulysses S. Grant, jr., lawyer and son of President Grant.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

MANY RHEUMATIC DISEASES.

"IN the files of the Mayo Clinic there have been accumulated about 150 different designations for about 30 different species of rheumatic disease," This statement was written by Dr. P. S. Hench for Dental Survey.

Considering only chronic joint troubles, he makes five divisions instead of 150 or even 30. The least important group he calls penescent arthritis. Sixty to 70 per cent of all persons over 50 years of age have rheumatic pains or stiffness of the lower part of the back due to this disorder. Some others have neck pains that belong in this class. In the group are the twists, curves and knobs of the last joint of one or more fingers; the cranky knees, and the painful hips not otherwise accounted for. Some day we may know the reason for this group of minor troubles and then we will not charge them up to age.

His second group covered the traumatic arthritis cases. The most common cause is obesity. The joints of obese people are called on to carry more weight than they are built for. They wear out, as would an overworked inanimate machine. Other illustrations of this group of disorders are: Farmer's back, miner's elbow, golfer's shoulder, nun's knee, baseball fingers and card player's wrist. We see this trouble in "stove up" horses, worn out hunting dogs and old cows. A woman of my acquaintance thinks her son, who has had chronic rheumatoid arthritis since childhood, contracted the disease by drinking milk from a badly "stove up" old family cow. But she is wrong. Next comes chronic chemical arthritis, gout being the leading example of this. This is the only variety of chronic arthritis which is much affected for better or for worse by diet.

Fourth, comes the great group of chronic joint troubles which he terms infective. This group he subdivides into two subgroups. This is the group which starts everybody looking for a focus of infection. The search should include the teeth, tonsils, nose and sinuses, the chest organs, the abdomen and especially the pelvic organs.

Another Mayo Clinic man does not think the nose and nearby sinuses are responsible for many joint troubles. Dr. Hench thinks the teeth the most important of the sites of focal infection. My statement—"especially the pelvic organs"—was written to emphasize a cause which is often not investigated.

SUFFERS FROM HEARTBURN.

M. J. S. writes

1. Is it usual for a person who has been operated on for gallstones to suffer from heartburn?
2. Is it harmful to use baking soda two or three times daily as a remedy?
3. Can heartburn be eliminated entirely?

REPLY.

1. Many do. The operation generally leaves some pathology behind.
2. I think so. It stimulates more heartburn.
3. In many cases it can be, but the job is not an easy one.

NO DANGER TO EARS.

A. B. writes:

1. I have been told that babies fed on lactic acid formula—a scant teaspoonful to a pint of milk—are apt to develop ear trouble and other complications. Is this true, and if so, why?
2. Is it harmful to keep a baby on this until a year old, or would the sweet milk be better?

REPLY.

1. Lactic acid milks have no tendency to cause ear trouble.
2. Keep the baby on lactic acid milk as long as he thrives on it.

INDEX OFF 5 POINTS AS STOCKS TUMBLE

Profit-Taking, Short Selling Wipes Out All of Last Week's Advances.

COMMODITIES HARD HIT

New York, July 21 (A.P.).—Speculative sentiment and the thermometer moved in opposite directions in Wall street today. The former dropped sufficiently to cancel all of last week's gains in stock prices and to send wheat, corn and cotton tumbling. Bonds turned irregular.

Profit taking, followed by aggressive short selling, clipped an average, based on 90 leading issues of 5 points from share quotations compared with last week's advance of 4 9-10. It was the sharpest drop since June 24, when the market struck the year's bottom, and served definite notice that the professional bull operators still had a strong bear group to reckon with.

Most of the selling came in the last half-hour when earlier moderate declines on realizing were extended into net losses of 2 to 6 points in many trading favorites. The volume, however, remained under 2,000,000 shares, although the market was sufficiently active during the bear raid to delay the ticker 7 minutes at the close. Final prices were generally the day's lowest, for there was virtually no covering.

Commodities Are Weak.

The weakness of commodities and the appearance of some unfavorable second quarter earnings statements were disappointing to holders of the long position and the easing tendencies of stocks encountered little resistance, with the result that the shorts had things their own way when their drive was launched.

Wheat closed about 2½ cents a bushel lower, reflecting a disappointing export demand, a large increase in the visible supply, and reports of Canadian rains. Corn was off slightly less on the weakness of Southwestern markets, good rains in Iowa and a bearish Illinois report. Cotton closed off $1.80 to $2.40 a bale in response to liquidation inspired by expectation of better weather. Raw sugar touched a new low.

Today's reaction was not unexpected, for declines are normal after periods of steadily rising prices such as the market has just experienced. Furthermore, despite the increasing belief that July will witness the low of the business depression, bullish activity had been confined to a comparatively small group of professional traders, so that sentiment was by no means universally committed to an upswing.

Business Recovery Awaited.

With last spring's costly lesson still fresh in mind, few, if any, followers of the tape have expressed a desire to see an advance that in all probability could not be followed immediately by constructive developments in business activity. In short, conservative circles would prefer to see the market make haste slowly.

News from the business world was largely in the form of earnings statements. Hudson Motor Car reported second quarter net of 67 cents a share against $1.45 in the first three months. Westinghouse Electric's statement, announced after the close, showed first half net for the common of $8,357,362 against $13,131,380 a year ago and $7,860,754 in the same 1928 period.

On January 1 last the company, together with General Electric, transferred its radio manufacturing business to the Radio Corporation, so that income from that source is now missing from the reports. Procter & Gamble's statement for the fiscal year ended June 30 revealed earnings of $3.37 a share against $2.89 in the previous year.

Chesapeake & Ohio, the largest railroad yet to report for June, disclosed a decrease of about 8 per cent in gross operating income and of about 6 per cent for the six months.

Money Rate Unchanged.

The money markets were comfortable, unchanged from last week's closing. A development of the day in those circles was the extension by the New York Federal Reserve Bank of its 1⅞ per cent bill buying rate to maturities up to 75 days, representing a reduction of ⅛ per cent on 46 to 75 day paper.

The pressure against stocks was well distributed. American Can, Allied Chemical, Air Reduction, New York Central, Eastman Kodak, Westinghouse Electric, and Worthington Pump, among others, lost 5 to 6 points. American Tobacco B, U. S. Steel, Standard Oil of New Jersey, American Telephone, Sears Roebuck, Coca Cola, Radio, Hudson Motors, Studebaker, Atchison, United Aircraft, Radio-Keith-Orpheum, Paramount, and Loew's broke 2 to 4 net. Chesapeake & Ohio yielded 6¾, and J. I. Case 13.

Curb Review

New York, July 21 (A.P.).—Swift reaction in the last half hour of trading on the curb market today climaxed a day of dull trading in which the market appeared ragged and weary. Net losses of 2 to 4 points were numerous among the more popular trading issues. Aluminum Co. in the high priced group, broke 12½.

The reaction was regarded primarily as a technical correction of the market's position after the almost steady advance of the past fortnight. The recent advance had attracted negligible public participation, and the predominantly professional character of today's activity was indicated by a turnover of only 481,900 shares.

Electric bond and share dropped 4 points in active trading, and Duke Power 6, in a few odd lot sales. American Gas and Electric lost nearly 3, and American Superpower, Associated Gas and Niagara Hudson, about a point. Natural Gas issues mostly sagged, although Dixie Gas shot up about 4.

Cities Service, which sold up above 30 last week, closed today at 28, off 1¾ net. Oils generally were under pressure, although losses were mostly small, save in Gulf, off 3, and Cosden, off 2. In the investment and holding company group, United Founders lost 1, Trans-America 2, and Goldman Sachs nearly 3 points, while Intercoast Trading and the Prince and Whitely issues held steady.

Aviation issues were mostly steady, with New York, Rio and Buenos Aires a firm spot, gaining more than a point, but Aviation Corps of the Americas dropped 5 points. Industrials were generally heavy. Deere dropped 4 points, and several of the low-priced issues reached new lows, including Nachman Springfield, Zonite and Hartman Tobacco. The last-named dropped 4½ to 5.

Good-Bye to "Good Buys"
Without a moment's regret, investors of today have cheerfully scrapped the good old grapevine telegraph of finance—which used to whisper to them mystic words about a stock that was a "sure thing buy"—muffled sales talk on giant, undeveloped holdings, a new process that would "make millions" for the company (if it worked)—and all the new fol-de-rol of frenzied investment . . .
Instead, investors the country over are demanding FACTS—proof over a period of years, the bad years as well as the good, that the security they are buying will yield them an unfailing return—despite commodity price changes, market depressions, brokers' loans, and all the other gyrations that affect a Wall Street stock . . .
And that is why so many investors are choosing investments such as the 6% First Mortgage Notes sold through the Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey Company—securities which have proved their steady, unfailing earning power, the unshakable safety of their principal, since the first of these Notes was issued in April, 1869.

BONDS VARY LITTLE AS TURNOVER LAGS

Equity Issues Are Weak as Midsummer Dullness Rules Market.

FOREIGN GROUP ACTIVE

New York, July 21 (A.P.).—The underlying strength of the listed bond market was tested today when midsummer dullness and weakness of equity issues influenced an irregular movement. On the whole the market emerged frome one of the dullest Monday trading sessions of the year with little impairment in the present high level of prices.

Fluctuations followed a narrow groove and few changes of any consequence were listed in prime investment issues at the close. The movement in the domestic section was sluggish and some unsettlement was influenced by the reactionary turn the stock market took, with the customary shading in stock privilege bonds. During most of the day attention veered to foreign bonds, with the principal governments selling close to the peak prices for the year under moderate accumulation.

Call money remained at 2 per cent throughout the day, and rates on time money held stationary. Slackening in activity was attributed to the absence of many traders who extended their week-ends through the day to escape the heat.

Railroad Issues Dull.

Dullness was apparent in the trading in railroad issues. Little important selling cropped out and offerings of standard rails, particularly those legal for savings banks, were meager. The trend was slightly upward. While Atchison 4½s lost 1¼ points, other convertible rails were fairly steady.

Cleveland Union Terminal 5½s of 1972, and Chicago and Eastern Illinois 5s, were the weakest liens, bonds of Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Union Pacific, Pennsylvania, Delaware & Hudson, Denver, Rio Grande & Western, and Baltimore & Ohio were firm and some made good fractional gains.

Wider losses occurred among other classes of convertible and warrant bonds. International Telephone 4½s and Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron 6s lost nearly two points each. Warner Brothers Pictures 6s sagged ½ point and Pathe warrant 7s dropped one point. Loew's 6s moved lower.

Utility Group Advances.

The movement of utility bonds was mostly upward. Chicago Gas Light & Coke 5s, Duquesne Light 4½s, New York Telephone 4½s and Tennessee Electric Power 6s advanced. American Telephone, Consolidated Gas and International Telephone were steady. Utility Power & Light 5s with warrants yielded 1⅜ points. Federal Light & Traction 5s reacted 2.

Among industrials, sugar company bonds were generally depressed as sugar futures reached a new low on the New York Exchange, Certainteed 5½s dropped 3½ points and International Cement 5s, International Paper 5s and U. S. Rubber 5s dropped a point or more.

The irregularity extended to foreign bonds. Government issues were the most active and tended upward. British 5½s sold at the year's high and both Belgian and French issues maintained a firm trend. German bonds were steady. Roumania 7s sagged ¾ of a point, and Italy 7s, Denmark 5½s, Bulgaria 7½s lost about ½ point each. Argentine 6s, Chile 6s and Brazil 6½s were strong. Uruguay 6s eased. Colombia Agriculture Bank 6s rose 6 points. City of Sao Paulo 6½s moved up 3½ points.

Nnited States Governments were quiet with small gains the rule.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET TRANSACTIONS

BOND SALES ON NEW YORK EXCHANGE

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, July 21 (A.P.).—Cotton w lower today under liquidation or reselli by recent buyers who appeared to be i fluenced by hope of a change for the bett in weather conditions in Central a Western belt sections, and relatively ea Liverpool cables.

Prices reached the lowest figures of t day in the late trading when July sold 12.95 and the new December contract 13.12. The close was barely steady at a proximately the lowest prices of the da with the market showing net declines 36 to 48 points.

The opening was steady at a decline 14 to 20 points in response to the we showing of Liverpool and prospects f showers in some Central and Western b sections. The initial offerings were qu readily absorbed by some further coveri or trade buying and the market recover 8 or 10 points of its losses after the pu lication of the official forecast which call for nothing more important than showe on the central gulf coast and in nort ern and northwestern sections of the We ern belt.

Demand failed to broaden on the parti recovery, however, and the market wea ened again during the afternoon when seemed to be influenced by an easi technical position after the advances last week and the declines in grain. T latter were accompanied by private repo of rains in Kansas, which some of t cotton traders evidently thought mig work down into the cotton belt, and t lowest prices of the day were touched the late trading when the new Octob contract sold off to 12.94, or 37 points n lower, and March to 13.34, making a n decline of 39 points.

Reports reaching here from Central b points stated that the crop had reached critical stage in droughty sections and th a continuance of hot dry weather wo cause considerable deterioration. The fee ing among local cotton men, however, a peared to be that rains within the ne few days might correct this situation, a after the covering movement of last wee the market seemed sensitive to selli orders. The latter were attributed large to liquidation on a possibility that th shower outlook might foreshadow adequa relief for the droughty sections.

Liverpool cables said there had bee Bombay and continental selling there o the Egyptian disturbances. Exports to day, 4,445, making 6,780,626 so far th season. Port receipts, 2,897. United State port stocks, 1,583,895.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, July 21 (A.P.).—Wheat value fell quickly today, with wheat arrivin faster than at any previous time th season and with beneficial rains and lowe temperatures widespread.

The market influence of big receipts o wheat in Chicago today, 1,230 cars, wa emphasized by a huge increase of th United States wheat visible supply, 8,394,000 bushels, greatly exceeding that eithe of last week or a year ago. Official estimates were out indicating that stocks o domestic wheat at interior mills and elevators are 27,538,000 bushels in excess o a five-year average.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsteady at about the day's bottom leve, 2¼@2¾ a bushel lower than Saturday' finish. Corn closed 1¾@2⅜ cents dow Oats 1@1¼ cents off, and provisions unchanged to a drop of 12 cents.

At no time did the wheat market today give any evidence of much power t rally. From start to finish, the majority of traders were responsive to th fact that rains and cooler weather both in the United States and Canadian sprin crop areas had gone far to handica friends of higher prices. Then, too, Liverpool quotations, much lower than had bee looked for, added to the influence of enlarged selling here and tended to of the effect of continued European deman for wheat from North America.

The new export business today i United States and Canadian wheat wa estimated at upward of 1,000,000 bushels including 500,000 bushels of hard winte wheat taken for France from the country. Talk was current that Europea continental stocks of wheat are the lowest in many years. There were also un favorable advices received as to th quality of French and Italian crops. O the other hand, better weather fo European wheat was reported today, an acted at times as an influence on th side of lower prices.

Corn prices broke sharply as a result o highly beneficial rains over parts of Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa and Illinois. Som sections of the corn belt, however, continued to send in unfavorable crop comments. Oats eased down owing to sympathy with corn and wheat.

Provisions were also easier, responsiv to downturns in hog values and in cereal as well.

NATS' HURLERS WASTE LEAD, BROWNS WINNING, 6-4

Westbrook Pegler Says

WHEN Al Singer knocked out Sammy Mandell at the Yankee ball orchard, a little skinny pickaninny from Cuba became the real lightweight champion prize fighter of the world, because Kid Chocolate can lick Al Singer, the boy who knocked out Sammy Mandell, and Al Singer is among those who know this.

When the titular prize fight was over, Singer became the nominal champion, and there is no doubt that he will collect considerable money by way of royalties on his title, but the fact still remains that Kid Chocolate beat him some time ago and can do as much again.

Since the prize fighting business was delivered over to the stewardship of a clique of doubtful character some time ago, championships have not mattered much, except for the most formal and perfunctory purposes. If the customers had access to the same information that every metropolitan policeman carries in the lining of his uniform cap, they would understand that the business has become a social adjunct of the more violent callings, such as bootlegging, smuggling and homicide.

The managers of most of the champions and runners-up in all divisions of the industry at the present time are either alumni of prominent correctional institutions or persons on whom the police of the leading cities of the U. S. A. and Europe keep up-to-date dossiers. In a little while the righteous elements of the legislatures will become aware of this and, mustering the forces of the right, will move for the abolition of the racket.

Singer Is Champion For Time Being.

But, for the time being, Al Singer of New York is lightweight champion of the world, the instrument of a group of ambitious young business men, and it may be assumed that his career as champion will be governed more by the motives and convenience of his professional sponsors, acknowledged and clandestine, than by the dictates of sportsmanship.

Singer is not the prize fighter he might seem to be, judged by the fact that he knocked out the lightweight champion of the world. There was no question about his victory over Sammy Mandell. If there were any prearrangements as the populace suspected when prominent habitues of the Broadway delicatessens and night clubs offered as much as 3 to 1 on him, it was not necessary to employ them. The case may have been similar to that of Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey in Philadelphia. Tunney is supposed to have given an extremely sinister character of that community reason to believe that he, the sinister character, would receive 20 per cent of all profits for the duration of his tenure, if he (Tunney) should win. In that instance the sinister character conscientiously made all the arrangements within his power to assure Mr. Tunney's victory, but it turned out that Tunney was the better prize fighter, on his own merits, and the arrangements proved to be redundant and unnecessary. Mr. Tunney, thereupon, repudiated the arrangements.

Mandell No Party to Dealings.

In the Singer-Mandell fight the situation was rather puzzling. Mandell, what there was left of the young man after eleven years of fighting and several weeks of the most burdensome training, was beaten fairly in the ring within one round. He came to his feet and tried to fight back with a show of pluck that brought to mind the valor of bemedaled soldiers, but if he had been a party to any clandestine dealings he certainly would have gone down and out, flopping and thrashing picturesquely on the floor, as one of the subdivisional champions and one of Jack Sharkey's built-up opponents did within recent memory in the Garden ring. Mandell was trying and he was game, but he was also all through and he undoubtedly knew it before he entered the ring.

But Kid Chocolate, a featherweight; Tony Canzoneri, or even Jack Berg, the Englishman, would have beaten Mandell for the championship Thursday night. This Chocolate, a comical little minstrel Negro, still

GALLAGHER BEATEN AGAIN BY LAMAR IN SLOW TEN-ROUNDER

Only 1,000 Fans See Dull Bout Between Capital Heavies.

Gallagher, Outboxed Easily, Loser by Wide Margin.

Special to The Washington Post.

BALTIMORE, July 21.—The third edition of the Henry Lamar-Marty Gallagher prize fights was a slow, uninteresting engagement tonight at Carlin's Park, with Lamar again the winner by a decision at the end of ten rounds.

The fight put no tax on the excitabilities of the mere thousand spectators and its only credit was that it was cleanly fought, which in itself is something of a novelty for heavyweights these days.

There was too much pushing and shoving by the two Washington, D. C., rivals now operating under Boston management. Neither battler was hurt at any time during the battle, but both were shaken up by wallops that were fairly solid.

Gallagher Starts Off Fighting.

Gallagher, always a notriously slow starter who lost a decision to Lamar here last month by allowing the former Western High School star to pile up a big early lead, attempted to make a fight out of it at the opening bell, but Lamar stayed right along with him and the round was the best of the battle.

Again Lamar's left hand which was alwas in Gallagher's face, amassed the winning points for him. He shot the harder punches and again proved to be a vastly better ring general than the slow, cumbersome Marty whose 193 pounds were 15 more than the tall, lean Lamar's.

As the fight progressed, it appeared that Lamar could have won by a wider margin had he plied his gloves more at long range, tactics in which he far outshone his big and slower opponent.

Al Martin won the semifinal test of six rounds against Joe Bruno. This clash was the best on the card. It was a fair preliminary fight. There was plenty of action but most of it was futile

In the preceding six-round Anglo Meola, looking nothing like the battler he did when an amateur, lost the decision to Pete De Angelis.

In the opener Jimmy Tromberia won the decision over Harry Kid Groves.

Mrs. Brand Winner In Beaver Dam Golf

The tournament at the Beaver Dam Club yesterday under the auspices of the Women's District Golf Association was won by Mrs. Harrison Brand, jr., of the Chevy Chase Club, with a score of 93.

Mrs. Brand also won the low net prize with a card of 93—8—85. Second low gross was won by Mrs. B. C. Hartig, Manor Club, who also took second low net with 98—12—86. Mrs. H. A. Knox, Congressional; Mrs. Frank R. Keefer, Chevy Chase, and Mrs. Middleton Beaman, Bannockburn, tied for third low net with 97. Mrs. Ora Enge, Beaver Dam, was fourth with 99.

American Track Stars Defeated in Stockholm

Stockholm, July 21 (A.P.).—Two of Americas' barnstorming track and field athletes met defeat on the second day of a three-day international meet here today.

C. Pendleton, of the United States, finished third to the German sprinters, H. Koerning and Erwin Gillmeister, in the 200-meter dash. The time was 21 7-10 seconds.

In the 120-yard high hurdles, Sten Petersson, of Sweden, defeated Steve Anderson, of the University of Washington, in a close finish, with E. Sjoestedt, of Finland, third.

Shamrock V Sailing Now on Open Seas

Falmouth, England, July 21 (A.P.). Shamrock V, Sir Thomas Lipton's fifth and probable final hope of recapturing the America's Cup, today embarked on her great adventure in American waters.

The challenger, proud and beautiful despite the cropping of her mast to meet rugged weather conditions during her voyage of approximately a month, passed the lizard, outermost point of her path, at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon and shaped her course for the open sea.

In the fresh northwesterly wind she made good time All on board were reported well.

The Shamrock V slipped out of Brixham, Devon, soon after dawn to resume the voyage which storms had delayed on Saturday.

Primo and Manager Ordered Out of U. S. By Immigration Chief

OMAHA, Nebr., July 21 (A.P.). Primo Carnera, Italian boxer, and his French manager, Leon See, have been ordered by Washington immigration officials to vacate American shores immediately, Frank Paccassi, business manager for the pair, stated here today.

Paccassi revealed the contents of a telegram forwarded here to See and Carnera from Byron H. Uhl, assistant commissioner of Ellis Island, N. Y., informing the pair that immigration officials had denied their request for a six months' extension of their legal stay in the United States, which terminated recently.

Carnera and his manager, he said, applied for the extension while here last week for the Carnera-Bearcat Wright fight. They were confident of obtaining the time extension on their American stay, Paccassi said.

Lisenbee's Pitching Stops White Sox, 3-1

Chicago, July 21 (A.P.).—Boston broke up the three-game winning streak of the White Sox today, winning the final game of the series, 3 to 1, behind Horace Lisenbee's fine pitching.

Lisenbee restricted the Sox to five hits, three by Carl Reynolds, and one each by Smead Jolley and Greg Mulleavy. Al Thomas was almost as good, holding the Red Sox to six hits, three of which, however, were bunched in the sixth for two runs. The game was the fastest of the season at Comiskey Park, requiring only 1 hour 24 minutes.

Southern Hits Homer In Phils' 7-2 Victory

Philadelphia, July 21 (A.P.).—Clever pitching by Lester Sweetland today enabled the Phils to take in the Pirates 7 to 2 in the first game of the local series.

The Shottonmen hampered Kremer for three runs in the first and added four more in the fifth to complete their triumph.

Two home runs, one by Southern and another by Whitney with O'Doul on base, gave the Phils their first trio of tallies. A base on balls for Sweetland, singles by O'Doul and Hurst, a double by Klein and a triple by Whitney accounted for the final quartet of counters. Traynor's double after singles by Grantham and Comorsky accounted for the Pittsburgh markers.

CUBS ON TOP AS DODGERS DIVIDE

Wilson's 2 Homers Aid as Giants Are Defeated, 6-0.

NEW YORK, July 21 (A.P.).—Hack Wilson's big bat, coupled with Pat Malone's steady pitching, gave the Chicago Cubs a 6-to-0 decision over the New York Giants today. It was the second shutout handed the Giants this year, the other being by Dazzy Vance, of the Robins.

By their victory, the Cubs wrested the league lead from the Robins, who split a double-header with the Cards.

Wilson poled out his twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth home runs of the season off Tiny Chaplin, the Texan, in the fourth and sixth innings, while Malone held the Giants to eight hits and did not issue a base on balls during the eight innings he worked. He retired in the eighth because of the intense heat and Charlie Root finished the game.

Eddie Farrell also hit a homer for the Cubs, which, coupled with the two by Wilson, scored five runs. Parmalee, who relieved Chaplin at the start of the eighth, forced the sixth run across the plate with three consecutive base on balls, preceded by a single.

3 Holy Cross Stars Playing in Majors

Three members of the Holy Cross College Nine, outstanding collegiate baseball team in the country the past spring, are now cavorting in the American League. Desautels, catcher, and Shevlin, first baseman, are performing with Detroit, and Ryan, third baseman, is playing with Chicago. Desautels, since his signing with the Tigers, has done most of the backstopping for Bucky Harris' club.

TIGERS DOWN MACKS IN 9TH, 7-6

Gehringer Is Batting Star; Earnshaw Is Victim.

DETROIT, July 21 (A.P.).—The Tigers slugged out a 7-to-6 victory over the world's champion Athletics today, getting eleven hits off George Earnshaw, seven of which were good for extra bases.

Charlie Gehringer tripled with Johnson on base in the fifth inning and then stole home. His double in the ninth frame started the rally which won the game. Earl Whitehill went the route for Detroit, although allowing 10 hits. Two Detroit errors helped the Athletics score three of their runs. Johnson, Koenig and Dykes also hit triples.

Tigers Pet Victims Of Macks.

The Tigers had been one of the pet victims of the Athletics this season, having won previous to today, only three of the thirteen games played between the two clubs. The defeat lost the champions the opportunity to gain a full game on the second place Washington club, which took a beating at St. Louis. Four games is still the first place margin of the champions.

IN THE WAKE OF THE GAME

Special to The Washington Post.

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, St. Louis, July 21.—Loepp opened the game with a drive which almost tore off Stewart's glove, getting credit for a single. It did no good, however, for the hit and run was ordered instead of the sacrifice, and Rice grounded into a double play.

Kress went all the way to short left to make a fine over-the-shoulder catch of Cronin's near Texas leaguer.

Cronin went back to the edge of the grass to take Hale's roller and threw him out at first in the home opener. It was quite a play.

Judge's homer in the second inning was his third in as many days. Oddly enough, Judge, supposed to be handicapped against southpaw pitching, has cracked out six of his eight 1930 round trippers against left-handers.

Spencer ran as if he had a man on his back opening the third. Otherwise he would have beaten out his tap which Melillo took directly back of the middle sack.

Bluege made a fine stop of Kress' hard-hit hopper ending the Browns' third with two on. He knocked down the ball and then recovered it quickly to make the killing at first.

Hadley walked a man an inning in the first three, Goslin drawing two of these passes.

Badgro came in fast to make a fine catch of Judge's foul fly. He was in no position to throw, however, so Cronin, on second, and Harris, on first, both advanced after the catch, making this pop go in the records as a sacrifice fly.

Cronin went to short center to snare Ferrell's pop fly opening the native fourth.

Hadley fanned Badgro and Stewart, the first two to face him, opening the alien fifth.

Bluege sent Schulte all the way to the base of the stands in left center for a hard hit liner in the sixth which looked like at least a triple as the ball left his bat.

Goslin's homer, his seventeenth of the season and within one of his 1929 record, was only the second hit of the game made off of Hadley's delivery. It was a real clout—all the way over the stands in right center.

Never has the Washington Club

ington on the Browns' last visit there, but Judge met a fast one squarely on the nose in the second for a homer to the roof of the stands in right and this small lead was maintained until the fifth, when the Johnsons became two up.

Stewart in Trouble In Fifth.

The St. Louis southpaw ace was in real trouble in the fifth, for Spencer opened with a single, Hadley doubled him to second and Loepp walked to fill the bases. One run was scored on Rice's scratch safety past McNeely, while Cronin's sacrifice fly was deep enough to give Hadley plenty of time to score after the catch.

In the sixth, the Nats added another run to their total, this resulting from Myer's single and theft and Spencer's double to left center. While all this was going on, Hadley was mowing down the Browns in rapid order in the first five frames. He held them to but a single hit, while the three passes he issued were put to no good use.

The heat began to show its effects on Hadley starting the home sixth, however, and his downfall came so quickly that Manager Johnson was not prepared for it. After Hale coaxed an opening pass and Goslin scored him with his homer, Hadley also Walked Kress. Brown was rushed into action at this stage, but was not properly warmed up and he showed it by immediately filling the bases by walking Ferrell and Schulte and two balls were called on Melillo when Liska came to the rescue.

Heat Affects Nats' Defense.

It was just about here that the heat seemed to affect some of the other members of the Washington cast. Melillo lined one to right which Rice misjudged and this drive, which should have been only a sacrifice fly, went as a double and scored two. Then, with a chance to make a double play, Cronin fumbled Badgro's roller, although he nailed one man while another was scoring. There was no more scoring, but the Nats suddenly found themselves trailing with only two hits needed to give the Browns their five runs.

This rally seemed to take all of the joy out of the Nats' lives, for they did not even come close to threatening in the seventh and eighth, while they presented the Browns with another marker after two were dead in the "stretch" session. Then Farrell and Schulte singled, Liska filled the bases by walking Melillo, and when Badgro was hit, the St. Louis catcher was forced over.

With two gone in the ninth, Rice doubled to center but as was the case yesterday, Goslin ended the game by making a one-hand catch of Cronin's liner, which appeared to be good for at least two bases.

Manush, Eager to Play, Restrained by Trainer

St. Louis, July 21.—Outfielder Heinie Manush's injured leg is improving in leaps and bounds and the big fly-chaser announced this morning that he would play in this afternoon's game. He did not play, however, because Trainer Mike Martin overruled him just about the time Manager Walter Johnson was on the verge of yielding to Manush's plea.

That Manush believes that he is about ready to perform is the best news to percolate from the Nats' camp since he was injured in Boston on July 9. There is no question but that he is the spark plug of the Washington diamond machine and the Nats started slumping on the day that Heinie was hurt following a most

TILDEN AGAIN STANDS AS CHIEF U. S. DAVIS CUP HOPE

Injured Ankle Causes Fear For Star

Hurt Suffered During Practice But "Big Bill" Will Play.

French Only Mildly Surprised by Turn of Events.

PARIS, July 21 (A.P.).—After eleven years, Big Bill Tilden stands tonight as the brightest single hope the United States has to regain the Davis Cup from the French in the challenge round opening here Friday.

After surmounting the difficulties that arose through his writings for an American newspaper syndicate, the Davis Cup committee named Big Bill to the No. 1 role in the singles play only to have Tilden, who accepted "despite my better judgment," turn an ankle this afternoon in practice. Late this evening, however, doctors decided after consultation that America's premier player would be fit for the opening of the series.

"In 1919, with Bill Johnston, I went to Australia and brought back the Davis Cup," Big Bill said as soon as the doctors' verdict was announced. "It is my fondest hope to bring it back to the United States after eleven years and then, believe me, some one else can defend it. I am through."

Ankle Is Turned During Practice.

Early in the day official notice came from New York that America's No. 1 ranking player for the past ten years had been selected for the task of regaining the cup he helped win in the first place. That settled the issue for a few hours.

Then later in the afternoon, while practicing with Karel Kozeluh, Czech professional, Tilden turned his ankle, limped away to a waiting automobile, and the big question mark in world tennis was again unanswered. Tonight Big Bill's name was on the list of player supplied by Team Capt. Fitz Eugene Dixon to the French Tennis Federation as one of the members of the team and doctors and masseurs worked over the ankle that just now was drawing more attention than any other limb in the world.

The first diagnosis of the injury was that it was slight and that Tilden would be able to play in the opening matches Friday.

French Only Mildly Surprised.

The announcement that Tilden had been elected to the team after his vigorous statements that he would not play because of his contract with an American newspaper syndicate came only as a mild surprise to the French tennis public, which had been expecting it for several days. Later, when the faithfuls watching practice at the Roland Garros Stadium saw Tilden go after a high lob from Kozeluh's racquet, slip, fall, and writhe in pain, they were more skeptical.

Some unkind souls among the French fans went so far as to say that Tilden, after winning his victory in the committee room and having selection to the team presented to him on a silver platter by the United States Lawn Tennis Association, would weep no bitter tears if prevented by accident from trying conclusions on the courts again with his old Nemesis, Henri Cochet.

Tilden Genuinely Distressed.

The Associated Press correspondent accompanied Tilden from the courts to the waiting automobile and he can vouch for the fact that Big Bill's ankle was swollen. Great beads of perspiration stood out on his forehead and he seemed genuinely distressed. He minimized the possibility that he would be unable to play and insisted that he would be able to resume practice Wednesday.

In the meantime the team as presented to the French stands as Tilden, George Lott, Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, although the French insist that word be given them definitely by midnight whether or not Tilden will play. France will pin its faith for the cup defense on Cochet, their ace, Jean Borotra, Jacques Brugnon and Christian Boussus.

—Arlington Park Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS

THE Oregon Purse at Arlington Park, $1,600 added, attracts DR. FREELAND, BOBASHELA, LATIVICH and other of the handicap division over the distance of seven furlongs. The same criticism comes from Arlington Park patrons that has been made at other tracks over the country, about the inconsistency of horses, and unless a move is made to surround trainers and jockeys with new and stringent regulations, racing in this country soon will become a racket and lose all semblance of sport. Horses win one day and next day are last.

The horse LATIVICH in this race is one of the outstanding form acrobats in training, but a very good horse. This distance is not far enough for either DR. FREELAND nor BOBASHELA, but DR. FREELAND stands out so far in class over the others that he must be selected to win, but it is really believed if LATIVICH were to run one of his best races, he could beat these two at a sprint route. BOBASHELA is a very consistent horse, but purely a mudder, but probably will be the contender. LATIVICH is rated next by making allowance for a form flop. Any one of these three outclasses the others.

FIRST RACE—MISS ROSEDALE probably will win the first race, a sprint. She has within the week beaten a stronger field. PANCHIO might wake up. He is a fast horse, but his recent form has been off. SHIFT should close the door to the others.

SECOND RACE—The steeplechase has a small field. AUTUMN BELLS stands out as far as a horse could and can have no excuse if he fails to win. OLD IRISH JIG is the contender, which is not saying much for the others, with FOUR COURTS next.

THIRD RACE—MR. DELUXE is selected for the third race. His Eastern form indicates he can win this race. WHO WIN is a good brush horse, and may place over LAWYER, and the last-named will be well backed, for many still labor under the delusion that LAWYER is a horse.

FOURTH RACE—A good field of 2-year-olds starts in the fourth race. There are few better, outside of the big ones, than E. R. Bradley's B'AR HUNTER, which won at the first asking at Belmont Park and carried her speed to her Western engagements. PITTSBURGHER is speedy and may make it a close race. OUTBOUND should hold the others safe.

SIXTH RACE—CORAL BEACH is the pick in the sixth, and will have BLIND LOVE to beat. PORTMANTEAU and also SUPRYSE have a turn of speed, and they are overdue. CORAL BEACH seems like the solid horse of the field and will be well backed.

SEVENTH RACE—JACK CRAIN seems in an easy spot in the seventh race. He is on edge and ready to continue his winning form. HERENDEEN should beat the others. CLOVER CLUB or JACK HASKELL for the short end of the purse. JACK CRAIN beat a much better field than this last week.

EIGHTH RACE—FRIEDJOF NANSEN, one of the most consistent platers in training, ought to take the purse in the eighth race. MASTER ACE will be close up, and may be more dangerous than rated. COMET won the other day and will figure in this race, but could not be expected to beat these after struggling so long to beat worse ones.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SEGURO, $19.16, $7.90, $4.44; DECOROUS, $6.88, $3.86; BROWN HILLS, $2.94.

SEGURO began fast, moved up fast entering stretch and, in long, hard final drive, outfinished DECOROUS. DECOROUS had early speed, but tired badly after being straightened in stretch. BROWN HILLS, shuffled back at start, worked way up, closing big gap at end. TANTALIZING had good speed and held on well. ROSE VOLT lacked speed and showed dull effort. ENTICE was outrun.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:44. Off at 2:45. Winner, F. F. Brant's b. g. (6), by Whisk Broom II—Sun Glow II. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $1,050; second, $250; third, $150; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23, 0:46, 1:11.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—GRACIOUS GIFT, $8.52, $4.24, $2.78; FRENCH LASS, $3.20, $2.38; HOT SHOT, $2.42.

GRACIOUS GIFT, suddenly improved, got away in full stride, was allowed to work way up on outside and, coming with a great rush in stretch, wore down FRENCH LASS and won going away. FRENCH LASS had best early speed, repulsed challenges from HOT SHOT and MORSUN, but tired at end. HOT SHOT was on the inside, held on strongly at end. MORSUN raced well, had early speed, but faltered in final issue.

THIRD RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 2-year-olds. Start bad. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:15. Off at 3:23. Winner, Estate of I. E. Clark's ch. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—VALEDICTORY, $33.78, $15.18, $8.38; FLYING CHEROKEE, $23.24, $12.24; WEE DROP, $5.18.

VALEDICTORY, on outside, closed fast under good riding, wore down WEE DROP inside last seventy yards while holding FLYING CHEROKEE safe. FLYING CHEROKEE began gaining strongly in the final quarter, reached leaders at last furlong and fought it out with winner. WEE DROP had most early speed, drew clear entering stretch, but tired under pressure. SISTER MARY was immediately taken up at first turn, but colsed fast. WATER PORT also closed good gap. OVER SHADY showed speed for first half, then tired. MYNHER unseated rider at post, then ran away about a mile and a half.

FOURTH RACE—One mile. Purse, $2,000; allowances. The Lakeville. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:50. Off at 3:50. Winner, E. B. McLean's br. h. (6), by Colin—Kathleen. Trained by J. F. Schorr. Value to winner, $1,400; second, $350; third, $175; fourth, $75. Time, 0:24, 0:47, 1:12 2-5, 1:37 1-5.

MILTON MOORE	95	4	7	7	7	7	7	7	Depeso	101.81

Two-dollar mutuels paid—JOCK, $5.74, $3.82, $2.76; HOT TODDY, $3.06, $2.44; CANAAN, $4.56.

JOCK, favored by a light impost and well handled, made all his own pace, shook off CANTANKEROUS entering stretch, drew clear, but weakening under pressure in the final sixteenth, barely lasted. HOT TODDY, rated along under restraint close up, came with a rush through final furlong, overhauling the leaders, finished strongly and just missed catching JOCK in final strides. CANAAN, always forwardly inside, saved much ground and held on well. CANTANKEROUS had good speed to stretch before tiring and showed good effort.

FIFTH RACE—One mile. Purse, $1,800; allowances. The Fox River. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:17. Off at 4:17½. Winner, E. K. Bryson's ch. c., by Lucky Hour—Moment. Trained by G. R. Bryson. Value to winner, $1,300; second, $300; third, $150; fourth, $50. Time, 0:25 1-5, 0:46 1-5, 1:12, 1:38.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—JIMMY MORAN, $16.46, $7.42, $5.00; FORTUNATE YOUTH, $4.74, $3.64; UNCLE LUTHER, $3.42.

JIMMY MORAN, going in best form, was hustled to the front at far turn, took lead from FLYER and, continuing much the best, held sway to the end. FORTUNATE YOUTH was saved first half, moved up with rush entering stretch, was easily second, but could not menace winner. UNCLE LUTHER closed a gap in the stretch, making a good finish. FLYER tired badly, as did OUTER HARBOR. JEANNE WACHS, racing among the leaders reaching end first furlong, tripped and fell.

SIXTH RACE—One mile. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:47. Off at 4:49. Winner, E. J. Lehmann's br. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—SUITOR, $4.78, $3.18, $2.36; SEARINGTON, $5.34, $3.40; PLUMBAGO, $3.16.

SUITOR, prominent all the way, was gaining on PLUMBAGO gradually in first three-quarters and, making strong bid entering stretch, wore him down and won easily. SEARINGTON, saved for first six furlongs, closed fast on inside in final quarter and easily outfinished PLUMBAGO. Latter showed most speed, set pace to stretch, but tired thereafter. VESTA had brief early speed. LOW GEAR was unable to raise a respectable gallop in early part and showed poor effort throughout.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-quarter miles. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:17. Off at 5:22. Winner, E. J. Rollins' blk. g. * Field.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—ROCK HAWK, $14.82, $6.12, $4.42; FADDY, $3.64, $3.00; TAMINA, $4.28.

ROCK HAWK, seemingly in best form and much the best, overhauled SON OF VOLTA after going half the trip and, drawing away strongly, won as rider pleased. FADDY worked way up on outside, came fast in the stretch and held others safe. TAMINA, reserved first six furlongs, made up ground and closed going well. SANDY SHORE made wide turn into home stretch. PRINCE TII TII weakened in late stages. MAIN ROCK had speed first three quarters.

JOCK SCORES BY NOSE AT ARLINGTON

Staves Off Hot Toddy Under Good Ride by Steffen.

CHICAGO, July 21 (A.P.).—E. B. McLean's 6-year-old bay horse Jock, by Colin—Kathleen, was the winner of the Lake Ville Purse, the featured number on today's program at Arlington Park. It was his first win this year. Hot Toddy, from K. E. Hitt's Stable, was second, and Canaan, from the Le Mar Stock Farm, was third. Seven horses started.

The event was an allowance affair for 3-year-olds and up over the mile, out of the chute, and was negotiated in 1:37 1-5. It carried a net value of $1,400 to the winner which paid $5.74 for $2 in the mutuels.

With but 105 pounds in the saddle under a good ride by E. Steffens, Jock was allowed to set his own pace. Entering the stretch, the son of Colin shook off Cantankerous, which had been clinging to him from the start, and drew in the stretch run but was hard pressed by Hot Toddy in the final drive and was doing his best to win by a nose. Hot Toddy was easily second by three lengths, with Canaan, which ran evenly throughout, third by a length and a half over Cantankerous.

Boom, Uncommon Gold and Milton Moore finished in the order named.

Rumor Wins On Poor Empire Card.

Empire City Race Track, July 21 (A.P.).—The poorest program of the local season was offered the racegoers here today and the attendance was cut down to the regulars. The track was fast, but slow time was recorded in the different events due to the inferior horses that competed.

There was no feature, but chief interest centered in the running of the fourth race, a sprint over the short 6-furlong route. It was won by the well-played good thing, Rumor, with Oncora second and Sturdy third. Grey Watch led the field for the first 3 furlongs, then Fields rushed Rumor into the lead to win in a drive by a neck.

Typhoon Repeats At Latonia.

Latonia, Ky., July 21 (A.P.).—The Harned Brothers' consistent racer, Typhoon, a two-time winner at this meeting, added another race to his belt today by winning the Tusculum Heights Handicap, a gallop of a mile and an eighth, the fifth on the card this afternoon. Royal Julian ran to the place while Ben Machree showed. The distance was covered in 1:58 flat and Typhoon paid off at the short odds of $4.14 for $2.

Typhoon was the first to show in front at the start and made every post a winning one, getting the decision from Royal Julian by two lengths. Royal Julian followed Typhoon closely throughout, but did not threaten the Harned colt. Ben Machree was slow to find her racing legs, but when the small field of four straightened out for the run to the wire she outdistanced Bell Smith, the other starter, for the show.

SEEDED PAIRS ADVANCE IN PUBLIC PARKS DOUBLES

Mitchell and Considine in Easy Win

Shoeemaker, O'Neill Defeat Dyas and Ehlslager.

Boyd Provides Mild Upset by Beating Wallenstein.

BOB CONSIDINE and Dooly Mitchell, first and second seeded players in the singles, yesterday began to justify the judgment of the ranking committee which placed them first in the doubles of the current championship public parks tennis tournament.

In their first round match, these two, paired especially for this tournament, registered a 6—1, 6—1, victory over Mariano Erana and Caesar Carballo. The Filipino duo managed to take two games on service during the course of the match but even so were sadly outclassed.

The second seeded pair, Maurice O'Neill and George Shoemaker, the playing through champions, also advanced by defeating Douglas Dyas and Adam Ehlslager, 6—2, 6—0.

Considine-Mitchell Experiment.

So soft was the opposition offered by Erana and Carballo that Considine and Mitchell played experimental shots with almost complete success. Varying from speedy drives to delicate drop shots, the winning pair steadily piled up their points.

The committee ranked the other seeded teams as follows: Bill Seidell and Pat Deck, No. 3; Frank Shore and Anthony Latona, No. 4; Bud Markey and Edgar Yeomans, No. 5; Alan Staubly and Douglas Love, No. 6; Eugene Herman and Hugh Trigg, No. 7. and Lieut. David D. Hedgekin and Lieut. Stanley K. Robinson, of the Army Leech Cup Team, No. 8.

In the third round of singles, a mild upset was turned in when Robert Boyd defeated Sidney Wallenstein, 6—3, 6—4. Hugh Trigg, seeded eighth in this division, had trouble disposing of Charles Sperry but finally captured the verdict, 0—6, 6—2, 6—3.

Frank Shore, District junior champion, seeded seventh, conquered Richard Edge, 6—2, 6—4, and paired with Anthony Latona in the daubles, divided two sets with Bill Buchanan and Clyde Yeomans before darkness intervened.

This afternoon on the Monument courts the best singles matches to date are anticipated. Shore will meet O'Neill, seeded third, in the singles, and this duel must eliminate one of the eight favorites. In another singles contest, Dooley Mitchell will engage his former doubles partner, Bill Buchanan.

Following are yesterday's results and today's pairings:

SINGLES.
THIRD ROUND.

Hugh Trigg defeated Charles Sperry, 0—6, 6—2, 6—3; Robert Boyd defeated Sidney Wallenstein, 6—3, 6—4; Bernard Welsh, jr., defeated Albert E. Yeatman, 6—4, 6—4; Frank Shore defeated Richard Edge, 6—2, 6—4; Clay Coss defeated William C. Bradley, 1—6, 6—1, 6—4.

DOUBLES.

been as liberal with its passes as were its flingers in the alien sixth, no less than five being issued, two each by Hadley and Brown and one by Liska.

Schulte came in fast to make a fine catch of Harris' short fly ending the Nats' seventh. Had he failed, Cronin would have been over with the run needed to knot the string at 5-all.

Bluege made a pretty overhead catch of Goslin's tap deep down the left field line opening the St. Louis seventh.

Liska walked Melillo to fill the bases in the seventh. Then he hit Badgro, to force in a run. All of the Browns base activity came with two out.

With two out in the eighth, Stewart walked Bluege on four successive wide ones. This merely extended the playing time, however, for Spencer's best was a looper to right.

ALEXANDRIA SPORTS

ALEXANDRIA, July 21.—Fourteen players, Athletic Director Wilson and Manager Moriarity, of the Alexandria American Legion Juniors, baseball champions of Alexandria, left this city today for the State Legion baseball tourney in Richmond.

The Alexandria Tossers will mix with Charlottesville Legion Team in a first round game tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. This contest will be played in the Richmond Municipal Stadium. Other teams in the series are from Danville, Norfolk, Portsmouth and Newport News. If the Alexandria club wins it will represent the State Legion organization in the national tournament.

Players who made the trip were Capt. Jimmy Bruin, Charlie Nicholson, Jack Hudson, Charlie Fletcher, Woodrow Godfrey, George Baber, Charles Clift, Bill Backus, Tom Foltz, Frank Backus, Paul Humphreys and Everett Clark. Most of the boys played on the high school baseball team this past season.

City Manager Lawrence of Alexandria, representatives of the local legion post and parents of the youngsters are expected to attend Tuesday's game. The winner of this series will play in the quarter finals in Charlottesville against teams from three Southern States.

Director J. Prex Wilson, of the Municipal Recreation Department, has set Saturday, July 26, as the deadline for all persons to enter the municipal tennis tournament. Two classes, one for girls and the other for boys, will be held in the net matches.

It was announced today by recreation department officials that handsome prizes would be awarded to the winners. Joe Duncan won the men's championship last year. He is a former St. Joseph's College net star.

Alexandria has two girls' baseball teams and they engaged in their first game this morning. The Washington Street Playground girls, coached by Miss Inez Farner and Mrs. Virginia Wade Ryder, defeated the High School Girls' Team, 11-7. Miss Helen Mitchell starred for the winners.

Gillie Lee, former star baseball player with the old Dreadnaught Athletic Club, is playing and assisting with the coaching of the Columbia Firefighters Nine. Lee played third base and in the outfield for the Big D's. He has a reputation as a deadly hitter.

Bill Moncure, University of Virginia star football player, is umpiring games and also an instructor in swimming at the Alexandria municipal swimming pool during his summer vacation period. Moncure will return to the University of Virginia on September 1 for fall grid practice.

"Teddy" Sutherland, former star baseball player with Engine Company No. 5 in this city, has been signed by Manager Bernard De Vaughan to perform with the Cardinal A. C. for the remainder of the campaign.

Sylvester A. Breen is president of the Cardinals. This club is reputed to be the oldest sand-lot baseball organization in America. The Cards are now in a hot fight for amateur baseball honors in Northern Virginia.

First round results in the Alexandria Mupnicipal department horseshoe tourney follow: W. H. Duty defeated Frank Purvis, 21—14; B. E. Edicott won from Ben Baggett, 21—4; A. P. Haynes copped from Jack Elliot, 21—15; G. Moore beat H. Foltz, 21—8.

In the second round match, Haynes with a ringer on his last toss, defeated G. Moore, 21—19. Bill Moncure refereed the matches.

It was stated by officials of the Municipal Recreation Department that Thursday, July 24 is the final day for first round matches.

The Alexandria White Sox is the latest baseball club to organize here. It will meet leading teams each week. "Booty" Huff, radio entertainer, is a pitcher for the new club.

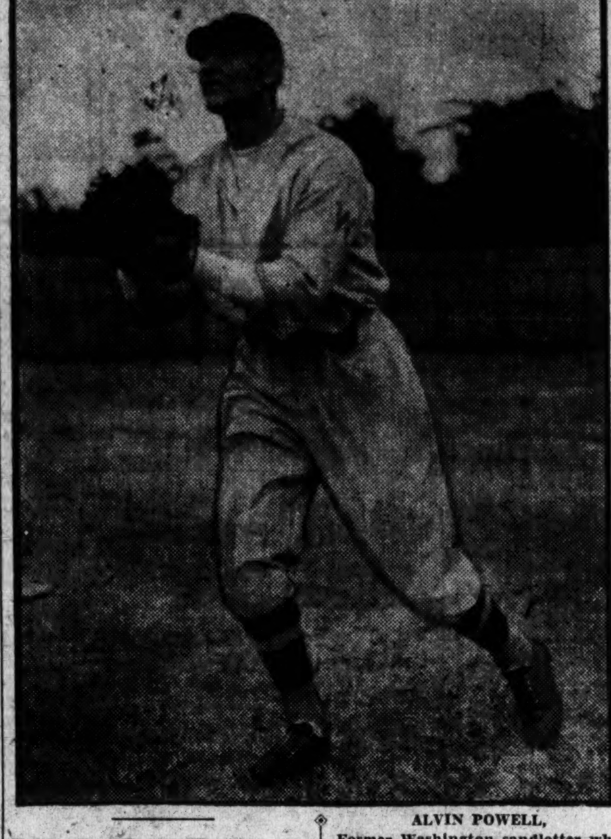
Powell Led Eastern League Batters With .371 Average



ALVIN POWELL,
Former Washington sandlotter who led the Eastern League batters with an average of .371, according to the official averages, before his New Haven Club and three other teams dropped from the circuit last week.

District Boy, Property of Nats, Awaiting New Position.

Special to The Washington Post.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 21.—Alvin (Jake) Powell, Washington sandlot graduate, was tonight disclosed by the official averages as the leading batsman of the Eastern League before four clubs withdrew. He batted for .371 in 83 games and was the leading base runner of the New Haven Nine. During the past month he bunted safely 20 times.

Powell, who is playing his first season of professional baseball, is the property of the Washington Baseball Club and when his team disbanded was ordered here to keep himself in condition and await assignment to another minor league club.

The 19-year-old outfielder was a member of the Takoma Tigers and the Silver Spring Giants last year and attracted the attention of President Griffith, who signed him.

At Biloxi this spring, Powell made an excellent impression from the start. He played in several exhibition games, making several long hits including home runs. It was thought for a time that he would be retained by the Nats, but Manager Johnson decided that regular work in the minors would benefit the youngster more than a utility berth here.

Powell was given a short trial with the Chattanooga Club, but it was not until his transfer to New Haven in the Eastern League that he hit his true stride.

Powell returned to his old haunts last Sunday when he took part in a double-header, playing with the Silver Spring Giants.

Ruth Hammers 35th In Defeat of Indians

Cleveland, July 21 (A.P.).—Edwin Wells won his eighth game of the year, Babe Ruth cracked out his 35th home run and Gehrig and Rice added circuit drives as the Yankees defeated Cleveland, 7 to 3, today.

Ruth's over-the-fence drive came in the third with a teammate on base and Miller on the mound, while Rice connected in the sixth while Miller was still pitching. Gehrig found the range against Belve Bean in the eighth for his 28th homer of the season.

Wells had the Indians at his mercy with the exception of Hodapp, who connected safely four out of five times he stepped to the plate. Miller fanned Ruth and Gehrig each twice.

naive enough to swell about the second stratum of the social set of Harlem in suits, shirts and neckties of hysterical cut and hue, is undoubtedly the best prize fighter, pound for pound, in the business at the present time. If he were a heavyweight, neither Sharkey nor Schmeling would lay a glove on him, and he would have Carnera and Campolo diving through the ropes with the impetus of their misspent lunges.

Singer's Chin Sensitive.

Singer bars him because he is a featherweight, a strange objection, considering that the weights were divided to protect the lighter men. But then Singer is not to be reproached for anything that happens during his regime as lightweight champion. The boy has a sensitive chin. Ignacio Fernandez, the Filipino, frightened him off with periodical right-hand swipes that didn't even graze him in a ten-round fight a few weeks ago, and Kid Chocolate outscampered him, eluding the same punches that put Mandell down. Singer has improved since then, no doubt, but Chocolate has improved still more, and in a return fight, if Singer's directors would accept a return fight and the boys would waive all arrangements, Chocolate would win the lightweight championship without ever having held the featherweight title.

This article may disclose a faint vein of cynicism as to the prize-fighting industry, but, as I suggest, the records of many prominent managers and submanagers nowadays disclose terms of criminal servitude, and if one suspects the worst, one can't go far wrong very often.

Robins and Cards Divide 2 Slugfests

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 21 (A.P.).—The Brooklyn Robins relinquished the National league leadership to the Chicago Cubs today, dividing a double header with the Cards while the Bruins were taking a single contest from the New York Giants.

The first contest went to the Robins, 9 to 8, but the Cards came back in the second to win a 17 to 10 slugfest, wth five home runs rattling off the warclubs of the batters. The opener turned into a home run contest. Circuit drives by Mancuso, Frisch, Bottomley, and Puccinelli scored all of the Cards' runs, but they proved worthless when Harvey Hendrick poled out a pinch hit home run in the ninth with two on base and won the game.

Frisch added another four-bagger in the second game while Lee contributed one to the Brooklyn cause.

brilliant streak. There is no question but what his return will help a lot.

But Trainer Martin does not want to rush matters, realizing that further injury might put Manush out for another three weeks or more. Heinie now declares that he will play tomorrow, but he probably wont, for the outfield of Sportsman's Park has been so baked by the burning sun that it is like concerte, making a start here particularly hazardous.

So, unless Trainer Martin is overruled, the chances are that Manush will not attempt his come-back until the team reaches Chicago Thursday for the final series of this Western trip.

Johnson Tries Novel Pitching Plan.

Another scorching hot day greeted the Nationals when they dragged themselves from under the cheets this morning, causing Manager Walter Johnson to decide upon using two pitchers daily instead of only one. Starting this afternoon's fracas, Hadley's instructions were to go at full spede as long as he could, with relief promised just as soon as he felt that the sizzling heat had taken too much of his strength. Hadley pitched brilliantly, allowing but one hit in the first five rounds, but he showed signs of distress in the sixth when a walk, Goslin's homer, and another walk, caused his withdrawal in favor of Lloyd Brown.

The same condition will obtain tomorrow, if the relief promised by the weather man is not forthcoming. The veteran "Sad Sam" Jones will draw the starting assignment and will continue in action only as long as he feels that he is capable of pitching good ball. Dick Coffman, former Nat, is expected to do the Browns' flinging. Jones, who has beaten the Browns in his only start against them this season, will be seeking his ninth victory of the year.

Two "Ladies Days" Listed Weekly.

Business in St. Louis is not as hot as the weather and, in order to give the players a little encouragement by not asking them to perform before empty stands, two "ladies days" are listed each week. Today was one, with a large majority of the small crowd made up of guests, while the "fair ones" also are invited to turn out on Thursdays.

Two of the youngsters who will be trying for berths with the Nationals next season are burning things up in the Blue Ridge League, according to reports received here today. Short Stop Ed McGarrigan is hitting well over .400, while Gordon Phelps has a rating of .382 at which to point. The latter has been cracking out many long hits, averaging almost two bases per blow Both of these youngsters are performing with the Hagerstown Club, Phelps having been shifted from behind the bat to the outfield.

Their mates are now calling Altrock and Schacht "the flying fools," this pair marking the trip from Davenport, Iowa, where they clowned yesterday, by airplane this morning. The 225-mile trip was made in little more than two hours.

Catcher Muddy Ruel, whose arm has not been functioning particularly well of late, did some nobby pegging in the pregame practice and showed Skipper Johnson that the flipper now is as strong as it has been at any time this season.

New Cardinal Athletic Director Here Aug. 15

Arthur J. Bergman, recently appointed to succeed John B. McAuliffe as director of athletics and head football coath at Catholic University, will arrive here two weeks earlier than he had planned to take over his new office, it was learned yesterday. In a letter to the Brookland authorities, Bergman stated he would come here from Minnesota, where he is stopping at present, about August 15. Originally he had expected to arrive on September 1.

He will use the extra time this change makes available to prepare the program of preseason training for the Catholic U. football squad and to get acquainted with the schedules and minor details of directing the Cardinals athletic activities for the year 1930-1931.

Newton and Gavuzzi Win 55-Mile Race

Sherbrooke, Quebec, July 21 (A.P.). The team of Arthur Newton, South African, and Peter Gavuzzi, of Southampton, England, won the second lap of the international relay race today, the 55-mile jaunt from Granby to Sherbrooke. Their time was 5 hours 15 minutes.

Joie Ray, Chicago veteran who once burned up 1-mile fields, and his partner, John Salo, of Passaic, N. J., finished second, in 5:32. The teams held the same positions on the basis of elapsed time for the two laps of the race which started yesterday from Montreal. The total elapsed time of Newton and Gavuzzi was 10:38:20, and of Ray and Salo, winners of the first lap, 10:54.

Edouard Fabre, Montreal, and Ollie Wattinen, Finland, finished fourth today, but retained third place with elapsed time of 11:08.30.

A. A. U. Plans City's First Wrestling Championships

Queensberry Club Awarded Titular Meet in October; Course of President's Cup Swim Next Month Is Changed.

PROJECTION of plans for the staging of the first District of Columbia wrestling championships was the outstanding development of a meeting of the board of managers of the District Association, A. A. U., last night at the Jewish Community Center.

The Queensberry Club was awarded sponsorship of the event by the board, which also entertained a request for sanction of the sixth annual President's Cup 3-mile swimming championship and announced the personnel of the executive committee which is to serve in conjunction with the holding of the National A. A. U. convention here.

The wrestling championships, which will be the first event of its kind in Washington since an informal meet for amateurs was held in the old Arcadia Hall in 1927, will be conducted in the Washington Auditorium on Monday night, October 6. Titles in all weight classes listed in the national championships will be contested. Preliminaries and finals will be held the same night.

Course of Swim To Be Changed.

The Washington Canoe Club asked for sanction to stage the President's Cup swim, the date contemplated being August 23. Sanction of the event is only a formality. Earle A. Weeks, of the W. C. C., announced that the old course of the race—from Chain Bridge to Aqueduct Bridge—has been abandoned for a new course which lies in the water between Three Sisters and Aqueduct Bridge. This course is 1 mile in length and it will be swum three times. The race in 1929 was won by Raymond Ruddy, of the New York Athletic Club, which organization captured the team trophy.

The following were named on the executive committee of the national convention committee: Maj. Julius I. Peyser, Robert Acorn, Winfree Johnson, William Russell, Edward Rosenblum, A. Earle Weeks, Kip Edwards, James A. Sullivan, John D. O'Reilly, Dr. O. U. Singer, Norman Landreau and Dr. George Sharpe.

Organized in Capital 40 Years Ago.

This committee will meet Thursday night at the Hamilton Hotel to decide where headquarters for the convention are to be established and to discuss plans for raising funds to defray expenses of the convention, which is scheduled for November 16, 17 and 18.

Washington never before has been the scene of a national A. A. U. convention, although the union was reorganized here in a meeting 40 years ago. Inasmuch as this city is especially attractive to the visitor as the Nation's Capital, it is expected that the attendance at the forthcoming convention will be of record proportions.

Canzoneri Beats Bass On Clean-Cut Decision

PHILDELPHIA, July 21 (N.Y.W. N.S.).—Tony Canzoneri, of New York, battled his way to a clean-cut decision over Benny Bass, world's junior lightweight champion, at the Phillies' ball park tonight. The verdict of the two judges and Referee Frank Floyd was unanimous. Bass's title was not at stake.

Another New Yorker also won honors on the card when Allie Wolff handed Tony Tedesco an artistic lacing. A crowd of about 15,000 witnessed the proceedings.

Canzoneri, carrying a five-pound weight advantage over Bass, attacked from the beginning and never halted his aggressive tactics, although tiring perceptibly from the fast pace toward the end.

Tony's best rounds were the second and fifth. He raised a lump on Bass's right eye in the second and put that weakened spot under terrific fire, almost closing it in the seventh.

In the fifth the Brooklynite landed a pair of heavy lefts to the chin and had Benny wobbly. Benny, for the most part, was content to hold, although he opened up in the sixth and won that round by a narrow margin.

Great was the astonishment this afternoon at the weighing-in ceremonies when Canzoneri tipped the beam at 129¼ pounds. This was a breach of eitquette—and contract—that Tony promptly rectified by means of a couple of oranges and several glasses of water to make 130¼ pounds.

In the articles of agreement it was understood that Bass's junior lightweight crown was not to be at stake, Tony to come in over the weight. Benny weighed in at 125¾ pounds.

Alexander Given Release Outright by Dallas Club

DALLAS, July 21 (A.P.).—Grover Cleveland Alexander, veteran major league pitcher, was given his outright release today by the Dallas Club, of the Texas League. Failure to keep in training after he had promised to do so several days ago was given by Bob Tarleton, vice president of the Dallas Club, as the reason for Alexander's removal from the roster.

Interviewed at a local hotel two hours after Tarleton had announced his release, Alexander professed complete surprise.

"I can't understand it," the veteran said. "I was in shape and ready to pitch yesterday's first game, but they told me just before game time I would pitch the second. Then they put me in as a relief pitcher in the first. I stepped into a hole and wrenched my knee."

He did not regard the injury as serious and said he had expected to work a game at Houston Thursday night.

If Tarleton's decree is final, Alexander intimated, he would return to Chicago for a short rest before considering any offers from other clubs. He said he had received numerous offers to pitch exhibition games for semipro teams.

OUTSIDER'S 72 LEADS FIELD IN WEST

Nordstrom Sets Pace; Tolley and Perkins Are Close Up.

CHICAGO, July 21 (A.P.).—A strapping Nordic from Davenport, Iowa, Lloyd Nordstrom, argued his way into the Western Amateur Golf Championship today and then as rebuttal shot a sparkling 72 to snatch the lead in the first 18-hole drive for the qualifying medal.

When Nordstrom, a rank outsider in championship calculations, came up to the first tee today he was advised his entry had not been received. After a long argument he was permitted to compete, and in his alternate anger and joy he came within one stroke of taming old man par in his 6,702-yard stronghold of yawning traps, bunkers and trees. He toured the first nine in 38, but came back with a 34, one under par, despite a four-putt green on the short twelfth green.

The championship course threw up such a stubborn resistance today that scores for the first half of the qualifying test were the highest in the tournament's history. Only 45 of the field of 215 were able to fracture 80, while the others either ripped up their cards or posted scores that ranged upward to more than 100 strokes. Tonight it looked like a pair of 80's had a big chance to qualify for the match play to open Wednesday.

Tolley and Perkins Among Leaders.

Cyril Tolley and E. Phillip Perkins, two English stars who stand out as certain contenders, were successful, however. Tolley landed in a three-way tie with Don Armstrong, of Aurora, Ill., and Johnny Lehman, of Chicago, with a smart 73, two over par, while Perkins scored a 75. Tolley burned up the course with a sparkling 35, one under par, on his outward journey, and had a fine chance for the lead until he muffed three shots outright on the par 4 fourteenth hole and needed six strokes before he holed out. His backward total was 38, three strokes over par. Perkins was more consisten.t He tallied 37 out and 33 in. the initial round with a 75.

Charles "Chick" Evans, of Chicago, eight times holder of the Western crown, played within easy striking distance of the qualifying limit after the inital round wth a 75.

Nat. Capital, Georgetown Insects Face Play-Off

The National Capital and Georgetown insect teams will clash in a double-header Sunday to decide the winner of section B in the Capital City League race. The games have been scheduled on Diamond No. 3 with the first contest starting at 1 o'clock. A third game if necessary will be played August 3.

In their two league clashes these teams have split even.

The winner of this play-off will meet the Wonder Boys, winners of Section A, in a series for the championship.

Advertising Golfers Oppose Orioles Today

From a group of fifteen men will be chosen the golf team of the Washington Advertising Club, which will today meet the Advertising Club of Baltimore in a special challenge match at the Indian Spring Club at 1 o'clock this afternoon. Baltimore is sending ten of the best players in the Orile Club who will come here by motor this morning.

After the match a victory dinner will be served at 7 o'clock. Garnett Lee has been appointed head of the Washington team and will choose his team from the following: "Radio" Joe Kauffman, Harry W. Hahn, Edwin Hahn, Charles Finney, Earl Baker, Bill Bryant, R. G. Hunt, L. J. Goode, W. H. Oxford, William Pettitt, Frank Ochsenreiter, Howard W. Berry, Perry Hoover, S. H. Kauffmann, Ernest Johnston, and H. H. Hasley.

All of the above named have also contributed prizes for today's competition.

JULY 22, 1905.

Thirty-nine members of the crew of the United States gunboat Bennington were killed and 100 injured by a boiler explosion on the ship while it was anchored off the H street wharf at San Diego, Calif.

Special dispatch to The Washington Post from Woodward's Pavalion, San Francisco, Calif.: "Jimmie Britt defeated Kid Sullivan, of Washington, D. C., in a twenty-round fight for the lightweight championship by a referee's decision."

An attempt was made to assassinate the Sultan of Turkey. The bomb's explosion missed the sultan but killed several of his attendants. Several arrests have been made in the outrage.

Six thousand laborers will be taken to Panama to work on the canal.

The Confederate and Federal Union soldiers held their annual reunion at Luray, Va.

The Maryland Jockey Club has decided to abandon the present race track at Pimlico and is seeking another location.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

HATS AND CAPS.

(Children's Bureau, Department of Labor.)

A child may go bareheaded much of the year, but in summer a simple, light weight straw or cloth hat is necessary to protect the head and face and when the sun is very hot. For winter wear a soft tam-o-shanter of wool or velvet or some equally soft little cap which stays on and fits closely down on the ears and neck is most suitable. Stocking caps are comfortable for the coldest weather, but to wear these woolen caps indoors is dangerous. Mothers should instruct their children, boys and girls alike, to remove both their caps and coats when they come into a warm room to stay for any considerable period. Waterproof coats, boots and overshoes should be removed on coming indoors.

Explosive Cargoes Safely Handled.

Wilmington, Del., July 21 (A.P.).—Railroads transported 500,000,000 pounds of explosives in 1929 without one fatal injury. Damage was $91 and one railroad employe was hurt in an explosion.

WEATHER CONDITIONS

U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Weather Bureau. Washington, Monday, July 21—8 p. m.

Forecast—For the District of Columbia, fair and continued warm in morning, and partly cloudy, probably local thundershowers and not quite so warm in afternoon, Tuesday; cooler Tuesday night; Wednesday fair and cooler; gentle to moderate southwest, shifting to northwest winds.

For Maryland, generally fair and continued warm in morning, and partly cloudy, probably local thundershowers and not quite so warm in afternoon, Tuesday; cooler Tuesday night; Wednesday generally fair and cooler; moderate southwest, shifting to northwest winds.

For Virginia, generally fair and continued warm, except possibly scattered thundershowers and not quite so warm in extreme north portion in afternoon, Tuesday; local thundershowers and somewhat cooler Tuesday night; Wednesday partly cloudy and cooler, possibly showers in southeast portion; moderate southwest, shifting to northwest winds.

The northeastern disturbance is centered north of Newfoundland, Belle Isle, 29.16 inches, the disturbance that was over Wisconsin Sunday night has moved rapidly eastward to southern New England, Boston, Mass., 29.58 inches, with a trough extending west-southwestward to western Texas, Abilene, 29.60 inches, and pressure remains relatively low over the upper lake region, Escanaba, Mich., 29.74 inches, and from the Gulf of California northward to southern British Columbia, Red Bluff, Calif., 29.66 inches. These disturbances have caused local showers and thunderstorms within the last 24 hours in portions of New England, northern and western New York, and from Michigan and Wisconsin southwestward to Colorado and New Mexico, however, amounts were mostly light to moderate. The weather has remained fair over practically all other sections.

The indications are for local thundershowers within the next 24 hours in the Ohio Valley, Tennessee, the lower lake region, and the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic States, and scattered thundershowers are probable during Wednesday in the northern portion of the South Atlantic States. There will be a break in the heat wave Tuesday as far east as the Appalachian Mountains, and by or during Tuesday night in the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic States, and moderate temperature will likely prevail Wednesday from the Ohio Valley and the lower lake region eastward to the Atlantic Coast.

608
12th St. N.W.
Over Woolworth's
5c & 10c Store

This strange man sees the way and tells it all. Just what your life has been, just what it will be. Tells you when and whom you will marry; whether husband, wife or sweetheart is true or false. Tells as to changes, travel, lost or absent friends, divorce, wills, deeds; whether it is best to buy or sell. He tells the good and the bad. A visit will convince you of his wonderful power.

Something tells you this is the man. You feel the impulse to call. Do not delay.

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

ARLINGTON ACCEPTS SCHOOL BONDS' BID

Work on Washington-Lee High School Is Expected to Start Tomorrow.

BALL NAMED DELEGATE

ARLINGTON COUNTY, BUREAU OF THE POST,
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

The school board of Arlington County at a special meeting held at the courthouse yesterday accepted the bid of H. M. Byllesby, of New York, for the purchase of $510,000 of the county school bonds. The accepted bid was at 4½ per cent, with a premium of $4,131. The bonds run for a period of 30 years.

The board next Monday will receive and open bids for the enlargement of school buildings at Aurora Hills, Aurora Heights, Lyon Park and Bon Air.

County Superintendent Fletcher Kemp announces that J. H. Coleman, of Lynchburg, the succesful bidder for the additions to the Washington-Lee High School, hopes to start work tomorrow morning.

The school board will hold its monthly meeting in the county superintendent's office at the courthouse tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

State Senator Frank L. Ball has been appointed delegate to the Institute of Public Affairs which will meet at Charlottesville, Va., August 2 to 16.

The new Clarendon Postoffice located in the building just completed at the intersection of Wilson boulevard and Wheeler avenue at Clarendon opens today at 8 o'clock.

The office has been equipped with modern postoffice equipment and is judged by the postal inspectors as one of the most modern offices around the city of Washington. The floor space of the new office doubles that of the former office.

The Arlington County Social Club opened its annual carnival at Wilson boulevard and Clements avenue at Ballston last night with a gathering numbering several hundred persons. The carnival will continue for two weeks.

Dancing will be a feature each night. Among other features will be a water melon eating contest, pie eating contest, fat man's race, ladies' races and many other athletic events.

The proceeds from the carnival will go to the building fund.

Robert E. Formam, administrator of the county zoning ordinance, announced yesterday that he is in receipt from residents along Strickler avenue in Clarendon protesting the continuance of a poultry plant claimed to be operated by D. J. Waters, a resident of Marion avenue at Clarendon.

It is alleged in the petition that the poultry plant has been erected on the rear of his vacant lots on the west side of Strickler avenue. It further cites that more than 100 chicks are housed in the building.

It is claimed that the plant is in violation of the county zoning ordinance, as the plant is claimed to be erected in a location which has been zoned as residential.

Mr. Forman stated that he will make an investigation and should it be found to be in violation of the county zoning ordinance the owner will be requested to stop the operation of the plant.

The annual carnival of the Cherrydale Volunteer Fire Department, which closed Saturday night, was said by the committee in charge to have been one of the most successful held by the department in many years.

Much credit is given to the ladies' auxiliary members who were on hand each night, the committee states.

The Cherrydale Baptist Sunday School holds its sixteenth annual picnic today at Great Falls, Va. Special trains over the Old Dominion Railway will leave from Cherrydale station at 9:30 this morning.

General Chairman H. R. Dancy announces that a program which insures a good time for all those attending has been arranged. The judges are the Rev. Elmer Lucas, J. Harry Wagner, C. B. Butler, Richard Yardley, L. W. Holland, F. F. Wickers, Edward Janson, Mrs. H. S. Potter and Mrs. Lillian Wall.

The contests will include a cracker race for boys and girls; peanut race, junior girls; 50-yard dash, intermediate boys and girls; broad jump, for boys; candle race, intermediate girls; 50-yard dash, for seniors; broad jump, for seniors; potato race, senior girls; volley ball, for all adults; shoe race, for girls, and a 50-yard dash, for men.

The committee in charge of the arrangements consists of: H. R. Dancy, chairman; L. W. Holland, F. F. Wickers, J. Harry Wagner, the Rev. Elmer Lucas, A. H. Solomon, Mrs. Harry Besley and Mrs. O. R. Doyle.

E. M. Jacobs has been elected councilor of Cherrydale Council, No. 23, Junior Order United American Mechanics. Other officers are Theodore Harris, vice councilor; C. F. Atkinson, conductor; A. R. Monch, warden; J. R. Reynolds, recording secretary; M. R. Jacobs, assistant recording secretary; J. L. Harper, financial secretary; H. P. Ellis, treasurer; John Alexander, inside sentinel; Frank Bradley, outside sentinel; J. L. Harper, junior past councilor; H. H. Payne, representative to the State council; J. H. Reynolds, alternate to the State council, and J. L. Harper, trustee for a term of eighteen months.

Cecil Hawling, 72, Dies In Loudoun Residence

Special to The Washington Post.

Purcellville, Va., July 21.—Cecil Hawling, 72 years of age, a native and lifelong resident of Philomont, this county, died Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the infirmities of age. He was a son of the late Sidney Hawling, of this county.

Surviving him are his wife, who was Miss Mollie Brown, and three children—Mrs. Hugh Kirkpatrick, of Purcellville; Logan Hawling, of Washington, D. C., and Raymond Hawling, of Richmond, Va. Funeral services will be held Tuesday from the residence. The hour of funeral has not yet been decided.

Mrs. L. B. Furtney, 69, Dies.

Shenandoah Junction, W. Va., July 21 (Special).—Mrs. L. B. Furtney, 69, died at a Martinsburg hospital after an extended illness. She had resided here 45 years. She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Virts, of Loudoun County, Virginia. Surviving are the husband, seven children, four brothers and one sister.

ONE MISHAP MARKS WEEKEND IN FAIRFAX

Several Traffic Arrests Mad and Varying Fines Are Imposed.

4-H GIRLS PLAN STUDY

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST,
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

Fairfax County authorities made several arrests during the last weekend, but though the main highways were crowded throughout the county, only one accident was reported.

Claire Nichols, of Durham, N. C., a passenger in the car of H. h. Adam, of Cary, N. C., was injured slightly when their car was forced off the Washington-Richmond highway at Petland by a car driven by Ella Morgan, of New York City. Traffic Policeman A. W. Mills arrested Miss Morgan for reckless driving. She was taken before Justice of the Peace Harry Shephard at Accotink and fined $25 and costs and assessed damages to the Adam car.

G. S. Slosher, of New York avenue near Twenty-first street northwest, Washington, was fined $50 and costs by Justice of the Peace Shephard for reckless driving on the Washington-Richmond highway. The arrest was made by Traffic Policeman Lewis L. Finks.

Other persons arrested by Finks were G. H. Hilgartner, of Richmond, Va., and K. T. Sullivan, of Washington. Both were tried for reckless driving before Justice Shephard and each fined $10 and costs.

Deputy Sheriff Paul Herman arrested Morris Edwards, at Clifton Station, for being drunk and disorderly. It was stated by the deputy that complaint was made when Edwards engaged in a free for all fight at Clifton Station. He was taken before Mayer Fulmer, at Clifton, and fined $10 and costs.

A large delegation of the 4-H Club girls of Fairfax County, accompanied by Mrs. Katherine Cunningham, of McLean, and Miss Frances Hurst, of Baileys Cross Roads, will represent this county at Blacksburg, Va. There they will take the annual summer short course given by the State extension department. This course will continue through the week ending Saturday evening. Among the 4-H Club members of the county attending are: Miss Annie Grau, Kathleen Anderson and Virginia Carr, from Oakton School; Mary Ella Carr, from Fairfax, Rebecca Myers and Bernice Riggles, of Clifton; Mildred Logan, Louise Arnold, Isabell Beattie and Mary Cline, of McLean; Elizabeth Harrison, Virginia Millard and Alice Bready, of Herndon. Mildred Logan and Louise Arnold, of McLean, will represent the county in the 4-H demonstration contest at Blacksburg.

The short course will be under the supervision of C. A. Montgomery, State agent for boys' clubs; Gordon Elcan, associate State club agent, and Miss Hallie Hughes, State agent for 4-H girls' clubs.

The Pioneer Class of the Presbyterian Church at Falls Church will hold its meeting tonight in the church parlors. The class is studying the book entitled "Seven Thousand Emeralds," a mission study book on the Philippines. They are also preparing boxes for hospitals.

The Nazarene Guild will meet tomorrow morning at the home of Mrs. Samuel H. Styles in Falls Church.

Postoffice's Site To Be Fixed Soon

Keen Interest in Cumberland Over Proposals for New Structure.

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., July 21.—With $640,000 available for the new Federal Building to be erected in Cumberland, there is keen interest here in the proposals for the sale or donation of a site which will be opened at the office of the supervising architect of the Treasury on August 22. The Government desires a corner lot containing approximately 43,000 square feet with at least 200 lineal feet dimension on the more important of the two street frontages.

Representative Frederick N. Zihlman, who has been working for a new Federal building here ever since his first election to Congress in 1916, said that many sites were expected to be submitted to the Postoffice inspectors. Chief among these are the Macfarlane Building, adjoining the present Federal Building, and the Western Maryland Hospital site on Baltimore avenue.

It is thought work will be started as soon as a site is selected and it will help to relieve the unemployment situation here somewhat.

Lynchburg Pair to Wed.

Lynchburg, Va., July 21 (Special).—Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Starke, of Lynchburg, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Louise Starke, to Charles Raine Sydnor, also of this city. The wedding is to take place in the early autumn.

Y. M. C. A. Man Promoted.

Lynchburg, Va., July 21 (Special). C. B. Henna, four years physical director of the Y. M. C. A. here, resigned today to accept directorship of the physical department of the Richmond "Y" September 1. Frank H. Jackson, assistant, was promoted to the vacancy.

Funeral Rites Are Held For Mrs. Sarah Milligan

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., July 21.—The body of Mrs. Sarah A. Dubois Milligan, widow of Rear Admiral Robert Wiley Milligan, U. S. N., who died at Blueridge Summit, Pa., on Saturday, was brought to Annapolis this morning. Burial was in the Naval Cemetery.

Mrs. Milligan was a daughter of Edward Dubois, of La Rochelle, France, and Rossette Holland, of Annapolis, and a sister of the late Charles A. Dubois, former mayor of Annapolis. She resided here for many years and passed the summer seasons at Blue Ridge Summit. She is survived by two daughters, Miss Millie W. Milligan, of Annapolis, and Mrs. Tench Tilghman, formerly of Norfolk, Va., and a grandson, Tench Tilghman.

GOTWALS SWORN IN AS COMMISSIONER

Army Man Takes Office as Successor to Ladue in Simple Ceremony.

HOPES TO BEAUTIFY CITY

Maj. John C. Gotwals, of the Army Engineer Corps, was sworn in as Engineer Commissioner of the District at 10 o'clock yesterday morning.

The oath of office was administered by Daniel E. Garges, secretary of the Board of Commissioners. Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer and Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, the civilian members of the Board of Commissioners, congratulated the new Commissioner and the brief ceremony was over.

Seated at his desk, vacated Saturday by Col. William B. Ladue, whom he succeeds as Engineer Commissioner, Maj. Gotwals removed from his coat the gold District Commissioners badge and told reporters that he would be satisfied if he was able to do anything which might add to or maintain the beauty of the National Capital, which, he said, was the most beautiful city in the world.

"I am very glad to come to Washington, the City Beautiful, and I shall do everything in my power to make it more beautiful, if possible," he said.

His six and a half year stay in St. Louis, where he was the Army district engineer, was a very happy one, Maj. Gotwals said. Not only were his official relations happy but it was there he met his wife and there that his daughter was born. Maj. Gotwals is obviously proud of them both and he let it be known that his first act this morning will be to place on his desk a picture of his little girl. Mrs. Gotwals is a distant relative of Mark Twain and of Mme. Gabrilowitsch, wife of the virtuoso. His family will join Maj. Gotwals here soon, he said.

12-Year-Old Scout Saves Girl's Life

Plunges Into Creek on Eastern Shore to Bring Back Three-Year-Old.

Special to The Washington Post.

Chestertown, Md., July 21.—Ruth Ireland, 3-year-old daughter of Marion Ireland, of Easton, Md., manager of the Eastern Shore farms of Mrs. Isaac H. Dixon, of Baltimore, was rescued from drowning at Worton Point today by William Thomas Dixon, jr., 12-year-old student of Baltimore and son of Mrs. William T. Dixon, of Baltimore and Savannah, Ga.

The child was a member of a party of seven who were on a boating party in Worton Creek near the Chesapeake Bay. A splash was heard and the child's father saw her struggling in the water. Although he could not swim he plunged overboard and was in distress when young Dixon, who was in the boat, shouted to him to grasp the side of the craft and hold himself up.

As the child was going down for the second time Dixon dived into the water, reached her as she was being swept down the creek by the tide and brought her to the boat, where she was resuscitated. The father was exhausted and also was given first aid treatment. Dixon is a member of the Chestertown Troop of Boy Scouts and a movement was started today to secure for him the Scout Life Saving Medal.

5-Year-Old Boy Dies Under Truck's Wheels

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., July 21.—Edward E., 5-year-old son of Frank E. Mertz, near Cresaptown, was crushed to death under a truck late this afternoon while his father was out fighting forest fires.

The mother had sent the little boy with a note to a nearby store and the child ran in front of the truck, loaded with coal, driven by Henry L. Weese, Frankfort, W. Va. A machine was coming in another direction at the time. Weese swerved, but the child was caught under a rear wheel and his head crushed. The authorities found that the accident was unavoidable.

C. M. T. C. STUDENTS REVIEWED IN SHORTS

Comfort Takes Precedence Over Ceremony as Fort Mercury Soars.

CASTLE TO TALK TODAY

When the mercury soared past the 100-degree mark at Fort Washington yesterday a humane officer issued an unusual command, and the afternoon parade was featured by C. M. T. C. students in athletic shorts.

Maj. Alexander M. Patch, commanding the 850 students, decided that ceremony was secondary to comfort, and regardless of the qualms that such proceedings must have brought to hidebound officers of the old school, the husky lads from western Pennsylvania marched in review clad in regulation khaki shirts and khaki trunks, with their socks rolled.

The concession, however, did not extend to officers, who were required to wear regulation garb. The four weeks' training course will end July 31.

This afternoon at 5 o'clock the tudents will be addressed by Assistant Secretary of State William R. Castle, and on Monday they will be received at the White House, following a parade through the streets. After the reception they will be guests of the Fox Theater.

Girl, 24, Dies as Auto Falls Off High Cliff

Special to The Washington Post.

Bloomington, Md., July 21.—A joking appropriation of the car of Jesse Arnold, a friend, resulted in the death of Miss Mary Lowman, 24, of Bloomington, late yesterday. She had often operated the car when Arnold was with her and she had a West Virginia operator's card, having been a boarder at the home of Charles Grove, at Piedmont, W. Va., a mile east of Bloomington. Arnold called to her not to take the car and tried to catch her, but could not.

In the meantime, when she tried to turn around at Thunder Hill, the car plunged down a 200-foot embankment to the rocks along the Baltimore & Ohio tracks, between Piedmont and Keyser. It is thought while turning she threw the shift into reverse instead of low gear.

Garbage Collections Will Be Made Uniform

A uniform schedule of three garbage collections a week for the entire city was announced yesterday by T. L. Costigan, superintendent of street cleaning.

In the past some sections of the city have been given daily collections throughout the summer months while other sections of the city have had their garbage collected only twice a week. The fashionable sections where persons of influence have resided have been those which received the extra service at the expense of the other sections.

Takoma Park Carnival Opens.

The annual Takoma Park, Md., firemen's carnival opened at the municipal playgrounds last night with music, games and novelty features. The carnival will last throughout the week, under the direction of Chester C. Waters, president of the volunteer fire department and general general chairman of the celebration.

Philadelphia Youth Killed.

Myrtle Beach, S. C., July 21 (A.P.). Victor Mather, 16, of Philadelphia, Pa., was killed and Stephen Bull Adams, son of Dr. E. C. L. Adams, of Columbia, injured last night in an automobile accident here. Mather's automobile struck the curbing on the Kings highway and overturned.

ARCHITECTS' REPORT ON COURTHOUSE DUE

Study of Bids on Building in Montgomery May Be Revealed Today.

21 OFFERS SCRUTINIZED

The architects for the new Montgomery County courthouse at Rockville, Smith & Edwards, of Washington, are expected to report today at the meeting of the board of county commissioners on their studies of the bids for the construction opened last Wednesday.

The 21 offers have been thoroughly studied by the architects and their recommendation is expected to be ready at the same time today. It is probable that the commissioners will postpone action on the bids, however, and call a meeting of the general courthouse building committee for consideration and recommendation.

All the bids are well within the limit set by the State Legislature. The low bid, $384,000, was submitted by the J. J. McDevitt Co., of Charlotte, N. C. The next lowest bid also was from a North Carolina firm, W. P. Rose Co., of Goldsborough, N. C., which bid $389,000. right to refuse any or all bids should

The commissioners reserved the they find that the company making the bid is not responsible, or for any reason does not comply with certain restrictions which have been decided upon by the courthouse building committee and the commissioners.

Women of the antiorganization Democratic faction yesterday held an enthusiastic meeting at the Montgomery Country Club, Rockville. The meeting adopted a resolution in which Mrs. Parker Weller, of Poolesville, who was chosen chairman, was empowered to appoint a committee of five women to confer with antiorganization leaders to select a woman candidate which the antiorganization Democrats will support.

The meeting was opened by Dr. Bates Etchison, who turned the gavel over to Mrs. Weller after her election as chairman. Among those who addressed the meeting were Dr. Eugene Jones, State senator from Montgomery County, who is a candidate for reelection; John Oxley, Rockville lawyer, who is a candidate for State's attorney; W. Clinton McSherry, a candidate for judge of the circuit court to succeed Judge John S. Newman; Carey Quinn, secretary to the executive committee of the Progressive branch of the Democratic party, as the antiorganization faction is officially known; E. Barrett Prettyman, well known attorney and candidate for a member of the House of Delegates from Montgomery County, and Mrs. Weller.

The annual outing of the Rockville Chamber of Commerce will be held Thursday at Chapel Point, Md. Activities will begin at 11 o'clock in the morning. The trip will be made by automobile and by boat from Washington.

Among the features will be baseball, horseshoe pitching, tennis, dancing, bathing, boating, fishing and other games for both children and adults.

Committees in charge of the outing are Leonard L. Nicholson, president of the chamber, chairman; Edgar Reed, Harold C. Smith, William F. Prettyman, George H. Lamar, Robert G. Hilton, reception; F. Barnard Welsh, Joseph N. Starkey and Milbourne E. Ward, athletics; Bernard T. Brosius, Raleigh S. Chinn, Oliver Perry and J. Banks Berry, transportation; Warner E. Pumphrey, W. Ernest Offutt and A. B. Bernstein, prizes; Donald A. DeLashmutt, Francis Lyddane and Curtis L. Ward, water sports; F. Bache Abert, A. Guy Watkins and W. Guy Hicks, horseshoe tournament; Harry S. Beall, Eugene B. Gingell, Cooke A. Robertson, baseball; Stedman Prescott and Dr. George L. Edmonds, tennis; J. Brawner Nicholson, J. Roger Spates and Morris Stern, boating and fishing; George Peter, Harry Dawson and Otto W. Anderson, dancing.

The annual carnival for the benefit of the Silver Spring Masonic Temple will be held from Saturday until August 2. The general committee in charge is composed of Harry T. McComas, Martin H. Kinsinger and George F. Hamilton.

Closing exercises for the Vacation Church School conducted by the Takoma Park Presbyterian Church for the past three weeks will be held Friday evening at 7 o'clock in the amphitheater in the rear of the church. The program is in charge of S. Carlyle Adams, principal. The certificates of attainment will be presented by Charles R. Normandy, chairman of the committee on Christian education of the church. A pageant under the direction of Mrs. Jean Hogan and Miss Thurza Suter will be presented.

Business Women's Council Meeting.

There will be a meeting of the Business Women's Council tonight at the Church of the Covenant. Miss Mabel Thurston will conduct the devotional period.

31 VETERANS ATTEND CONFEDERATE RALLY

22 Virginia Counties Send Old Soldiers to Reunion in Rappahannock.

W. G. WOODS ARE HOSTS

Culpeper, Va., July 21.—Thirty-one Confederate veterans, invited from 22 counties in Virginia by Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Wood, met Saturday at Ivy Hill, the Wood home in Rappahannock County, and there on the shady lawns the Civil War was refought from Manassas to Appomattox.

The youngest of the veteran fighters was 83, the oldest 92, and Mrs. Eliza C. Crim, the heroine of the Battle of Newmarket, ranked with the oldest for she is already past her ninety-first birthday. "Mother Crim" as she is known to the veterans stayed on the battlefield at Newmarket all night after the onrush of the cadets from the Virginia Military Institute had stopped the Union advance, and to her tender ministrations many of the boys owed their lives.

Since the war she has always been active in all movements for the betterment of conditions for the veterans and is always a favorite at their reunions. Asked to pose for pictures, her wrinkled face was immediately wreathed in smiles and she posed for several minutes, seeming to enjoy it thoroughly.

Veterans Hear Addresses.

Alexander F. Rose, an old cavalryman, now the father of two officers in the United States Army, enlivened the morning with his dances to string music played by other veterans.

The vine shaded porch was draped with a large Confederate flag, recently presented to the Culpeper Chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy, by Mrs. George W. Baker, of Worcester, Mass.

Burnette L. Miller, of Culpeper, addressed the veterans in the afternoon lauding them for their courage during and after the war, and Maj. Charles S. Roller, of the Augusta Military Academy, made a short talk, telling them that he was working to the end that each Virginia veteran who wished it would soon receive a pension of at least five dollars a day.

List of Participants.

The veterans attending were J. N. Weatherall, Company C, Fourth Virginia Cavalry; R. H. Lynn, Company E, Eighteenth Virginia Cavalry; William Huffer, Company E, Eighteenth Virginia Cavalry; T. T. Slaughter, Company B, Fourth Virginia Cavalry; W. D. Colvin, Thirteenth Virginia Infantry; B. A. Blakemore, Twenty-third Virginia Cavalry; A. F. Rose, Forty-third Battalion, Mosby's Brigade; F. M. Trimble, Company H, Thirty-first Virginia Infantry; J. R. Beuchler, Company D, Second Virginia Cavalry; Joseph D. Weaver, Company B, Sixth Virginia Cavalry; J. Logan Dunlap, Company F, Fifth Virginia Infantry; James M. Cheif, Company B, Sixth Virginia Cavalry; T. V. Leach, Company F, Mosby's Brigade; E. W. Fant, Company C, Seventh Virginia Cavalry; W. O. Rust, Company B, Seventeenth Virginia Infantry; M. F. Schmucker, Company E, Twelfth Virginia Cavalry; John L. Poe, Company A, Forty-ninth Virginia Cavalry; R. B. Dunlap, Company A, Fifty-second Virginia Infantry; J. R. Mohler, Marquis Battery; L. C. Tarrant, Company I, Eleventh Virginia Infantry; J. C. Bossman, Company K, Fifth Virginia Infantry; P. M. Kaufman, Company E, Rosser's Brigade; P. Henry O'Bannon, Company B, Forty-ninth Virginia Infantry; John M. Lawrence, Company E, Forty-third Brigade; R. E. Peyton, Company A, Seventh Virginia Cavalry; J. N. Britton, Company B, Thirty-ninth Virginia Battery; C. T. Harris, Company A, Eleventh Virginia Cavalry; J. E. Best, Johnson's Battery; J. A. Mitchell, Company C, Fourth Virginia Infantry; Brig. Gen. W. A. Comton, Third Division; Q. J. Collins, Company C, Fourth Virginia Cavalry.

Typhus Fever Case Found in County

State Officials Are Studying Disease Victim in Prince Georges.

The first case of typhus fever discovered in Prince Georges County is under the observation of Maryland State Health officials and physicians from Johns Hopkins University, it was learned yesterday. The patient is Mrs. William R. Dyer, 54 years old, of Accokeek, who was taken ill several days ago. Her family physician reports that she is much improved.

The investigation was undertaken by the State as Prince Georges County temporarily is without a health officer. Dr. William S. Keister resigned several weeks ago to accept another position and his successor, Dr. A. B. Hooton, does not assume his duties until August 1.

Blood tests have been taken for further study and guinea pigs have been placed in the barns of the Dyer home and efforts made to trap rats in an effort to trace the source of the disease.

Sydnor Elected Head Of Synod Conference

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., July 21.—James Sydnor, of Charles Town, W. Va., was elected president of the Young Peoples Conference of the Presbyterian Synod of Virginia at the closing session tonight at Massanetta Springs. Berry Cushing, of Winchester, was named vice president and Miss Ann Blaine, of Roanoke, secretary.

The conference, the largest held by the Southern Presbyterian Church, was attended by more than 400 young men and women.

Virginia Man Accused As Slayer of His Son

Special to The Washington Post.

Bedford, Va., July 21.—James Otey, 20, colored, was shot and killed by Floyd Otey, his father, early in the afternoon today. The shooting took place at the home of the Otey family here. It is said that the tragedy followed some trouble between the father and son which occurred early in the day. Charles Otey another son, is said to have been present when the shooting took place.

Floyd Otey was placed in jail.

Mrs. Mary A. Silver Dies at Son's Home

Daughter of Late Virginia Legislator Was 89 Years Old.

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., July 21.—Mrs. Mary Ann Silver, 89, member of a widely known Virginia family, died at the home of her son, former State Senator Gray Silver, here yesterday after an extended illness. Mrs. Silver, born in this county, was a daughter of Capt. and Mrs. James W. Gray. She remembered distinctly four wars, the Mexican, during which her uncle, David Gray, served as a lieutenant; the Civil War, the Spanish-American and the World War. Her faculties remained intact until her death.

She attended private school in Winchester, Va. She assisted her father during years of his membership in the Virginia Legislature. She was married to Col. Francis Silver in 1868 and for a time they lived at White Post, Va. They later returned to Berkeley County to live at Silver Hill. Col. Silver died in 1885.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at the home here, followed by graveside services at Gerrardstown, this county. Mrs. Silver was the oldest living member of the Gerrardstown Presbyterian Church at the time of her death.

Wind and Heat Aid Fire Raging Through Forest

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., July 21.—With a stiff breeze stirring and the heat remaining intense, the forest fire situation in the Cumberland territory has grown worse with a new fire breaking out along Braddock Run, opposite Narrows Park, and sweeping along the hill toward Braddock farms and Lanvale.

The fire on Haystack Mountain is burning unchecked in several directions. The destruction of bird covers and the decimation of small game have caused game conservationists to assume a gloomy look. The first has burned down to the edges of the gardens of homes in the Bowling Green territory along McMullen highway. The Potomac Valley for a stretch of miles is covered with smoke. It is feared the fire may reach the Cumberland city line.

"Firebug" Sought After Two Fires

Two Blazes Occur Within Week in Spotsylvania Attorney's Property.

Special to The Washington Post.

Spotsylvania Court House, Va., July 21.—Blood hounds were mustered into service this morning to trail a pyromaniac whom authorities believe responsible for two disastrous fires within a week on the property of S. P. Powell, Commonwealth attorney for Spotsylvania, resulting in damage estimated at $25,000. The manhunt had proved fruitless this afternoon.

At 1:30 o'clock this morning a fire believed of incediary origin broke out in a barn on the Powell farm near here, and after consuming the structure spread to several other buildings. One hundred and fifty chickens were killed and much farm machinery destroyed. Mr. Powell, who had moved to Fredericksburg after a conflagration similar in its origin to the one last night burned his country home to the ground at practically the same hour last Monday morning, expressed the belief, when informed of the second fire, that political enemies were to blame for his misfortune.

Sheriff Carl A. Carner, of Spotsylvania County, is being assisted in the investigation by Fredericksburg police, Captain of Detective Alexander Wright, of Richmond, and L. H. Kemp, jr., of the State insurance department.

Two Forest Fires Put Under Control

Flames Sweep Over Big Tracts in Blue Ridge Mountains.

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., July 21.—Two Blue Ridge Mountain forest fires in this area were reported under control today after hours of strenuous battling by hundreds of volunteers who sweltered with the temperature above the 100-degree mark.

The big blaze in southern Page County, near Shenandoah City, was under control tonight after raging over 6,000 to 8,000 acres in the Jolletts and Furnace No. 2 sections. The flames burned within one mile of Shenandoah City, railroad center, and volunteers had a hard fight to prevent the ignition of a dozen dwellings and farm buildings. The fire stretched over a 6-mile front after starting last Friday.

A smaller blaze, in the Black Rock area of Augusta County was conquered Saturday night after burning over 100 acres. This fire required an all-night battle. A still larger blaze is reported as raging in the Crimora section of Augusta County with all efforts to combat it proving futile. Neither of these blazes burned over much valuable timber.

National P. T. A. Congress Is Begun

Outstanding Negro Workers Make Speeches at Petersburg.

Special to The Washington Post.

Petersburg, Va., July 21 (A.P.).—The National Parent-Teacher Congress convened today in the Virginia Normal and Industrial Institute in connection with the National Association of Teachers in the Negro schools of this county which opens tomorrow night at the Industrial Institute for a four-day session.

Among the outstanding delegates who have arrived here is Mrs. H. R. Butler, president of the National Parent-Teacher Association for Negroes.

This morning the congress was addressed by Mrs. Louise Brounley, of the social hygiene congress of New York City, and others. This afternoon addresses were made by Franklin O. Nichols, of New York, and Dr. J. M. Gandy, president of the Virginia Normal and Industrial Institute.

The teachers convention which opens tomorrow night at the Industrial Institute is expected to be attended by fully 800 of the leading Negro educators and teachers in the United States.

GIRL, 17, ATTACKED; TRIO IS ARRESTED

Three in Alexandria Jail Are Unable to Raise Bail of $10,000 Each.

VICTIM FAINTS IN COURT

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 922.

George Ford, 22 years old; J. W. Allison, 33, and Thomas Thorpe, 25, were held for the action of the grand jury yesterday, following a hearing in police court, Judge W. S. Snow, presiding, on a charge of criminal assault on a 17-year-old girl. Bond was fixed at $10,000 each, and all three were remanded to jail in default of bail. The grand jury which will hear their cases will meet probably in September.

The three men were arrested by Sergt. Heber Thompson and Policemen Pierce and Lipscombe, following a report by James Sillex that he had heard cries for help in a woman's voice. The police found the girl on a vacant lot at the intersection of Madison and West streets and, according to the police, she bore evidence of rough treatment. She was taken to the Alexandria Hospital, and later to the office of Dr. Samuel B. Moore.

The three officers, Sillex and Dr. Edward A. Gorman testified at the hearing yesterday, which was short. The girl, who was not called upon to testify, was in a room adjoining the police court, and is reported to have fainted when she heard the result of the hearing.

The local company of Marines, Company L, Twentieth Marines, under the command of Capt. Hubert Moore, has returned from a two-weeks encampment at Quantico marine base, with four of the number having won honors in marksmanship on the rifle range. They are Capt. Moore, Sergt. Slaymaker and Privates Covington and Moore.

Two Negro boys, Garnett S. and Joseph R. Jackson, 12 and 16 years old, respectively, were before Commissioner John Barton Phillips yesterday on a charge of breaking into and entering the postoffice at Seminary, Fairfax County, a branch of the Alexandria postoffice, on July 17. They were held for the action of the December term of the United States court, and their bail fixed at $500 each. The boys, it is claimed, stole a number of C. O. D. packages.

Clayton Dudley, 10-year-old Negro boy, who was found in a trunk in a storage warehouse of W. C. Jester, 500 block Pendleton street, was sent to the State reform school yesterday from police court. Silverware he had stolen was recovered.

Dr. W. Lewis Schafer, city health officer, announced yesterday that two chest clinics will be held at the health department headquarters this week, Wednesday from 2:30 to 4 o'clock for white patients, and Thursday at the same hours for Negroes. Drs. H. A. Latane and Llewellyn Powell will be in charge.

After the session of police court yesterday morning 17 out of 37 who faced the bars of justice over the week-end were sent to the city jail for failure to pay the assessed fines.

Alphonso A. Lucas, 81 years old, a retired carpenter, died on Sunday at his home in Washington avenue, Braddock, after an illness of about six weeks. He is survived by the following children: Andrew A., James Lucas, Mrs. Veronica Marr, Mrs. Gertrude Waddy and Mrs. H. G. Wells, of this city; Miss Mary Lucas, of Atlanta, Ga., and Frank J. Lucas, of Washington. The deceased was born in Georgetown, D. C., but had lived in Alexandria the better part of his life. He was one of the oldest carpenters in the city, a member of the Carpenters Union and at one time its treasurer. He was a member of the Holy Name Society of St. Mary's Catholic Church, and one of the oldest parishioners of that church.

The funeral will be held at 9:30 tomorrow morning from St. Mary's Church, with burial in the family lot in St. Mary's Cemetery.

The funeral of David Everett, who died on Friday in a Washington hospital, was held from Cunningham's huneral home yesterday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. E. M. Delaney, of the Second Presbyterian Church, and the Rev. Edgar Carpenter, rector of Grace Episcopal Church. Members of Potomac Lodge, No. 36, Odd Fellows, attended.

Mrs. Susan A. Furtney Dies in West Virginia

Special to The Washington Post.

Charles Town, W. Va., July 21.—Mrs. Susan A. Furtney, wife of J. B. Furtney, of Shenandoah Junction, died this morning, aged 68 years. The deceased, prior to her marriage, was a Miss Virts, of Loudoun County, Va., and had a large family connection in Virginia and West Virginia. Surviving, in addition to her husband, are six daughters: Mrs. H. C. Myers and Mrs. L. P. Field, of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. L. C. Waggoner, of Georgia; Mrs. Maurice Whittington, Pitcairn, Pa.; Mrs. William Darr and Mrs. H. P. Darr, and a son, C. H. Furtney, of Shenandoah Junction.

Funeral services will be held in the M. E. Church South, Shenandoah Junction, Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock, conducted by the Rev. Thomas C. Jones, a former pastor, now of Baltimore. Interment will follow at Harper Cemetery, Harpers Ferry.

Fire Sweeps Railroad Wharf in Baltimore

Baltimore, July 21 (A.P.).—Fire boats and land fire fighting equipment were rushed to the Pennsylvania Railroad Co's pier in the Baltimore harbor this afternoon when fire threatened destruction of the pier, several barges tied up to it and to spread to the adjoining waterfront plant of the Standard Oil Co.

Officials were unable to ascertain the cause of the fire which caused the sounding of two alarms and brought all available apparatus in the district to the scene.

West Virginia Man Drowns in Potomac

Special to The Washington Post.

Charles Town, W. Va., July 21.—Guy Allen, aged about 30, was drowned in the Potomac River at Virginia Ore Bank near here, yesterday afternoon while bathing.

He was a native of Maryland but had lived at Bakerton for several years. Surviving are his wife and three children.
